

Farm Program Sign-Up Begins March 1

"We are now accepting applications for the 1993 farm programs," Michael R. Kozier, county executive director, Garrett County ASCS Office, said. The U.S. Department of Agriculture is requiring acreage reductions of 10 percent for corn, and zero percent for oats.

Farmers who meet acreage reduction and other program requirements will be eligible for price support loans and deficiency payments. "Producers may request 50 percent of the estimated total deficiency payments in program crops when they sign up for the 1993 programs," Kozier said. The payments will be issued in cash, and will be limited to the farmer's intended program acreage. He said the 1993 programs have flexible planting features, the same as in 1992. Up to 25 percent of the crop acreage base of flex acres, may be planted to any program crop, any oilseed, industrial, or experimental crop designated by USDA, or any other crop except fruits and vegetables.

"A full list of crops which may be planted on flex acreage is available in your county office," ASCS official Kozier said.

For additional details on these and other 1993 farm program provisions, farmers may contact the Garrett County ASCS office. The 1993 farm program sign-up ends April 30.

USDA Announces Milk Order Plan

The Department of Agriculture has released its final decision on changes to federal milk marketing orders, opting for a uniform three-class pricing system that classifies milk by its uses and a mechanism that prices reconstituted milk similar to fresh, whole milk.

The decision was based on information received during hearings held in late 1990.

The proposals, if approved by producers, will mean that milk prices will continue to vary from region to region, based on production costs. They also mean farmers could receive fresh-milk prices for reconstituted milk shipped outside their region and sold as drinking milk.

Referendums will be conducted in eight markets, and dairy cooperatives will be polled in the remaining 32 markets to determine whether dairy producers approve the revised orders. If the amended order is not approved, the milk order ceases to exist for that market.

Referendums will be held in New York-New Jersey; Eastern Ohio-Western Pennsylvania; Louisville-Lexington-Evansville; Alabama-West Florida; Greater Louisiana; Memphis-Nashville; and Paducah, Ky.

The USDA decision is scheduled to be published in the March 5 Federal Register. The referendums and polling will take place by April 5.

The recommended decision deals with only two areas: classified pricing and the pricing of reconstituted milk.

The order, if adopted, will provide a uniform three-class system of pricing in all orders, resulting in a more consistent pricing system. In the past some orders had only two classes of milk and those with three did not always use the same definition of products for each class, according to American Farm Bureau Federation dairy specialist Ken Olson.

The final decision is unlikely to end discussions over milk orders among producers, Olson said.

"The need to have a new base-pricing mechanism for all orders, and some producers' desire for more significant changes, would seem to assure continued activity on milk orders."

Deadline Announced For 1992 Crop Loans

Kenneth R. Bachtel, chairperson of the Garrett County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS), said price support loans on 1992 oats will be available through March 31, 1993. Loans on corn are available through May 31.

County loan rates per bushel are $1.06 per bushel for oats and $1.88 per bushel for corn.

"Many farmers use our price support loan program to obtain interim operating capital or hold their grain for future delivery," Bachtel said. The loans have a nine-month maturity date with variable monthly interest rates. "Maturing 1992-crop wheat is not eligible for the farmer-owned reserve," he said.

To be eligible for price support loans and other farm program benefits, producers must participate in acreage reduction programs. The 1993 programs opened March 1.

Producers who are interested in obtaining a price support loan should do so before March 31 for oats, and before May 31 for corn.

The 1987 Maryland Agriculture Census shows that in 1987, 1,736 Maryland farmers were less than 35 years old, while 3,375 were 65 or over.

America To Celebrate American Agriculture

Across the United States, the more than 21 million men and women who provide the food and fiber Americans depend on every day will be honored during the 20th Anniversary of National Agriculture Week, March 14-20, and National Agriculture Day, March 20.

The 20th anniversary

theme, "American Agriculture - Growing Better Every Day," conveys the message that America's food and agriculture system is a progressive, forward-thinking industry that is continuously striving to improve its methods and better respond to consumer needs and trends.

National Agriculture Day and National Agriculture Week coincide with the beginning of spring, when thousands of farmers across the country are preparing their fields for planting.

The annual observance is designed to direct attention to the important contributions made by the food and agriculture industry.

"Without a national observance, it is too easy to forget the important role the American food and agriculture industry plays in our daily lives," says Keith Nelson, chairman of the Agriculture Council of America, coordinator of the nationwide celebration. "We tend to take for granted the very industry that puts food on our table, clothes on our backs and shelter over our heads each day. National Agriculture Week provides an opportunity for all Americans to take a moment and reflect upon the many ways agriculture touches their lives."

To mark the 20th Anniversary of National Agriculture Day and National Agriculture Week 1993, the Ag Council, through generous special funding from Deere and Company, has commissioned Bart Forbes to create an original oil painting, "The Faces of Agriculture" is the title of this year's painting, which illustrates the many people involved in America's food and agriculture industry. Posters of the painting will be produced and distributed by a number of agricultural groups and state departments of agriculture across the country. They are available for a cost of $5, which includes shipping and handling.

The Agriculture Council will once again provide activity kits designed to promote National Ag Day and Ag Week for use by everyone involved in the food and agriculture industry. These kits include speeches, press releases, useful facts on agriculture and Ag Day logo sheets. In addition, the kits contain print advertisements designed by Rumrill-Hoy Inc. of Rochester, N.Y., who donated its time and talent.

Also included in the kits is a sample Agriculture Fact Card, a handy wallet-size card that contains interesting facts on agriculture. The cards have a blank side so companies can stamp their name and address on the cards and hand them out at trade shows and conventions.

The kits are available for $5, including shipping and handling. The fact cards can be ordered in bulk quantities for a cost of 10 cents each, which includes the cost of shipping and handling. To order National Agriculture Day posters, activity kits or fact cards, or to request more information on National Agriculture Day/Week, those interested may call (202) 682-9200.

Food Poisoning!

Within the last month or so two deaths and approximately another 400 cases of food-borne illness have been directly linked to hamburger contaminated with E. coli bacteria. Most of these cases were consumers of undercooked hamburger served by Jack-In-The-Box Restaurants. USDA estimates there are approximately 6.5 to 8.1 million cases of food-borne illnesses each year in the United States. Many of you raise and process your own home grown meat; therefore, there are some facts you should be aware of.

Q: What is E. coli?

A: Escherichia coli or E. coli is one of the most common bacteria in the world. This group of bacteria includes thousands upon thousands of different strains, most of which are harmless to human health. However, there is a harmful subgroup called enteropathogenic E. coli which causes food-borne illnesses. Within this subgroup, a recently discovered strain called E. coli 0157:117 has been found to cause particularly severe and potentially fatal illness.

Q: How do food-borne illnesses start?
A: The Centers for Disease Control attributes 77 percent of all food-borne illness to improper cooking and handling of food service establishments, 20 percent to improper cooking and handling in the home. Only three percent is attributed to manufacturing defects.

Q: Where does E. coli 0157:117 come from?
A: The group of bacteria Escherichia coli is normally found in the intestines of warm-blooded animals and humans. It can also be found in contaminated water and raw milk.

Q: Can E. coli 0157:117 be "caught" from another person?

A: Absolutely. Person-to-person transmission has been documented. An example of how this might occur would be if an infected person touched food that another person eats.

Q: Won't freezing kill E. coli 0157:117?
A: No. E. coli can survive both refrigeration and freezer storage. The hamburger patties implicated in recent outbreaks were frozen.

Q: Doesn't E. coli 0157:117 make animals sick?

A: E. coli does not cause illness in animals. It can be carried in the intestinal tract of an animal, although it can also be found on the animal from contact with feces, and in the milk of dairy cows.

Q: How can we keep from getting E. coli 0157:117?

A: There are important steps you can take to help ensure the safety of meat and meat products. Be sure to keep hot food hot and cold foods cold, keep your kitchen work area and utensils clean; wash hands with hot, soapy water before and after handling fresh meat, avoid cross-contamination of raw foods with cooked foods; wash hands after handling one type of food before handling another food; cook ground beef burgers to an internal temperature of 160 degrees F, or until the middle is light grey and the juices run clear; serve food with clean plates and utensils, and always follow rules of personal hygiene, especially after bathroom use and after diapering infants.

Maryland Holstein Convention in Garrett County

The Garrett County Holstein Association is hosting the State Convention on March 12 and 13. The convention headquarters are at the Holiday Inn in Grantsville. There are a lot of activities going on during the two-day convention, including the State Sale of Dairy animals which will be held on Saturday, March 13, at 11 a.m. at the Meyersdale Fairgrounds, Meyersdale, Pa. MLS OPPORTUNITY

Thanks

I wish to express my sincere thanks to all my friends, neighbors, and family for flowers, food, cards and prayers during my wife's hospital stay. Also for the expressions of sympathy for the loss of my wife, Margaret. I am grateful to Southern Rescue Squad, Freeman Ambulance, their crews, hospital nurses, doctors, and Home Health Care nurses for their efforts. Thanks for those who donated to The House of Hope, and gave books to The Ruth Enlow Library. I want to thank Father Feilds for his frequent visitations to the hospital, also for being there to give her The Last Rights before she succumbed. She will be dearly missed by family and friends.

Thanks again,
Nick Butcher

TO GARRETT COUNTY TAXPAYERS!

According to the laws governing my office (Section 14-808/Tax Property), the Treasurer must advertise and sell properties for delinquent county, state and town taxes, or taxes due other taxing agencies.

Delinquent notices were mailed on March 2, 1993. We have included all taxes on the property as required by law. However, only delinquent taxes (91-92 and prior years) must be paid to avoid a tax sale on the property. TAX BILLS MAILED LAST JULY ARE NOT DELINQUENT! Also, personal property taxes for 91-92 and prior years are delinquent and become a lien on real estate (Section 14-804).

After April 3, 1993, all delinquent accounts will be given to the attorney for preparation for tax sale. Failure to pay before this deadline, will result in assessment of attorney fees and other expenses of sale as provided by law.

If you have had a recent address change, please call and update our records as soon as possible. The Post Office will only forward mail for a period of one year.

If you should have questions or our office can be of assistance to you, please don't hesitate to call anytime between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

Following is the January DHI report for Maryland colored herds (Guernsey & Jersey) and top Garrett County Holstein herds in the state. The information is listed by herd name, number of cows in the herd, and average production per cow based on 3.5% fat corrected milk (FCM) for all milking cows in the herd. The herd must consist of at least 10 cows averaging 65 pounds or more of 3.5% fat corrected milk per cow per day. All of the herds are on official DHI or DHIR test.

Workshop Scheduled On Natural Resources Income Opportunities

The Cooperative Extension Services of Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia and Pennsylvania, along with the Maryland Small Business Development Center and Central Maryland Farm Credit, are sponsoring a workshop on Income Opportunities for Rural Areas Utilizing Your Natural Resources. The workshop will be held Saturday, April 3, at the Western Maryland Research and Education Center in Keedysville about seven miles south of Hagerstown.

"This is the third year we've offered this workshop," says Jonathan Kays, natural resources specialist with the Cooperative Extension Service, Maryland Institute for Agriculture and Natural Resources. "Past attendance has made it clear that private landowners are interested in utilizing their natural resources to provide recreational opportunities and non-traditional products and services." Participants at this year's workshop will learn how to produce, market and finance such non-traditional products and services.

The workshop will begin with two simultaneous panel discussions. One will focus on agricultural and production-oriented enterprises and feature panelists that raise organic farm products, cut flowers, herbs, native plants, fruits and vegetables. The other panel will take an in-depth look at service- and people-oriented businesses. Entrepreneurs on this panel will discuss "pick your own" operations, fee fishing, natural crafts and roadside marketing. Both panels will include time for questions.

Also on the morning agenda a legal expert will provide information and advice on labor and liability issues affecting small-business owners. After lunch, participants will attend two workshop sessions of their choice. Topics to be covered include alternative uses of Christmas trees, community-supported agriculture, greenhouse bedding plants, kiln lumber drying, on-farm processing of farm products and game bird production. "If you have ever wondered about these enterprises, this is your opportunity to learn and ask questions from those in the business," says Kays. A $20 registration fee includes lunch, snacks and informational materials. Pre-registration is required by March 26. Those interested may make checks payable to the Washington County EAC, and mail them to Western Maryland Research and Education Center, 18330 Keedysville Road, Keedysville, MD 21756. For more information or a copy of the workshop brochure, those interested may call (301) 791-2298 or their local Cooperative Extension Service office in Maryland, Virginia, Pennsylvania or West Virginia.

National Check Rating Results Noted By FDA

Between October 1, 1991, and September 30, 1992, 2643 farms were checked rated nationwide. Of the farms rated, 555 (21.0%) were debited for violations of 16r(i) of the Pasteurized Milk Ordinance (PMO). Of these farms, 338 were debited for drugs not properly labeled for use with dairy cattle or lacking a veterinarian's name, address, etc. Two hundred sixty farms were debited for drugs with extra use label deficiencies, and 102 farms were debited for drug storage violations.

Of the drugs debited, 62.9% were obtained from veterinarians, 5.4% were obtained from others, and 35.0% were obtained from undetermined source. Of the farms violating 16r(i), 60.7% had extra-label use of drug (ELUD) deficiencies or no ELUD label, 72.4% had Rx (prescription drug) deficiencies or no prescription label, and 14.4% had over-the-counter drugs with deficiencies.

This information was presented at the Dairy Industry/Health Department Conference, Hagerstown, MD, December 15, 1992, by Lloyd Kinzel, Regional Milk specialist, FDA. Topical Drugs Used on Dairy Cattle

Item 16r(i) of the PMO states that "Topical antiseptics, wound dressings (unless intended for direct injection into the teat), vaccines and other biologics, and dosage-form vitamins and/or mineral products are exempt from the labeling and storage requirements except when determined that they are stored in such a manner that they may contaminate the milk or milk product surfaces of containers or utensils."

It should be noted that the only exempted topical drugs are topical antiseptics and wound dressings. Drugs that are applied topically for a systemic effect are not included in the Item 16r footnote exemption. Topically applied drugs that are not antiseptics or wound dressings must comply with all labeling, use, and storage requirements of the PMO.

Item 16r of the PMO also states that "Unapproved and/or improperly labeled medicinals/drugs are not used to treat dairy animals and are not stored in the milkhous, milking barn, stable or parlor." Any drug that is capable of acting systemically and causing residues, which is specifically not approved by FDA, regardless of the route of administration, is a violation of Item 16r of the PMO if found stored or used on a dairy farm.

The following list of drugs are applied as topicals for their systemic effect against internal parasites or cattle grubs. They are not topical antiseptics or wound dressings and they are not labeled for use in lactating dairy cattle and therefore they are not exempt under the Item 16r footnote.

Drug: Fenthion, trade name examples, Spoton Cattle Insecticide, Tiguvon Pour On; drug: Famphur and Xylene, trade name examples, Purina Grub Kill, Warbox Famphur Pour On; drug: Phosmet, trade name examples, Star Bar GX-118, Prolate 1-E; drug: Ivermectin, trade name examples, Ivomec Pour On; drug: Levamisole, trade name examples, Tramisol Pour On, Totalon.

Because of their potential to cause residues in milk, the use of these drugs on lactating dairy cattle or their storage with the lactating cattle drugs is a violation of item 16r.

Dimethylsulfoxide (DMSO) is a by-product of the paper industry and is able to carry some drugs rapidly through the skin and other tissues. There are no FDA approved uses for DMSO in food-producing animals. Approvals do exist for use in horses and dogs. Industrial grade DMSO is widely available for various non-medical uses such as paint remover and other solvent uses. DMSO is often found stored on dairy farms or mixed with other drugs intended for use in dairy animals. Such use may lead to an increased chance of drug residues, off odor and off flavor milk.

FDA considers the use of DMSO for any veterinary purposes other than approved uses in dogs and horses to be illegal. DMSO is an unapproved new animal drug which is unsafe to use in food-producing animals. The storage or use of DMSO is a violation of Item 16r.

Pesticides/rodenticides/insecticides are usually regulated by the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA). Ordinarily, an EPA regulated product can be identified by an EPA registration number on the label. Only products labeled for use on or around dairy cattle or milking equipment should be used and only according to their labels. EPA regulated pesticides/rodenticides/insecticides are not controlled under 16r but the improper use or storage of pesticides or rodenticides violates section 21r of the PMO.

About 34 percent of the total land in farms in the U.S. is owned by nonfarmers, but most of these owners live nearby. Only six percent of the farmland is owned by persons who do not live in the same state as the farm they own.

My View

From 'The Barn Door'
by Bernice Kepple

Editor's Note: This may have been the hardest story I've ever written. None of us like to admit our infirmities, but I think that it's time I tell my story. First, please read the article introducing you to some other local people who have multiple sclerosis (elsewhere in this week's Republican). As readers of this farm section, I'll ask for your continued understanding, but please don't feel sorry for me. There's no need, for this is a story of acceptance and hope.

Autumn was my horse for 13 years. We weathered some tough times together, and we were best friends, but she died last fall at the age of 22.

She was one of the many reasons I've always looked forward to the coming of spring. I yearned for spring because:

Each spring since I bought my horse, I promised myself I'd find more time to ride that year. But there was always farm work, office work and house work, and not much extra time. These last three years time was not the culprit, though. You see, three years ago I was diagnosed with multiple sclerosis and suddenly my horse meant more to me than ever. I soon lost most of the strength in my legs but I could still ride Autumn because I could depend on her. I knew how she would react in any situation and I could be prepared and compensate. When I got off of her back and staggered or jerked, or just couldn't walk at all, it didn't frighten her like it might have a younger horse who didn't know me so well. These last three years I still rode, but because I couldn't walk out into the field to catch her, and because it became harder to carry all the tack and saddle her myself, and because riding became more difficult as time went by, I didn't ride as much. And now that she's gone, I may never ride again.

Each spring I looked forward to all the new calves and the resulting increase in milk production. Doing my share in the dairy barn was important to me. Now I only go to the barn to visit. Cows are not as forgiving as my horse was and do frighten easily, as well as push, crowd and kick occasionally. In the barn, I'm a danger to myself and others, so I stay away.

Each spring I looked forward to writing a variety of feature stories at work. I like my job as a writer. I like the work and I like the challenge. But I can't go out any more and follow a farmer around while he tells me what new conservation method he plans to implement, or how he raised that prize-winning cow. Now the information for most of my stories must come over the phone.

Each spring I looked forward to planting a garden. Some of my gardens have been very large and resulted in a lot of canning and freezing, which I also love to do. I planted my last garden two years ago, just a small one, but I couldn't stay on my feet long enough or get up from my knees well enough to take care of it. Working in the kitchen with large kettles of hot water isn't safe anymore and canning and freezing is so tiring and requires so much help that it's not worth it any more.

Each spring I looked forward to nice weather so I could get out and walk. Any excuse would do -- going for the cows, building fence, looking for wildflowers, picking berries -- I just loved to walk. Now, I find it difficult to walk the length of a city block.

Now that my children are grown, I find myself looking forward to grandchildren. But I'll have to hold the babies only when I'm sitting down. I could sit and rock a baby to sleep, but I couldn't carry it to its crib.

There are so many ways MS has changed my life. At times the frustration has been overpowering and the struggle for acceptance has been difficult. But I'm blessed because there are so many things I can still do.

I can still love horses. I can still teach others to ride and maybe someday I'll find another horse like Autumn.

I can still help with the cows by taking care of the registration papers, testing the milk of treated cows before it goes back into the tank, placing catalog orders and continuing to visit those baby calves and watching them grow. Offering support and encouragement is the kind of help I can still give to my husband and son -- the dairymen.

I can still write stories. I'm thankful that I've been able to keep my job. It offers me a different kind of challenge each and every day, and I'll gratefully keep working as long as I can. The feeling of accomplishment is still there with every story I do.

I can still get a lot of joy watching things grow. This spring I'm planning for more potted plants on the porch. I'll never lose that joy. And although I may never tackle canning and freezing again, I'll have others to teach. My son's girlfriend asked me to teach her to make jelly this summer, and I'll be thrilled.

I can still get into the "great outdoors." Maybe I can't walk far any more, but my four-wheel drive Subaru gets me a lot of off-road places. This spring I'm going to request a garden tractor. I think that would get me around the farm first class. On a garden tractor I would be safe and I might even find ways to be useful.

I can still love my future grandchildren. Of our three grown children, one is already married, and although there are no grandchildren in their immediate plans, there will be in the future. And I will be a fantastic grandma! I may be known as Grandma In The Wheelchair, but what little kid wouldn't like to "wheel" around with Grandma, or sit on her lap while she reads out loud. I can still teach them so much. I'm sure not handicapped in that respect.

I can still be a good wife to the most loving and supportive man I'll ever know, and the best mother I can be to my three great kids. I can still love them with all my heart. I'm not handicapped in that respect, either.

I can still thank God for all of the things I can still do. And, I can still hope.

Schaefer Declares March 1-7 Weights And Measures Week

Governor William Donald Schaefer has declared March 1-7 Weights and Measures Week in Maryland. These dates commemorate the anniversary of the signing of the first weights and measures law in the United States on March 2, 1799.

"The Weights and Measures Section of the Maryland Department of Agriculture works daily to protect Maryland consumers by testing the accuracy of motor fuel pumps, home heating oil trucks and thousands of scales ranging in capacity from several ounces to 200,000 pounds," said Governor Schaefer.

According to Maryland Secretary of Agriculture Robert L. Walker, weights and measures inspection is one of the oldest and most important activities of Maryland state government.

"Scales and other measuring devices get out of adjustment. Our inspectors inspect and test these scales across the state to make certain that they are accurate so that every citizen gets what they pay for whether it be a gallon of gasoline or a pound of hamburger," said Walker.

"Maryland is pleased to join with the Maryland Department of Agriculture in celebrating a special week that recognizes the dedicated efforts of weights and measures officials in our communities," Governor Schaefer said.

In addition to supermarkets and gas stations, the Maryland Department of Agriculture's Weights and Measures Section inspects truck and livestock scales as well as scales at warehouses and processing plants.

The Golden Years

by Melissa Groves

The 77-year-old woman who occasionally drives a tractor to cut hay near Livingston, New York, doesn't do it out of necessity. "I always loved the country, farming and animals," Margaret Rockefeller said when she and husband David, retired bank chairman, began buying Hudson Valley farm land in 1979. Mrs. Rockefeller has run the farms which produce corn, soybeans and other feed for more than 500 cattle. Now the Rockefellers have put 3,000 acres in a trust that will preserve them for farming. "If we don't protect our farms, we won't have anything to eat," she told an interviewer.

The Social Security Act in 1936 set the supporting payroll tax at 1 percent each for employer and employee. The first increase, to 1.5 percent, came in 1950. The rate went to 2.5 percent in 1959, to 5.85 percent in 1973, 6.13 percent in 1979 and 7.65 percent in 1990.

Remember When? September 16, 1940 -- As Nazi armies occupied most of Europe, the U.S. began mobilizing National Guard units to reinforce the small Regular Army.

My Dreams

Twice a time when life was serene,
All was passing fair,
A time of boundless love,
And you were here.
Sun shone gloriously
Neath a cloudless sky,
Moonlight softly drifted in
As time swept by.
So very long ago,
In another world it seems.
The years and days slip by,
And I hold you in my dreams.

My View

From The Barn Door
by Bernice Kepple

Editor's Note: This may have been the hardest story I've ever written. None of us like to admit our infirmities, but I think that it's time I tell my story. First, please read the article introducing you to some other local people who have multiple sclerosis (elsewhere in this week's Republican). As readers of this farm section, I'll ask for your continued understanding, but please don't feel sorry for me. There's no need, for this is a story of acceptance and hope.

Autism was my horse for 13 years. We weathered some tough times together, and we were best friends, but she died last fall at the age of 22.

She was one of the many reasons I've always looked forward to the coming of spring. I yearned for spring because.

Each spring since I bought my horse, I promised myself I'd find more time to ride that year. But there was always farm work, office work and house work, and not much extra time. These last three years were not the exception, though. You see, three years ago I was diagnosed with multiple sclerosis and suddenly my horse meant more to me than ever. I soon lost most of the strength in my legs but I could still ride. Autumn because I could depend on her. I knew how she would react in any situation and I could be prepared and compensate. When I got off of her back and staggered or jerked, or just couldn't walk at all, it didn't frighten her like it might have a younger horse who didn't know me so well. These last three years I still rode, but because I couldn't walk out into the field to catch her, and because it became harder to carry all the tack and saddle her myself, and because riding became more difficult as time went by, I didn't ride as much. And now that she's gone, I may never ride again.

Each spring I looked forward to all the new calves and the resulting increase in milk production. Doing my share in the dairy barn was important to me. Now I only go to the barn to visit. Cows are not as forgiving as my horse was and do frighten easily, as well as push, crowd and kick occasionally. In the barn, I am a danger to myself and others, so I stay away.

Each spring I looked forward to writing a variety of feature stories at work. I like my job as a writer. I like the work and I like the challenge. But I can't go any more and follow a farmer around while he tells me what new conservation method he plans to implement, or how he raised that prize-winning cow. Now the information for most of my stories must come over the phone.

Each spring I looked forward to planting a garden. Some of my gardens have been very large and resulted in a lot of canning and freezing, which I also love to do. I planted my last garden two years ago, just a small one, but I couldn't stay on my feet long enough or get up from my knees well enough to take care of it. Working in the kitchen with large kettles of hot water isn't safe anymore and canning and freezing is so tiring and requires so much help that it's not worth it any more.

Each spring I looked forward to nice weather so I could get out and walk. Any excuse would do -- going for the cows, building fence, looking for wildflowers, picking berries -- I just loved to walk. Now, I find it difficult to walk the length of a city block.

Now that my children are grown, I find myself looking forward to grandchildren. But I'll have to hold the babies only when I'm sitting down. I could sit and rock a baby to sleep, but I couldn't carry it to its crib.

There are so many ways MS has changed my life. At times the frustration has been overwhelming and the struggle for acceptance has been difficult. But I'm blessed because there are so many things I can still do.

I can still love horses. I can still teach others to ride and maybe someday I'll find another horse like Autumn.

I can still give to the cows by taking care of the registration papers, testing the milk of treated cows before it goes back into the tank, placing catalog orders and continuing to visit those baby calves and watching them grow. Offering support and encouragement is the kind of help I can still give to my husband and son -- the dairymen.

I can still write stories. I'm thankful that I've been able to keep my job. It offers me a different kind of challenge each and every day, and I'll gratefully keep working as long as I can. The feeling of accomplishment is still there with every story I do.

I can still get a lot of joy watching things grow. This spring I'm planning for more potted plants on the porch. I'll just love to walk. Now, I find it difficult to walk the length of a city block.

I can still get into the "great outdoors." Maybe I can't walk far anymore, but my four-wheel drive Subaru gets me a lot of off-road places. This spring I'm going to request a garden tractor. I think that would get me around the farm first class. On a garden tractor I would be safe and I might even find ways to be useful.

I can still love my future grandchildren. Of our three grown children, only one is married and has children.

I can still love the future. As known as Granddaddy wouldn't like to "lap" while she rode, I'm sure not hand I can still be a great man. I'll ever know great kids. I can't be handicapped in the I can still stand. And, I can still

I think that would get me around the farm first class. On a garden tractor I would be safe and I might even find ways to be useful.

I can still love my future grandchildren. Of our three grown children, one is already married, and although there are no grandchildren in their immediate plans, there will be in the future. And I will be a fantastic grandma! I may be known as Grandma In The Wheelchair, but what little kid wouldn't like to "wheel" around with Grandma, or sit on her lap while she reads out loud. I can still teach them so much. I'm sure not handicapped in that respect.

I can still be a good wife to the most loving and supportive man I'll ever know, and the best mother I can be to my three great kids. I can still love them with all my heart. I'm not handicapped in that respect, either.

I can still thank God for all of the things I can still do. And, I can still hope.

Schaefer Declares March 1-7 Weights And Measures Week

Governor William Donald Schaefer has declared March 1-7 Weights and Measures Week in Maryland. These dates commemorate the anniversary of the signing of the first weights and measures law in the United States on March 2, 1799.

"The Weights and Measures Section of the Maryland Department of Agriculture works daily to protect Maryland consumers by testing the accuracy of motor fuel pumps, home heating oil trucks and thousands of scales ranging in capacity from several ounces to 200,000 pounds," said Governor Schaefer.

According to Maryland Secretary of Agriculture Robert L. Walker, weights and measures inspection is one of the oldest and most important activities of Maryland state government.

"Scales and other measuring devices get out of adjustment. Our inspectors inspect and test these scales across the state to make certain that they are accurate so that every citizen gets what they pay for whether it be a gallon of gasoline or a pound of hamburger," said Walker.

"Maryland is pleased to join with the Maryland Department of Agriculture in celebrating a special week that recognizes the dedicated efforts of weights and measures officials in our communities," Governor Schaefer said.

In addition to supermarkets and gas stations, the Maryland Department of Agriculture's Weights and Measures Section inspects truck and livestock scales as well as scales at warehouses and processing plants.

My Dreams

'Twas a time when life was serene,
All was passing fair,
A time of boundless love,
And you were here.
Sun shone gloriously
'Neath a cloudless sky,
Moonlight softly drifted in
As time swept by.
So very long ago,
In another world it seems.
The years and days slip by,
And I hold you in my dreams.

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR GARRETT COUNTY, MARYLAND

NO. 3073 CIVIL
JOSEPH A. PECK Plaintiff vs.
HENRY S. POOK and
CECILIA B. POOK, his wife
AND

All other persons who have or claim to have any interest in and to all that lot, piece or parcel of land situate, lying and being in Election District No. 6, Garrett County, Maryland, known and designated as Lot No. 5, Section 3, Block S, as shown on a Plat of Piney Mountain Corporation, recorded in Drawer I, File 48, one of the Plat Records of Garrett County, Maryland, and described in a deed from Piney Mountain Corporation to Henry S. Pook and Cecilia B. Pook, his wife, dated October 5, 1981, and recorded in Liber No. 421, folio 384, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland.

Subject to certain restrictive covenants as contained in the above-mentioned deed.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION
The object of this proceeding is to secure the foreclosure of all rights of redemption in the following property situated in Election District No. 6, Garrett County, Maryland, sold by the Collector of Taxes for Garrett County and the State of Maryland to the Plaintiff in this proceeding on June 12, 1992, and for which a Certificate of Sale was issued to the Plaintiff herein, said Certificate dated June 18, 1992, the property being described as follows:

All that lot, piece or parcel of land situate, lying and being in Election District No. 6, known and designated as Lot No. 5, Section 3, Block S, as shown on a Plat of Piney Mountain Corporation recorded in Drawer I, File 48, one of the Plat Records of Garrett County, Maryland, and described in a deed from Piney Mountain Corporation to Henry S. Pook and Cecilia B. Pook, his wife, dated October 5, 1981, and recorded in Liber No. 421, folio 384, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland. Subject to certain restrictive covenants as contained in the above-mentioned deed.

The Complaint states, among other things, that the amounts for redemption have not been paid.

It is, therefore, this 11th day of February, 1993, by the Circuit Court in and for Garrett County, Maryland,

ORDERED, That notice be given by the insertion of a copy of this Order in some newspaper having a general circulation in Garrett County, Maryland, once a week for three successive weeks, warning all persons interested in the said property to be and appear in this Court by the 13th day of April, 1993, and redeem the property herein described and answer the Complaint, or thereafter a Final Judgment will be rendered foreclosing all rights of redemption in the property, and vesting in the Plaintiff a title, free and clear of all encumbrances.

First United To Merge With Myersville Bank

Richard G. Stanton, chairman of the Board, president and CEO of First United Corporation, and Terry L. Rieber, president and CEO of HomeTown Bancorp, Inc., Myersville, announced today the signing of a letter of intent to negotiate and finalize an agreement under which HomeTown Bancorp, Inc.'s subsidiary, Myersville Bank, would become a wholly-owned subsidiary of First United Corporation, while retaining its name as Myersville Bank.

The proposed terms of the transaction provide for a minimum exchange of 7.75 and a maximum exchange of 8.00 shares of First United Corporation common stock for each of the 45,000 HomeTown Bancorp, Inc. common shares outstanding. The exact exchange ratio is to be equal to 250% of HomeTown's shareholders' equity as of the quarter ending most previous to the merger date, and based upon the average of the 10 most recent sales of First United stock immediately prior to the merger date. Based upon First United's recent stock price of $36.00 and HomeTown's December 31, 1992, shareholders' equity of $5.08 million, First United would issue approximately 252,430 shares and the transaction would have a value of $12.7 million. First United currently has 1,705,088 shares of common stock outstanding.

Southern Garrett Winter Guard In Competition Series

The Southern Garrett High School Winter Guard is currently engaged in seasonal competition in Pennsylvania and have thus far captured three second place trophies for performances at Latrobe, Pa., High School; Serra Catholic High School, McKeesport, Pa.; and McKeesport High School. This weekend, March 12-14, the guard will travel to West Chester, Pa., to compete in the Winter Guard International (WGI) Mid-Atlantic Regional Contest.

The regional's preliminaries will involve 22 guards in Southern's class, Scholastic A, competing on Saturday. The top-scoring eight groups will then be in the finals on Sunday. There will be 75 groups performing in six different classes on Saturday, including groups from the United States and Canada.

The West Chester event will qualify the group to compete at WGI World Championships in Dayton, Continued on Page A-12

WISHFUL SNOW-BUILDING - Children at a local day care must have had spring on their minds this week as they constructed their own snow Easter Bunny and basket. While most adults are growing somewhat weary of digging care out of drifts and having damp socks from leaky footwear, children are revelling in the fun of this extended winter weather - tearing down the hillsides on sleds or skis, making snow angels, and savoring the unique taste of hot chocolate after a particularly chilly outing.

Concerns Of All Women To Be Addressed At Women's Fair

A total community effort might best describe the preparations underway for the Women's Fair scheduled for March 26 at Garrett Community College from 8:30 a.m. until 8:30 p.m. The fair, being held in conjunction with the year of Celebration of Garrett County Women, has been planned to address the concerns of women of all ages, from teens to senior citizens, according to Bobby Andersen, chairperson.

More than 50 community agencies, organizations, and businesses and over 40 individuals will be participating in demonstrations, exhibits, presentations, and entertainment.

Andersen commented, "We have had wonderful cooperation from everyone, and people are still calling to offer help."

The event is being coordinated by the Women's Civic Club of Oakland under the leadership of Martha Jachowski, president.

The day's schedule has been organized into seven time periods of 45-minute concurrent sessions with 15-minute breaks between sessions so that participants can visit exhibits or watch demonstrations.

Following registration, which will begin at 8:30 a.m. in the entrance lobby near the auditorium, concurrent sessions will begin at 9:30 a.m. and end at 5:45 p.m. The Fair will conclude with a fashion show in the college auditorium beginning at 7:30 p.m. and will be presented by Rudy's Department Store, Dee Ann's Apparel, and Flinn's Family Store.

Eighth grade girls from Northern and Southern middle schools will be bussed to the college for the morning and afternoon sessions of the Fair. A number of pre-

Trucker Listed In "Good" Condition Following Mishap

An Abbeville, S.C., trucker was listed in "good" condition at Ruby Memorial Hospital Wednesday, according to a hospital spokesperson, after being transferred there from Garrett County Memorial Hospital where he had been admitted Tuesday after his tractor-trailer jackknifed on U.S. Rt. 50.

Tommy Lee Rawls, 41, was injured when his rig skidded on the snow-covered roadway, struck an embankment on the left side of the road and jackknifed, according to a report filed by Tfc. D.W. Broadwater.

The 12:30 p.m. mishap occurred one-half mile west of Table Rock Road. Rt. 50 remained blocked for about two hours, according to Broadwater.

Rawls was taken to the local hospital by the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad. Gorman firefighters Continued on Page A-4

Mtn. Lake Park Woman Charged For Leaving Her Children Unattended

A Mountain Lake Park woman was arrested Tuesday afternoon by the Garrett County Sheriff's Office, charged with two counts of child confinement. Winona S. Fultz, 22, reportedly left her two daughters - one four years old and the other 11 months - home alone on the afternoon of Feb. 22. Ms. Fultz apparently did not return to the home for two hours. The father of one child stopped by unexpectedly approximately 15 to 20 minutes after the defendant had gone, so the children were not alone for the entire two hours, a Sheriff's Office spokesperson said.

The charge of child confinement means that the defendant left children in a confined area which was out of her sight for an extended period of time. Information from witnesses began the investigation by Sheriff's Office detectives and the Department of Social Services, and Det. Jeff Murphy made the arrest.

Ms. Fultz was released on her own recognizance shortly after the arrest, and the children remain in her care. A hearing date has not yet been announced.

In other Sheriff's Office news, a Mtn. Lake Park man was arrested Saturday by Murphy after an apparent chase along Rt. 135. Joseph R. Kisselovich, 38, was charged with DWI (driving while intoxicated), driving with a revoked license, fleeing and eluding a police officer, resisting arrest, and battery.

Murphy reported that Kisselovich was traveling east on Rt. 135 at about 10 p.m. when the officer observed the defendant cross the center line. When Murphy attempted to stop Kisselovich, the defendant apparently attempted to flee. A Continued on Page A-5

Four Coal Cars Derail Wednesday At Mettiki Corp.

Four coal cars reportedly derailed on Mettiki Coal Corporation property near Gorman Wednesday, according to reports filed by the CSX Corporation. No injuries were reported.

The derailment occurred at approximately 8:30 a.m., causing minimal track damage, and no disruption in service, according to a CSX spokesperson.

The incident is under investigation and officials said poor weather conditions could have been a contributing factor in the mishap.

The Garrett County Roads Department reportedly also responded to the scene to detour vehicular traffic.

There was also a report of another derailment in the Swanton area that was also reportedly weather related. No details of that mishap were available.

Hearing Set For Re-Examination Of Ferrell Case

A Grant County, W.Va., judge has set a tentative hearing date of May 25 to re-examine the murder and kidnapping conviction of Paul Ferrell, currently serving a life-term sentence in the Moundsville, W.Va., Penitentiary. The hearing Judge C. Reeves Taylor has scheduled it in response to a petition for a writ of habeas corpus filed in Berkeley County several weeks ago.

Taylor presided over the original trial in January 1989, when Ferrell was convicted of kidnapping, second degree murder, and third degree arson. The defendant, a former Grant County deputy, allegedly killed Catherine Denise Ford, 19, Gorman. While no trace of her body has ever been found, evidence at the first trial was sufficient to convict Ferrell. Several appeals have been filed since, as the defendant continues to maintain his innocence in the disappearance and assumed death of Miss Ford.

Representing Ferrell are Dan James, Keyser, W.Va., and Lonnie Simmons, Charleston, W.Va. The attorneys have apparently cited prosecutorial misconduct, "intellectually dishonest testimony, and evidence based on disputable state tests as grounds for the petition. Taylor reportedly told the lawyers that they have 15 days from Monday's hearing to clarify these claims "now and for all time."

The Grant County Prosecuting Attorney is Dennis DiBenedetto, who will have 30 days following the defense lawyers' clarification to respond to the petition, according to reports.

PSC Rules In Favor Of Potomac Edison Request

The West Virginia Public Service Commission ruled March 5 in favor of The Potomac Edison Company's plans to meet future generation needs and its estimate of avoided cost for this generation over those proposed by two independent power producers.

The ruling by the Commission was a victory for our company and our customers, said Alan J. Noia, president, of Potomac Edison. The developers' projects could have had disastrous effects on our more than 88,800 customers in the state, greatly increasing electric rates.

Commissioners Reject School Board's Request To Seek Bonding Authority

The Garrett County Commissioners this week informed the Garrett County Board of Education of their unanimous decision not to seek bonding authority during the current fiscal year for capital projects involving Northern and Southern high schools.

According to Commissioner John Braskey, the decision was made for this year because the county officials believe the amount needed can be found in the current capital project budget for the education board provided by county funds.

That amount is estimated at approximately $450,000 and would be used to replace the heating system at Northern High School (for which an engineer has already been hired to design because of the immediacy of the situation) and to renovate the boys' locker room at Southern High School.

Garrett County Superintendent of Schools Dr. Jerome Rysavage reportedly told the commissioners that if money could be found for those two pressing projects out of the budget, bonding authority could be delayed. He did stress, however, that future projects could be "seriously jeopardized" if bonding authority is not secured at some point.

Braskey stated, "We felt we could finance those projects this year but, eventually, we will probably have to look at bonding in order to finance other projects. I think the school board should go ahead and submit their projected capital improvement plan."

He added, however, "I don't think we'll be able to continue to pay as you go in the future."

Commissioner Elwood Groves also responded to the board's decision, stating, "The two projects in question are examples of the kinds of things we've normally been able to fund in the regular budget. We don't feel there is any justification for bonding if we can afford to do that."

Groves added that even though the commissioners have "always avoided" going into debt, they may have to consider it in the future. "During the prosperous 80's, the county funded some pretty hefty projects, but we don't foresee being able to do that in the future."

Oakland Man To Serve Time For Drug Violations

An Oakland man was sentenced to three years, one month, in the Maryland Department of Corrections for charges of possession with intent to distribute marijuana and possession of cocaine. Presiding Judge Fred A. Thayer of Garrett County Circuit Court suspended two years of the sentence for Ronald W. Cogley, 31, and recommended that the remaining time be served in the Garrett County Jail. Cogley was also ordered to be on two years of supervised probation following incarceration.

Cogley pleaded guilty to the two charges in a January hearing, at which time Thayer ordered a presentence investigation. Charges not prosecuted included conspiracy and possession with intent to distribute cocaine.

The charges against Cogley stemmed from a March 1992 incident with the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force. The defendant reportedly entered a room at the Alpine Village Motel, Deep Creek Lake, accompanied by another subject and purchased marijuana and cocaine from an undercover narcotics agent. Cogley apparently handed the agent $1,350 to buy one pound of marijuana and one-eighth ounce of cocaine. He took possession of the items and was then arrested, according to the report.

Cogley received 32 days of jail time already served.

BLUE THUNDER OVER STATE MATS - 1990 was a banner year and high-water mark for Northern High School at the annual Maryland State 1A/2A Wrestling Tournament, when four Huskies won titles and two place finishes (one wrestler advanced but did not finish), accumulating 56 team points on the strength of 11 victories in 13 contests. But last Friday and Saturday at Westminster, five Huskies - Jason Fazenbaker (275), Greg Miller (145), Chris Rowe (135), Tirrell Burdock (103) and Allen Bittlinger (140) - raised a bigger, bolder banner, erupting for 15 wins and 71 points in 21 bouts. The results were two runner-up and two third place finishes (Bittlinger advanced but did not place), good enough for a fifth place team finish, and just half a point shy of a tie for fourth place. Throughout the season, Northern was never ranked among the state's top 10 teams (out of 146 public schools and an uncertain number of private and parochial schools with wrestling programs), although the Huskies received an honorable mention, placing them among the top 15. At the state tourney, however, the Huskies overtook some of the state's highest ranked teams, including perpetual power (class 2A) North Carroll, which scored 70.5 points and finished sixth, and Francis Scott Key (63 points; seventh) both of which had surpassed Northern at the super-tough 1A/2A Region

One tournament. Of the four winning Huskies, only two had been state ranked - Jason Fazenbaker and Chris Rowe, both rated fourth in their weight classes among all divisions and classifications. Previously unranked and unknown at the state level, Huskies Greg Miller and Tirrell Burdock, giving the best performances of their careers, skyrocketed from obscurity to second and third place finishes, respectively. Although Southern wrestlers Mike Liller and Pete Strawser did not finish, each registered a major upset. Teammates Jason Burgess and Sonny Livengood also participated. Pictured are the winning Husky grapplers. Above left, Jason Fazenbaker (final season record: 23-2) rolls Matt Glover of (2A) Damascus into a 3:19 pinfall, on the way to becoming state runner-up. Above right, Greg Miller (final record: 29-5) upsets Region IV champion Dennis Zuck of Rising Sun with a stunning 1:07 pinfall, referee Tom Woods making the call. Below left, Chris Rowe (final mark: 35-1, new county record) crushes (2A) Rockville's Jeremy Pedone into a near fall en route to a 13-3 victory and third place finish. Below right, Tirrell Burdock (final record: 31-3) drives Norris Moore of (2A) James M. Bennett high into a 3:03 pinfall. More coverage of Northern and Southern state performances will appear in next week's Republican. Photos by Craig Spelcher.

SOUTHERN GARRETT WINTER GUARD COMPETING - The Southern Garrett Winter Guard will travel to West Chester, Pa., to compete in the Winter Guard International (WGI) Mid-Atlantic Regional Contest. Police Chief Restates Snow Removal Regs

Oakland City Police Chief John K. Sines is reminding the public this week of the snow removal regulations in place in light of the unusually heavy amounts of snow being piled up on the town.

He said that on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays, motorists are asked to park on the north and east sides of the streets, and that on Tuesdays and Thursdays, they are asked to park on the west and south sides of the streets to allow Street Department workers to effectively remove snow.

"We are experiencing a lot of problems removing snow because people aren't abiding by this policy," said Sines. "We have only one-way traffic on some streets already and with the predictions of a lot more snow this weekend, we must have compliance with these regulations."

G.C. Voters League Studying National Health Care Issue

The League of Women Voters of Garrett County has been studying the national health care system, and a meeting was recently held by members Clint Englander and Charles Morris - regarding Phase II of the study.

The discussion centered around the issuance of a position statement from the national league, which includes a provision that all U.S. residents have available to them a minimum basic level of quality health care at an affordable cost.

That basic care should include the prevention of disease, health promotion and education, primary care, prenatal and reproductive health, acute and long-term care, and mental health care, among other types of care.

The league believes that these services could be equitably distributed, allocating medical to under-served areas, providing for training health care professionals in needed fields of care, standardizing basic levels of service for publicly funded health care, requiring insurance plans to use community rating instead of experience rating, and establishing insurance pools for small businesses and organizations.

The league also believes that the delivery of health care can be achieved efficiently and economically by employing certain cost control methods, such as reducing administrative cost, malpractice reform, and consumer accountability through deductibles and co-payments.

Englander and Morris informed the local league that the national league's position is that the ability of a patient to pay for services should not be a consideration in the allocation of health care resources.

According to LWV of Garrett County President Connie Margison, the final health care position will be announced in April. More information about the subject may be obtained by contacting the league at 202 E. Alder St., Oakland, MD 21550 or by calling them at 334-1109.

Storytelling Program Slated Tuesday At GCC

The "Storytelling in the Classroom National Video Connection," slated for Tuesday, Mar. 16, from 3 to 5 p.m., has scheduled its live interactive seminar at Garrett Community College in Room 163 of the Learning Center Building near the library. Participants will be part of a national organization's attempt to share information on storytelling in education from nationally known U.S. educators and storytellers.

An optional brainstorming session and storytelling workshop will be held following the program, from 6 to 8 p.m., in the same room.

Persons wishing to register for the program are asked to call Dr. Gail Herman, local coordinator, at 387-9199 and leave name and telephone number.

Accident Man Granted PBJ On Theft Charge

An Accident man was granted probation before judgment on a felony theft charge that was amended to a petty theft charge in Garrett County District Court proceedings last week. Judge Paul J. Stakem presided in that case.

Carlton D. Doerr, 27, was also fined $150 and placed on 18 months of supervised probation. In plea agreements with the State's Attorney's Office charges of drug possession, maintaining a drug nuisance, and drug paraphernalia possession were not prosecuted.

Doerr had been charged with those offenses when he was discovered in a barn during a court-ordered search and seizure. Drugs and drug paraphernalia were found during the search and Doerr was found to be in possession of a .22 caliber rifle that belonged to Leonard Bowling.

DWI CASES
A number of DWI (driving while intoxicated) and DUI (driving while under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs) cases were heard last week by Stakem and Judge Jack R. Turney.

Steve C. Bittinger, 27, Md., was found guilty of DUI. He was handed a 30-day suspended sentence, fined $500-$300 suspended, and placed on 12 months of supervised probation. He had been charged by the Maryland State Police (MSP) on January 16.

Allan L. Delisle, 55, Md., was found guilty of DWI and given a 30-day suspended jail term, fined $500-$300 suspended, and placed on 12 months of supervised probation. He had been charged on October 29, 1992.

Stephen C. Deshong, 31, Md., was found guilty of DUI. He was handed a 60-day suspended jail term, fined $500, and placed on 18 months of supervised probation. He was charged by the MSP on January 17.

Robert P. Ritz, 45, Pa., was granted probation before judgment on a DUI charge. He was fined $500 ($300 suspended), and placed on six months of unsupervised probation. He had been charged by the MSP on September 16, 1992.

Robert L. Hutzel, 27, Md., was found guilty of DUI and handed a 30-day suspended jail term, fined $500 ($300 suspended), and placed on one year of supervised probation. He had been charged by the MSP on January 16.

Maurice J. Painter Sr., 59, Va., was found guilty of DUI. He was given a 30-day suspended jail term, fined $500 ($300 suspended), and placed on 12 months of supervised probation. He had been charged by the MSP on January 17.

Kenneth J. Haslbeck, 40, Md., was granted PBJ on a DUI charge. He was fined $500-$300 suspended, and placed on 12 months of supervised probation.

At a sentence revision hearing, Timothy D. Roach, 32, Pa., had his sentence amended to all suspended but time served on an earlier DUI charge.

Timothy A. Kitzmiller, 31, Md., was found guilty of DWI. He was handed a one-year suspended sentence (all was suspended but six months), fined $1,000, and placed on three years of supervised probation. He had been charged by the MSP on January 8.

A motion to revise the earlier sentence of David E. White, 46, Md., for a DWI charge was denied. He had been charged with DWI by the MSP on July 8, 1992.

Frederick W. Metz, 22, Fla., was charged with DUI. He was handed a 30-day suspended sentence, fined $500 ($300 suspended), and placed on 12 months of supervised probation. He had been charged by the MSP on February 6.

Lisa L. Rounds, 28, Md., was found guilty of DUI. She was given a 30-day suspended sentence, fined $500 ($300 suspended), and placed on one year of supervised probation. She had been charged by the MSP on December 16, 1992.

GCSO Probing Thefts, Breaking And Enterings

The Garrett County Sheriff's Office is currently investigating various cases of theft that have been reported in the past week. Combined losses in these incidents exceed $5,500.

The theft of three Westinghouse electrical breakers was reported by owners of Patriot Mining, which is located on White Church Road in Deer Park. Unknown persons apparently entered the property between Feb. 21 and March 3 and removed the breakers from a power center outside of the mine directly above the portal entry, according to the report. Two of the mine-approved breakers were 250 volts and the third was 850. The loss in this case has been set at $5,000.

According to the police report, a similar incident occurred at the same location on Feb. 16. An investigation is underway.

In a separate case,

Thomas Trujillo, Terra Alta, W.Va., contacted police when he discovered on March 2 that Herbert Buckel's summer cabin had been illegally entered. The cabin is located on the Frank Brenneman Road.

Stolen from the summer residence were two guns, a Marlin .22 calibre semi-automatic rifle, valued at $75, and a 20 gauge double barrel shotgun, valued at $200. Buckel resides in Kearns, Utah.

Raymond Dubinaski reported the theft of two Lincoln arc welders, apparently stolen from a storage building in Deer Park. The tools belonged to Greater Maryland Tool and Manufacturing, Accident.

Dubinaski explained that extra equipment is stored at the old fire department building in Deer Park and that the building is periodically checked. Dubinaski discovered last week that a window had been broken out.

A monetary value of the welders was not given in the police report.

Oakland Man Charged With Sniffing Glue

Pfc. Shawn Groves of the Oakland City Police Department noted the arrest of an Oakland man Saturday who was charged with sniffing glue and disorderly conduct.

Danny A. Stemple, 38, was charged after Officer Groves reportedly found him staggering in the alley beside the Garrett County Sheriff's Office at 9 p.m. with glue on his face and with five tubes of glue in his pocket. He was taken to jail and reportedly became disorderly and had to be placed in a padded cell. He has since been released.

HIT AND RUN
Chief John K. Sines is investigating the report of a hit and run last Friday at 525 Oak Street, near Hometown Market.

Martha S. Slawter, Aurora, W.Va., said her vehicle, a two-tone blue Chevrolet S-10 Blazer, was parked on Oak Street when an unknown vehicle struck it in the rear end causing approximately $900 in damages.

Sines said there were no leads in the case and he is requesting that anyone with any information about the hit and run should call the Oakland police at 334-2100.

MSP Investigate Theft At Resort

Tfc. J.F. Foley is investigating the theft of a number of items stolen from a vehicle parked in the parking lot of the Wisp Resort Hotel on Sunday.

Michael Horner, Joppa, told police that a Rolex watch, a cellular telephone, a black leather jacket, and a pair of binoculars were taken. Persons having any information about the crime are asked to call the Maryland State Police, Barrack W. McHenry, at 387-5511.

THE MAJOR TOPIC OF DISCUSSION for the past few weeks has been the weather and its consequences. While the Mountaintop has been hit almost daily with snow or freezing rain, the most severe strike of the past week was received last Thursday, when freezing rain, followed by snow, caused thousands of trees to topple or break, resulting in major power outages and numerous other problems. Some Garrett County residents, such as those in the Turkey Neck area of Deep Creek Lake, were without electricity for three days. Utility crews from as far away as Winchester, Va., came to assist local Potomac Edison crews make repairs. Other problems included the blockages of roadways by both snow and downed trees. Two local train derailments were reported yesterday, both believed to be a result of weather conditions. A two-story house off Rt. 135 near Turkey Neck Road was leveled by fire Thursday morning when fire fighters from Deer Park and Oakland were unable to reach the property, owned by Walter Reed, of the Baltimore area. The structure was reportedly filled with antique furniture, all of which was destroyed. In the photo above left, Dave Pysell uses his tractor to free a Deer Park fire truck that was stuck in the snow. Above right is a relatively mild sample of limbs falling upon utility lines along Rt. 495. Below are examples of perfectly healthy trees that were downed when their root systems were unable to hold the excess weight against a strong east wind. The tree below left was one of several on the property of the Mtn. Lake Park Assembly Hall grounds along G Street that was destroyed. The scene below right is the yard of Ethel Rae Snyder along Oak Street in Oakland. County schools were closed again today because of another six-inch snowfall and high winds last night and a major storm is predicted for this weekend. While in recent years Garrett County has been receiving an average of about 80 inches of snow per year, so far this winter season the State Highway Administration's total is now at 141 inches. Oakland Town Election Results Are Announced

The Oakland's municipal election was held Monday with approximately 50 persons voting. Three incumbent councilpersons ran unchallenged and were re-elected to their positions.

Harvey (Jay) Moyer, Arthur E. Naylor, and Willard R. Ringer received 49, 48, and 48 votes respectively. They will serve two-year terms.

Those receiving write-in votes - one each - were DeCorsey Bolden, Maurice Brookhart, Von Johnson, and Doug Raley.

Councilpersons who are at mid-term are Harold Canan, Peggy Jamison, and Mary Lou Stemple. Oakland's mayor is Asa McCain.

Unemployment Compensation Given Extension

Department of Economic and Employment Development (DEED) Secretary Mark L. Wasserman has announced that up to 25,000 Marylanders who exhaust their regular state benefits on or after March 7, 1993, will be eligible for Emergency Unemployment Compensation (EUC) benefits because of the passage of a federal law extending the program until October 2, 1993. President Clinton signed the emergency jobless benefits bill yesterday. The EUC Program had been scheduled to end on March 6.

The EUC program will provide up to 20 weeks of federal benefits to eligible individuals who have exhausted their regular 26 weeks of state unemployment insurance benefits. The number of weeks of federal benefits will decrease if the national unemployment rate drops below 7.0 percent.

The new legislation does not provide additional federal benefits for people who already have received 20 weeks of benefits through the EUC program.

"The extension of the EUC program will help those who have been unemployed for some time," said Secretary Wasserman. "We also want to encourage Marylanders looking for work to take advantage of DEED's Maryland Job Service and new Professional Outplacement Assistance Center."

The Department of Economic and Employment Development will notify claimants by mail of their eligibility to file for benefits under the EUC program. Those individuals who are currently receiving benefits under the EUC program will continue to receive them automatically. No action on their part is necessary.

We All Know It...

We are fascinated with this week's civil rights trial of the four police officers who pounded Rodney King to a bloody pulp on the streets of Los Angeles two years ago.

King took the witness stand this week to give his side of the story. His testimony is being picked apart by defense attorneys and the media, both apparently anxious to identify even the most minute discrepancies.

While we agree that our system of justice, albeit far from perfect, is the best available in the world, we simply do not understand the procedure and rationale being employed in this case. Regardless of Rodney King's testimony, regardless of his character, regardless of his past record, regardless of his level of sobriety, regardless of what was said or not said by him or the police officers at the time of the crime, the video tape of the incident which has been seen by every person in this country makes it perfectly clear that excessive force was used by the officers.

Yes, King is a big man, and perhaps in the early moments of the arrest he may have posed a threat to the arresting officers. But there were six officers, all armed and all trained in self-defense, present at the time of the arrest. Those are pretty good odds. There is simply no question that they hammered his body far beyond what might have been necessary. We all know it. We have all seen it, over and over.

With the use and availability of video cameras growing every day, it will be interesting to watch their impact in future judicial proceedings. It might cause such grief and difficulties for attorneys that their use in the criminal trials will eventually be outlawed, even when the truth is literally staring them in the face.

The same questions keep coming to mind: How often does this same type of behavior by some (and we emphasize some) officers occur, but is not caught on film? While we have come a long way on the outside in regard to civil rights and racial equality, just how far have we really come on the inside? Would the outcome of the first trial have been exactly the same if it had been four black officers who savagely beat a white man?

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

It is nearly that time of year again when our young people will be graduating from high school. The juniors and seniors will celebrate, and if we're lucky, no one will be injured by reckless and irresponsible celebration. But why depend on luck?

Southern High School showed us how it can be done in 1992 and for years to come. Their after-prom party was a huge success, as attested to by the students in attendance.

A committee has been formed in the Northern High School area and everyone seems to be excited at the prospect of an after-prom party extravaganza, now, at both schools.

The Garrett County Council on Alcohol and Drug Abuse, totally separate from either committee, is sponsoring a Dance-A-Thon at the Oakland Elks Club from noon until midnight this Saturday, March 13. All money raised by this event will be equally divided between the schools for the after-prom parties.

They were not asked to do this. It was the right thing to do, as your support for this event is also the right thing to do.

To the Editor:

I have read your Feb. 25 editorial, my first reaction was anger at your threats to Commissioners Butcher and Groves. Then I decided I should think it over for awhile.

After reading letters to Editor from Mr. Skipper, Atwood and Balie and your response to Mr. Skipper, I fully agree with their letters.

This is also my first letter to the Editor. I have for all of my adult life tried to live by the Golden Rule, you know, the "do unto others" thing. If you truly believe that it would be okay for your grandchildren to spend your money without your permission, then maybe it would be acceptable for us to spend theirs in advance. I do not think this is okay.

Maybe I just don't get it, but how can we afford price plus interest, when we can't afford the price? Or are we raising grandchildren smart enough to pay their bills plus the bills we give them?

I would suggest that you use the upper left corner of the page to educate, rather than threaten, by presenting facts and numbers that convince us that the bond authorization is the right thing to do. If this is not possible then maybe the bond authorization is not the correct path. AImproprie (the uninformed) must be pulled as it cannot be pushed.

To the Editor:

I am writing to express my concern and dismay over the Freedom of Choice Act (FOCA). I am at a loss to fathom why Congress would even consider such a radical bill. The Freedom of Choice Act promotes anything but "choice."

Hospitals and doctors who cannot ethically perform abortions would lose their right to choose whether to assist a woman in aborting her baby. Parents of minor daughters would lose their right to be informed of the pending abortion of their grandchild. Fathers, likewise, would lose their right to be informed of the abortion. Women, whose rights this bill claims to protect, would lose the right to be informed of options open to them. And lastly, but most importantly, unborn children would lose their right to live.

In my opinion, and the opinion of many, this bill is dangerous. Abortions would be allowable even to the ninth month of pregnancy if the mother's "health" is at stake. How is "health" defined? I have heard it said that giving birth to a male child when the mother desires a female child would damage the "mental health" of the mother. This kind of thinking is abominable, and exactly what FOCA will promote. No amount of watered-down amendments will change the intent and purpose of this bill. The only viable solution, therefore, is to kill FOCA now.

The fact that this bill is in existence at all reflects a moral decline in our nation. We can no longer avoid standing up for what is right and opposing what is wrong. If the killing of innocent children didn't stir you to action yet, then maybe the taking of your tax dollars to fund this atrocity will.

Please join others in voicing opposition to FOCA. Write our federal congress persons today and tell them to vote NO on the Freedom of Choice Act. The addresses are as follows: Representative Roscoe Bartlett, U.S. House, Washington, DC 20515; Senator Paul Sarbanes, U.S. Senate, Washington, DC 20510; and Senator Barbara

Out Of The Darkness

MENTAL ILLNESS AND THE CHURCH

by Carol L. Cox

Spirituality plays a major role in withstanding the pain and confusion of mental illness.

Are families reluctant to come forward out of their closets of silence and fear to share the clergy and congregation what is happening to them? Often, they aren't even sure themselves. Is it because they don't perceive that the church is a caring community?

A life journey which includes a struggle with a mental disorder requires and deserves special understanding and sensitivity.

The role of the pastor and the congregation in ministry to individuals who face mental illness can be divided into several areas of service or functions: providing community, offering compassion, public advocacy, developing resources, pastoral care and counseling, and sometimes even assisting with treatment.

Small groups within some congregations around the country have emerged to do the education on mental illness; to develop specific fellowship or study activities; to help provide housing and counseling centers and to join the never-ending battle against stigma and for adequate mental health care systems.

These biological brain diseases can involve profound disturbances in thought and emotions, leaving the individual fragile and vulnerable in spirit. The victim's needs or the needs of his family members may be great, even at times overwhelming. As with other complex and difficult illnesses, cures may be elusive or unavailable, forcing prolonged, even life-long, suffering.

It is then that congregations are called upon to offer deep tenderness, great care and the utmost respect in extending its hand and hospitality.

How does your congregation rate?

In many cases, society tends to deny that persons who have or are experiencing serious mental disorders even have a spirit or a soul that needs attention. Are we missing a link in the healing process? Shouldn't we as Christians work actively on behalf of those persons with serious mental illness and their families to make their lives more comfortable and significant?

First and foremost, we must understand and accept that mental illness is truly a disease... not a disgrace. In an atmosphere of love and concern, family burdens can surely be lightened. In the days of His flesh, the Son of God went about doing good, driving out demons from the possessed, and helping the deranged. We can ask in our quiet times of prayer for guidance, insight and the ability to let those afflicted know that He will sustain them with his grace and our understanding.

Mikulski, U.S. Senate, Washington, DC 20510.

The children whose lives may be saved will be glad you did.

An Update From The Superintendent

By
Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, Superintendent
Of Garrett County Public Schools

Crellin Elementary School
A Home Away From Home
(This article was written by Keith Harvey, principal of Crellin Elementary School.)
The Crellin Elementary School staff consists of five classroom teachers for grades kindergarten through fifth, two Chapter One resource teachers, four instructional assistants, and a teaching principal. We also have a 3 special education teacher and a half-time clerical assistant, along with our traveling teachers in the areas of music, art, physical education, counseling, speech therapy, and the school enrichment program.

In addition to the county's curriculum, Crellin school has several programs to assist teachers in providing services to our children. One such program is Chapter One, which is a federally funded program to help educationally deprived children succeed in the regular curriculum of the school system. Another is the School Enrichment Program which provides lessons for grade three, and critical and creative thinking skills for the talent pool in grades four and five.

Our guidance counselor provides assistance to students on many topics such as developing a positive self-image, learning to get along with peers, and career education. The counselor plans jointly with the classroom teacher to address individual, small group, or entire classroom needs.

Other instructional programs at our school include band, chorus, and computer awareness.

Our computer lab houses 11 Apple IIGS computers. We also have one Apple IIGS computer networked into each of our five classrooms. Our lab houses two printers - one remains in the lab while the other is shared among the classrooms when it is needed. We have over 100 separate computer programs to reinforce and supplement all subject areas. Each classroom's computer offers the same programs that are found on the computers in our lab. We also house a "Magabyte" which is an electronic blackboard used with an overhead projector. This allows computer image to be projected on a screen for use with the whole class or small group.

Our teachers and assistants are providing our students with many creative techniques and strategies to enhance each student's academic goals. In addition, we are increasing the parental involvement by establishing a parent coordinator to oversee our volunteers. We are conducting "Special Topic" meetings on a monthly basis, and involving students in our monthly PTA programs.

Crellin school is truly a "Home Away From Home" for the students of the Crellin community. The staff of the school feels that it provides the students with a caring and loving atmosphere which enriches the learning environment for all of its students.

What's Happening in Our School?

* The Western Maryland VICA competition was conducted at Southern High School on Saturday, Feb. 20. Over 60 career and technology students from Northern and Southern and schools from Allegany, Frederick, and Washington counties participated.

* Kitzmiller Elementary School's annual Reading Week will be observed March 8-12. The last hour of each school day will be devoted to different reading activities, with parents and members of the community participating.

* Also during the week of March 8-12, Mrs. Becky Sanders's fifth grade class at Crellin will be attending the College and Me Program at GCC.

* The Crellin Elementary School will be conducting its Excellence Fair on March 11, with all students participating.

Note: The Superintendent's Update can be heard every other Sunday on WMSG/WXIE Radio at 8:45 a.m. and every other Saturday on WKHL at 8:35 a.m.

FRIENDS

RUTH ENLOW LIBRARY

by Sull McCartney

1992 was the most successful year yet for our Book Endowment Fund with almost $3,000 being added to the total. Thanks to book endowments funded by donations to the Friends in honor of Edith Brock and another generous donation by Dr. Karl and Sharon Schwalm, the number of fully funded endowments by the end of 1992 reached 50, with the total amount of money from fully funded endowments surpassing the $10,000 level. Since the inception of the Friends Book Endowment Fund in 1987, $2,020 from the interest earned has been used to purchase 103 books or audio tapes for the library.

The Bridges of Madison County by Robert James Waller is one of those books that has become a best seller due to recommendations by independent book store owners and word of mouth. It is impossible to describe much of this very short book without ruining the story for potential readers. Bridges is basically a very well-written romance and although not the type of book that I normally like, I thought it was very good except for the ending which seemed to be stretched just to make the book longer. I have yet to talk to anyone else who has read this book that shares this opinion, however.

Outerbridge Reach by Robert Stone, unlike The Bridges of Madison County, received outstanding reviews by all the major critics. The main characters are a man who tries to put his life in order by competing in an around-the-world solo sailing race, his wife and a man who is making a movie about the race. The wife and the movie-maker have an affair during the course of the race. I did not like any of the characters and would have liked the book better if all of them had died instead of just one.

Senior Citizens' Menus

Eating Together sites are now operating two days per week. The menu for the week of March 15-19 is as follows:

Day 1 - Grapefruit juice, baked ham, baked sweet potato, green beans, white bread, yellow cake

Day 2 - Apricots, hamburger-potato casserole, stewed tomatoes, bran muffin, tapioca pudding

Coffee, tea, and milk are served with all meals.

On occasion, a site may opt to make a substitution in the menu. Senior citizens who wish to eat at one of the Eating Together sites are asked to call the individual site to check the menu for the day and to make reservations.

Telephone numbers of individual sites are as follows: Flowery Vale Senior Center, Accident, 746-8821; Finzel Fire Hall, Finzel, 689-8398; Old Mill Grill, Friendsville, 746-5414; Old Mill Restaurant, Gorman, 334-2848; Starner Hill Apts., Grantsville, 895-5092; Jennings Community Building, Jennings, 245-4204; Kitzmiller Community Building, Kitzmiller, 453-3445; Oakland Senior Center, Mtn. Lake Park, 334-3399; and Swanton Community Building, Swanton, 387-9191.

NOTE: Oakland Senior Center will be serving meals Monday, March 15 and Wednesday, March 17.

The regular Wednesday and Friday serving schedule will resume the week of March 22.

GOOD MOVIES

FALLING DOWN

Warner Brothers' directed by Joel Schumacher, starring Michael Douglas, Robert Duval, Barbara Hershey, Rachel Ticotin, Tuesday Weld, Frederic Forrest and Lois Smith.

Falling Down is a blatantly manipulative, and chillingly effective, suspense thriller social satire that taps into middle class paranoia about urban horrors.

Michael Douglas sheds all vestiges of his superstar (Fatal Attraction, Basic Instinct) movie star image in an extraordinary portrayal. He is first seen bespectacled, crew-cut, in white shirt and tie, with pens protruding from his pocket protector, in an L.A. freeway gridlock. Known throughout the film only by the moniker on his license plate, D-FENS, Douglas, without visible emotion, proceeds to abandon his car, walk off the road and wreak havoc across the city in his attempts to "go home."

Thin-lipped and relentless, D-FENS may be an Everyman whose mind has snapped from society's travails of his middle class dreams, or he may always have been teetering on the verge of insanity. Either scenario is the more frightening is left to audience imagination, because character development is slighted in favor of cathartic violence against the supposed causes of the city's ills.

D-FENS targets are the venal, greedy, the gangs, the Nazis, the snooty rich. Like Kurosawa's Yojimbo, he strides across streets and rids the town of thugs. Like Jack Nicholson in Five Easy Pieces, he creates mayhem in a restaurant that imposes arbitrary food rules. Like Taxi Driver's Travis Bickle, his explosive rage against perceived evils comes to know no bounds.

All of these films were far stronger intellectually and stylistically than Falling Down. Yet the sick exploitation aspects of D-FENS' lament, "I'm the bad guy! I did everything they told me to, create a discomforting audience sympathy Intersecting with Douglas' rambling odyssey is the tale of retiring cop Prendergast (Robert Duval). A decent, mild-mannered man whose life has also known tremendous pressure and great personal loss, it is Prendergast's cleverness and humanity that make his last day at work interweave with D-FENS' fate.

Falling Down can be faulted for pandering to base instincts, relegating its female stars to one role and oversimplifying the causes of urban woes into ethnic and class divisions. Yet the complexity of Douglas' mad intensity and Duval's ironic humor provide alternatives for coping with civil despair in a world of perpetual tension. Falling Down is a cautionary tale indeed.

Rated R for violence and profanity.

1-10 Rating: 7. A divorced, unemployed defense industry worker in L.A. goes bonkers in a traffic jam and proceeds across the city in a violent rampage.

Toth, 19; Terry Harvey, 16; both of Annandale, Va.; and Sarah J. Neighbors, 15, Salem, Va.

Tpr. Mark Rodeheaver said the 1:20 a.m. mishap occurred when Toth, operating a 1988 Dodge vehicle west on I-68 struck a 1994 Ford Bronco, operated by Stephen F. Wilson, 43, Grantsville, that had braked to avoid striking a third vehicle operated by Robert Widmer, 18, Pasadena. Widmer reportedly lost control of his vehicle causing it to skid across the highway.

Frostburg Ambulance transported the injured to the hospital. Because of high winds and icy roads, no citations were issued in the mishap. Eastern Garrett County firemen were also dispatched to the scene.

Administration Opposes Bay Run-Off Bill

A bill that would require farmers to reduce nutrient pollution of the Chesapeake Bay was opposed by the Schaefer administration last week on the grounds that voluntary — as opposed to coercive — programs would bring about the desired reduction of pollution.

The bill is sponsored by one of the Senate's leading environmentalists, who reportedly believes that mandatory anti-pollution measures should be favored over voluntary ones.

Senate Bill 624 would require all farms receiving easements or cost-share funds from the Maryland Department of Agriculture to implement such a plan. Also, by 1999, any farms with a large number of animals or farms that apply animal manure to crops would also have to comply.

Senate Bill 568, however, would finance this program with a two percent sales tax on pesticides and fertilizers.

Committee Takes Action To Cut Schaefer Budget

The Maryland General Assembly's Spending Affordability Committee, which was formed in the 1980s to come up with a voluntary cap on new expenditures, has reportedly decided to cut at least $104 million from Governor William Donald Schaefer's proposed $12.7 billion Fiscal Year 1994 budget.

Although the governor's proposal reflects a five percent increase in spending over last year, the committee has recommended holding spending at a 2.5 percent increase in anticipation of the effect the federal economic proposals might have on the state.

Governor Schaefer reportedly responded to the decision by saying it was a mistake to cut that amount because it would likely mean that up to 600 state employees would be laid off.

Senate Approves Recycling Bill

Final approval was given by the Senate last week on a bill that will require some plastic containers to be manufactured with at least 25% recycled material beginning in July 1996.

Senate Bill 258 received a 29-15 vote and is now awaiting approval by the House of Delegates which killed a similar bill last year.

Plastic soft drink containers and detergent bottles would be the two main items covered in the bill.

Child Support Bill Favored

The Senate Judicial Proceedings Committee unanimously voted in favor of a bill that would provide ways of enforcing child support payment laws — a measure sought by the Schaefer administration.

The bill includes the provision that unmarried fathers acknowledge their paternity in writing within hours of the birth of their children. It would also require that persons who have failed to pay child support payments be reported to credit agencies, and that judges would be provided with easier ways of withholding wages for the purpose of securing payments and for demanding retroactive payments.

Senate Committee Rejects AIDS Reporting Bill

In a 6-5 vote, the Senate Environmental and Economic Affairs Committee rejected a measure that would have required doctors and laboratories to report the names of people who have tested positive for HIV to the state health department.

The bill was introduced by the Schaefer administration and was the second attempt in two years to implement the requirement.

While health department officials reportedly lobbied in favor of the bill in an effort to more efficiently and accurately find ways of combating the disease, a number of doctors and AIDS activists opposed the bill on the grounds that it would deter people from getting tested.

Keno Survives House Vote

Only days after the House Ways and Means Committee killed a bill that would have prohibited the controversial Keno lottery game from being continued in the state of Maryland, the full House voted against a motion that the bill be forced out of the committee and onto the floor for a debate among the 141 delegates.

House Democratic leaders reportedly stated that bringing a bill to the floor that had already been killed in committee would undermine the committee system.

The House of Delegates voted 81-49 against a motion to force the bill out of the committee, but some legislators have still not given up the fight, according to reports.

The full Senate had voted last week to abolish the game by the end of the year. The bill (SB304) to abolish the game also stipulates that no new lottery games would be introduced into the state unless they receive prior approval by the legislature.

House Committee Supports Health Coverage Bill

In a 25-1 vote, the House Economics Matters Committee approved a measure that would make health insurance more available to Marylanders. The committee also reportedly indicated they would consider imposing limits on the amount doctors may charge for their services.

House Bill 1359 is now before the full House for a debate this week.

Specifically, the bill would make health insurance available to businesses that employ from two to 50 workers.

Scholarship Program Killed In Committee

The House Ways and Means Committee last week voted in favor of a measure to abolish the state's legislative scholarship program. The $7 million program is scheduled to be discontinued beginning in October 1994.

The bill includes a request, however, that calls for the legislature to propose a replacement program that would provide financial aid to middle-income college students.

Maryland is reportedly the only state in the nation with a legislative scholarship program, and this year marks the first year in at least 25 years that the House of Representatives has challenged the establishment of the program which has received a fair amount of criticism over the past few years. That criticism has largely centered around allegations that the program is politically tainted.

District 1-A Delegate George C. Edwards has, in fact, co-sponsored legislation in the past that would abolish the scholarship program.

chase ensued to Boiling Springs Road, where the defendant apparently ran off the road. A short time later, Kisselovich left his car, began running, and was then caught by Murphy.

The officer reported that the defendant struck him in the chest with his forearm when Murphy attempted to restrain him. Kisselovich was released on $1,000 bond, according to a Sheriff's Office spokesperson.

An Accident man was charged with battery Saturday as a result of a domestic dispute at the Meadow Park trailer court. Robert D. Smith, 25, Accident, was apparently engaged in an altercation with Pamela C. Smith when she contacted the Sheriff's Office. A deputy responded to the scene and, while attempting to help resolve the dispute, witnessed Smith throw a pair of glasses and a necklace at Mrs. Smith. The victim had also reported to the officer that he had assaulted her before the police had arrived.

Stephen F. Durst, 39, Oakland, was arrested on the strength of two bench warrants Sunday. Durst apparently failed to appear in Garrett County District the power purchase rates should be, based on avoided costs.

The Commission in its order agreed with Potomac Edison's plans to meet future generation needs. While finding that Potomac Edison would require additional generating capacity, the commission determined that this need should be met with combustion turbines that can later be converted to combined cycle (CC) or CCGTs with coal gasification units.

"We will need 90 MWs of new generating capacity in 1996, which is reflected in our 1992 integrated resource plan," stated Noia. "However, the combustion turbines we are planning would operate only at peak times and would be much less costly to build than the plants proposed by MidAtlantic and International Power System."

The Commission also concurred with Potomac Edison's estimated cost for providing future generation.

"Potomac Edison estimates its capacity costs for providing future generation to be about a penny per kilowatt-hour," Noia said. "MidAtlantic Energy estimates the avoided costs to be 5.72 cents per kilowatt-hour, while Independent Power Systems estimates an avoided cost of 4.73 cents per kilowatt-hour. The Commission agreed with our estimate."

The Commission in its order also addressed whether only West Virginia customers of Potomac Edison would be required to pay for the PURPA projects or if costs could be spread to all of the company's customers. The Commission ruled that it will only allow recovery for PURPA projects from West Virginia customers in an amount that corresponds to West Virginia's percentage of Potomac Edison's total generation.

During September and October 1992, the Public Service Commission held six public hearings on the proposed cogeneration projects in Martinsburg, Philippi, Romney, Moundsville and Glen Dale. More than 1,000 Potomac Edison customers attended the hearings and spoke out against the proposed projects. The Commission also received hundreds of letters from concerned citizens.

"Our customers helped take our message to the Commission," explained Noia. "We provided them with the facts on the proposed PURPA projects and they formed their own opinions and presented them to the Commission in a loud, clear voice."

Lenten Service To Be Held At St. Matthew's

The third in a series of Wednesday evening Lenten services, planned by the Oakland area clergy and sponsored by the Mt. Top Ministerial Association, will be held on March 17 at St. Matthew's Episcopal Church, Oakland, at 7:30 p.m.

Guest preacher for the service will be the Rev. Paul Stauffer, pastor of the Oak Park Church of the Brethren.

This year's theme for the services is based in the "I am" saying of Jesus as recorded in the Gospel according to St. John. Pastor Stauffer's sermon will focus on the words "I Am the Light of the World." John 8:12.

On the following Wednesday, March 24, the service will be held at St. Peter's Catholic Church, Oakland, when the guest preacher will be the Rev. William "Chip" Lee, pastor at St. Matthew's and St. John's Episcopal churches.

Offering money received at the Wednesday evening services will be used to support the work of Habitat for Humanity.

Records Management Class Scheduled

A new class scheduled to begin on March 22 will help business owners learn the basics of handling records. The class will focus on inventory, receipts, personnel, disbursements, and federal, state and local tax forms.

This is a part of a series of classes which addresses the issues vital to starting a small business being held this spring at Garrett Community College. These classes are especially designed for those who are now starting, expanding, or considering starting a business.

"Records Management for Small Business" will meet March 22 and 29 from 6:30 to 9 p.m. at the McHenry Campus. The classes are co-sponsored by the Continuing Education Division of GCC, the Small Business Administration and the Western Maryland Small Business Development Center. Anyone wishing to register for this course or obtain additional information, should call Sandy Major at the Small Business Development Center at 387-6666, ext. 180.

Waco Group Not Associated With Adventist Church

Branch Davidians involved in the stand-off at Waco, Tex., are not members of the international Seventh-day Adventist denomination, according to information received from the Mtn. Top Seventh-day Church, Oakland.

While Seventh-day Adventists do have three congregations in Waco, none of the Branch Davidians from the group headed by Vernon Howell (also known as David Koresh, Vernon Jezebel, and just Jezebel) has been attending these congregations. "In fact, we might say that Koresh is a sign of the times," said Larry Guinn, pastor of one of three Adventist churches in Waco. "The Bible tells us that before the second advent there would be those who impersonate Christ."

Seventh-day Adventists, organized in 1863 out of Millerites from many denominations, have not set a time for the second coming of Christ. On the other hand, Adventists do believe that the Bible prophesies events which will precede the second advent—events being fulfilled today, according to a spokesperson.

Because recruitment for the various splinters of the sect was concentrated in Seventh-day Adventist churches and college campuses rather than in other denominations, Adventists have been wrongly associated with the Koresh cult.

A Christian denomination which focuses on one's need for a personal relationship with Jesus Christ and serving His other children, Adventists are among the major groups involved with relief and development worldwide, added the spokesperson.

General Psych. Course To Be Held In Crellin

A new section of general psychology (PSY 101) has been scheduled by Garrett Community College at Crellin Elementary School, beginning Wednesday, March 17, from 6-9 p.m., according to a college spokesperson.

The three-credit course will be taught by Tom Kierstead and will meet for 13 consecutive weeks, ending June 9.

Garden Club To Meet March 16

The Mountain Laurel Garden Club has scheduled its next meeting for Tuesday, March 16, at 10:30 a.m., at the home of Jackie Shirer, 21 W. Pennington Street, Oakland.

The program will be titled "Wildflowers," and will be presented by Mary Jane Berry and Jackie Shirer. Hostesses will be Diane Thayer, Ann Englander, and Jackie Shirer.

Interested persons are asked to join the group for the presentation.

The Garrett County Crime Solvers organization is seeking information in a case of vehicle theft.

On the night of January 6, three vehicles were stolen from Thomas's Used Car Lot, located at the intersection of Md. Route 42 and Green Gables Road, near Friendsville.

The vehicles were described as a red 1987 Ford F-350 Rollback, a gray 1985 Ford Tempo, and a 1989 Geo Tracker, blue with a soft black top.

The rollback and Tempo were recovered shortly after the theft near the Youghiogheny Reservoir. The Tracker was recovered approximately one month later in a secluded area off Trap Run Road. The Tracker had apparently been driven extensively and had been involved in an accident. It is believed the vehicle was driven in the Markleysburg and Uniontown, Pa., areas. The tracker, which sustained extensive damage, was valued at $8,000.

Any person with information about this or any other unsolved crime is urged to contact Crime Solvers at 334-1975. Callers do not have to give their names nor appear in court. Those who provide tips that lead to arrests are eligible to receive rewards up to $1,000.

Eastern Star Chapter Meets, Installs Officers

Oakland Chapter No. 67, Order of The Eastern Star, met Tuesday, March 2, at the Paul B. Naylor Masonic Temple in Oakland. Worthy Patron Theodore Raynovich called the meeting to order. Worthy Matron Deborah Raynovich opened with a reading, "Praying Hands." Among those present were: P. Archie Minor, Associate Grand Patron; Juanita Leese, Isabel Moses, and Wilda Hile, Deputy Grand Lecturers of Maryland; Juanita Bosley, Deputy Instructor of West Virginia; and Joy Lou Fogle, Grand Representative.

Mrs. Raynovich honored Denzil Hile, warder, with a gift for having perfect attendance during the year, and then gave her final report of her year. A recess was declared for the purpose of installation of the 1993-1994 officers. Those assisting with the installation were: Isabel Moses, Installing Officer; Helen Henline, Installing Chaplain; Sharon Perando, Installing Marshal; Lynn Newman, Installing Organist; Elizabeth McComas, Installing Warder, and Frank Clark, Installing Sentinel.

The following officers will serve for the ensuing year: Worthy Matron, Rosemary Harvey; Associate Matron, Wilda Hile; Associate Patron, Theodore Raynovich; secretary, Betty Foy; treasurer, Roberta Baker; Elizabeth Daniels, conductress; I. Helen McCauley, associate conductress; Deborah Raynovich, chaplain; Juanita Bosley, marshal; Lillian Reckner, organist; Charee Reckner, Adah; Phyllis Winkelvoos, Ruth; Rhonda Savage, Esther; Judy Travis, Martha; Thelma Henshaw, Electa; Denzil Hile, warder, and Delmar Sliger, sentinel.

Mrs. Harvey gave her acceptance speech, and presented each of her installing officers with a gift and flowers. Special music was rendered by Sharon Perando, "The Rose." Mr. and Mrs. Raynovich received their Past Matron's and Past Patron's pins from Mrs. Harvey.

Announcements were made concerning Grand Sessions to be held at the Ramada Inn in Hagerstown, April 25-28; next meeting March 16; and practice for all officers and prompter Thursday, March 11, at 7 p.m. Mrs. Harvey closed with a reading "Friendship is Like a Garden." Refreshments were served by Marie Shrout and Denise Kisselovich.

Fourth Grader Creates Advanced Computer Program

Ian Strouse, a fourth grade student at Broad Ford Elementary School, recently presented a city that he designed using a computer simulation model to his classmates in Mrs. Sheila Russell's enrichment class.

The model Ian used imitated the process of creating a new city on a previously undeveloped piece of land. Ian showed the class how the land would first be zoned for industrial, commercial, and residential use, and how utilities, roads, and services are brought in. He also demonstrated the effect that keeping a balance of the various zones has on population growth and tax revenue, and how tax revenue must be used to pay for utilities, services, and the creation of zones.

Ian's city, which he named "Gotham," is a thriving capital city with a population of 84,300. Ian also showed the class his "commercial top" zone which has reached its maximum potential because of ideal balance of all required elements in the surrounding area.

After he showed "Gotham" to the class and demonstrated how to begin a new city, the class then watched computer simulated scenarios of the destruction of several major cities by various disasters, including the leveling of Tokyo by a large reptilian monster.

The program created by the student required higher level thinking skills, and was "quite an accomplishment for a 9-year-old," said a teaching staff spokesperson.

The fourth grader is the son of Carol Cunningham, Loch Lynn, and Roger Strouse, Oakland.

First United Plans Expansion Into Hagerstown

Richard G. Stanton, chairman of the Board and president of First United National Bank & Trust, and Allan Noddle, president and chief executive officer for Giant Food Stores, Inc., have announced that First United will open a full-service community office in the newly constructed Martin's Store, located at Valley Park Commons in Hagerstown. The Bank office was slated for opening March 10.

"We are very pleased with the success we have had at our Martin's office in LaVale, and look forward to this new challenge in the Hagerstown area. Our customers enjoy the convenience of combining their grocery shopping and banking into one trip," stated Stanton.

First United plans to offer a full range of financial services at its first office in Washington County. Hours will be extended to meet the needs of grocery shoppers. Plus, a 24-hour MAC/MOST/CIRRUS automated teller machine will be available.

Richard Pasewark, director of advertising for Giant, continued, "One of our goals at Martin's is to provide one-stop shopping for our customers. Our extended services such as video rental, floral shops, and now banking make it very easy for our customers to complete several tasks at once. Therefore, it further enhances the service offered to our customers. We're very excited to work with First United again at our newest location."

First United National Bank & Trust and First United Bank of West Virginia, N.A. currently serve Allegany and Garrett counties, and Mineral County, W. Va., with 17 community offices. The new Hagerstown office will be First United's second supermarket office. The first one opened in November at Martin's in LaVale. First United Corporation posted assets of $361.56 million at year-end 1992.

Kid's Praise Program At St. Mark's Postponed

The "Kid's Praise - Play Ball" program at St. Mark's Lutheran Church, Oakland, scheduled for Friday and Saturday, March 12 and 13, has been postponed until next Friday and Saturday, March 19 and 20. Director Julie Ursin explained that varied circumstances led to the change and expressed her hope that the public will attend the delayed performances.

"Kid's Praise - Play Ball" is a Christian musical production, featuring 19 youngsters age 6 through 13, and one adult. The program focuses on the theme of "with the Lord, you're a winner even when you lose."

The public is invited to attend the event, which will begin at 7 p.m. both nights. A free-will offering will be taken, Mrs. Ursin said.

Dance-A-Thon Set To Benefit After-Prom Parties

Final plans are being made for the first Garrett County Dance-A-Thon, scheduled for this Saturday, March 13, at the Oakland Elks Lodge. The event is being sponsored by the Garrett County Council on Alcohol and Drug Abuse. Dancing will begin at noon.

Proceeds from the activity will benefit the Northern and Southern High School After-Prom Parties. The community may support this activity by entering the dance marathon, pledging dancers, visiting the event as an observer, or volunteering at the event to serve refreshments or register dancers.

Couples interested in dancing may pick up individual pledge sheets at either of the county high schools, Garrett Community College, or by calling the Council at 334-1996 or 334-4249. All participants must have at least a total of $10 in pledges.

A cash prize will be awarded to the person collecting the most amount of pledge money. Two stereo compact disc players will be given to the couple that dances for the longest amount of time. Incentive prizes and t-shirts will also be available to supporters of the event and door prizes will be awarded throughout the day's activity.

More information on the Garrett County Dance-A-Thon is available by contacting the Council.

The births of four infants this week at Garrett County Memorial Hospital were announced this morning by a hospital spokesperson.

A daughter was born March 5 to Michael David and Lisa Anne Sunny Hall, Swanton.

HERRINGTON HOSTS SKI RACE - Thirty-eight cross country ski racers, ranging in age from 3 to 71 years, participated in the annual 8K Kick and Glide race at Herrington Manor State Park February 27. The race had originally been scheduled for January 30, but was postponed because of lack of snow. Pictured above left is the start of the race, and below, a tired but victorious Mac Martin of Aspinwall, Pa., crosses the finish line first with a time of 25 minutes, 15 seconds. Above right are the youngest, oldest, and top finishers. The youngest racer was Steven Diller (he is the one wearing the cap). Pictured left to right in the back are Art Naylor, oldest racer, Fran Pope, fastest female racer, and Martin. Winners in the various age categories, male and female were: Wesley Thomas and Brittany Naylor, age 0-7; Eric Jacoby and Sarah Teets, ages 8-11; Jamie Jacoby, 12-14; George Edmiston and Lori Nardin, 20-34. Trophies and medals were awarded to the top finishers in several age categories. Businesses donating prizes and other items were High Mountain Sports, Pizza Hut, KARHU and SWIX, and Food Lion. Complete results of the adult race are below. Photos by Lisa Baker.

Coors Upset By Garrett Mine In League Play

Coors lost its first game in two years Monday evening as Garrett Mine Supply upset the league leaders, 56-53, in the Mountain Top Recreation Basketball League.

Garrett Mine (5-7) was led by Rick Minnick with 14 points, while Joe DiSimone added 12. Coors, who still holds a commanding lead in the league standings with a 10-1 record, was led by Paul Lewis with 21 points. Brian Sellers added 15.

In the only other league action Monday, Ringer Electric got 25 points from Lynn Brennenman on route to an easy 69-57 victory over State Farm. Phil Carr chipped in with 15 points, while John Shannell scored 10. Charlie Shannell led State Farm with 19 points, while Monty Pagenhardt and Gary Newcomb added 16 and 12 points, respectively. Ringer Electric improved to 3-8 on the season, while State Farm fell to 1-11.

League action saw two overtimes in three games last week, as Mettiki Coal, Coors, and Garrett Mine recorded victories.

Mettiki outlasted State Farm in overtime, 68-67, on the strength of Norm Minnick's 31 points. Barry Lauden scored 14 and Stan Skiles added 13 for Mettiki. Dave Martin led State Farm with 25, while Monty Pagenhardt tallied 23 and Gary Heginbotham added 11.

Bausch and Lomb took Coors to overtime, but fell short in the upset attempt by a 74-73 score. Coors placed four players in double figures, as they were led by 27 points by Brian Sellers.

Joe McRobie scored 14, Paul Lewis had 12, and Bill Ewing added 10. Ed Jones led three B&L players in double figures with 23, as Kerry Collins tallied 19 and Chris Lattimer added 12.

Garrett Mine overcame an early deficit to outlast Ringer Electric 64-55. Randy DiSimone led Garrett Mine with 20, while Rick Minnick scored 18, and Denny Skeweris had 14. Phil Carr led Ringer with 20, while Tom Bulka added 10.

Whitewater To Be Focus Of Three Courses At GCC

The thrill of running whitewater rivers awaits students who enroll in any one of the three Adventure Sports courses being offered by Garrett Community College this spring. Whitewater canoeing, kayaking, and rafting will be taught by Mike Logsdon, director of the Adventure Sports program, and Bob Ruppel, owner-operator of Riversport in Confluence, Pa., and two consecutive Fridays and Saturdays, April 30-May 1, and May 6-7.

All courses will be taught simultaneously at the same river sites using the three different types of crafts. The sites chosen for instruction will depend on river levels and student competency, according to Logsdon.

The three courses will stress safety in moving water and will teach fundamental paddling strokes in the various craft, whitewater reading and navigating, and rescue techniques.

Registration for these and other Adventures Sports courses is now being taken at the Registrar's Office of the college. Persons interested in registering or desiring further information should contact Logsdon at 301-387-6666. They can then complete their registration at the first class meeting.

Registration is still open for the Beginning Orienteering course being taught by Lt. Col. Bob Turbyfill, head coach of the U.S. Orienteering Team, March 19, 20, and

PLAYING IN A WINTER WONDERLAND

Children love to play outside in the snow. Follow these tips to keep your child safe.

* Dress your child appropriately for cold weather. Layers of clothing will keep your child warmer than just a sweater. Start with a light cotton T-shirt, add a turtleneck shirt, top with a sweatshirt or sweater, and the child's winter coat. Two pairs of socks will keep a child's feet warmer than a single pair.

* Make sure your child wears a hat or hood when she goes outside. An uncovered head loses a lot of body heat. * Don't forget boots, mittens and gloves, and a scarf to insulate your child's body from the cold.

* Have your child play outside for short periods of time in cold weather. Check her now and then to make sure she is not too cold or wet.

Winter Guard

Ohio, April 1-4. Approximately 200 groups are to be in competition there, with 50 in Scholastic A class.

Members of Southern Winter Guard are Melanie Ellis, captain; Jennifer Peck, assistant captain; Ainsley Powers, Jennifer Berkoridge, Alison Winters, Holly Stoner, Avery Johnson, Tiffany Powers, Denise Compitello, and Shannon Phillippi. (See photo.)

The staff for the guard includes Mark Weeks, Teresa Weeks, Blair Glass, Robert Thomas (show design), and Jeanne Matras (dance and movement instructor).

The group is planning to sponsor a winter guard competition on Friday, April 16, at the Southern High School gymnasium, beginning at 7:30 p.m. Further information will appear in future issues of The Republican.

Choral Society

Local native Kathryn Sincell will sing the soprano solo parts.

In his work, Mendelssohn sets to music the prophet Elijah's confrontation with the followers of Baal. Future articles will discuss this Biblical performance.

The Garrett Choral Society is comprised of area residents who share a common interest in choral music. The music performed by the Society ranges from folk music, as presented in their "Country Sampler" a few years ago, to oratorios such as Handel's Messiah as well as musicals such as H.M.S. Pinafore, Oliver, South Pacific, Fiddler on the Roof and Broadway vignettes.

Tickets for the concert will soon be available and will be $7 for adults and $3 for children age 12 and under. The oratorio is funded in part by a grant from the Maryland State Arts Council and the Garrett County Arts Council.

Women's Fair

Presentations have been planned to appeal to them and to other teenagers. These include sessions on setting goals, physical appearance, affording college, handling teen pressures, career choices, choosing non-traditional careers, and finding alternatives to college.

Other sessions, such as good parenting, volunteering, handling stress, surviving domestic milestones, de-parenting adult children, handling marriage and career, and being a caregiver, will address concerns of adult women.

Still other presentations will be geared to audiences of all ages. Some of those will include: caring for your car, exercising for health, expanding your wardrobe, eating well, changing relationships between mother and daughter, choosing the right colors, women's language as it affects personnel decisions, dealing with drugs and alcohol, interview techniques, taking charge, making the gender gap work, caring for house plants, handling minor emergencies in the home, careers in art, and banking.

Demonstrations at the Fair will range from women's health issues and CPR to arts, crafts, make-up, flower arranging, and culinary arts. Friends of the Ruth Enlow Library will sponsor a booth with Garrett County women authors signing copies of their books, and the Cooperative Extension Service will show how to re-use recyclables. In other demonstrations, the Garrett County Health Department will show hazardous household products, and Naylor's Hardware will demonstrate minor household repairs.

Two special performances have been scheduled. Students from the Tae Kwan Do Studio will demonstrate their art during the noon hour, and the Diehards from Brenda's Body Shop will perform an aerobic dance routine in the cafeteria during the dinner break.

Displays for the Fair are being planned by the Alliance for the Mentally Ill, the Book Market, Christian Women's Club, Mt. Laurel Garden Club, Delta Kappa Gamma, Tobacco-Free Coalition, the Garrett County Health Department, High Mountain Sports, and the JTPA office.

A free babysitting service will be provided during the day by the women of the Deep Creek Lake Methodist Church in the church building located near the college. Interested persons should call Mrs. Panther at 334-2477 to make reservations.

Allegheny Wood

available to meet landowners, both private and industrial, to assist them in choices for managing their land and timber.

Matt Borror, another key person for AWP, serves as logging foreman. His primary responsibility is to insure a continuous supply of logs to the sawmill.

He accomplishes this task with the help of four proficient contract logging crews. These include Appalachian Logging, operated by Nelson Bolyard of Rowlesburg; Beckman Lumber, operated by Art Beckman of Mt. Lake Park; Rex Burns, Sr., Logging, another Rowlesburg operation; and Glatfelly Lumber, operated by Don and Butch Glatfelly of Oakland.

Loggers must construct new roads or improve existing roads in order to reach the timber, as well as cut the logs, load them and haul the logs to the sawmill.

Borror explains that these logging companies are known for their family orientation and the knowledge of their workforce. All companies now working with AWP have at least 20 years of experience in the industry.

"The lumber resource is a very crucial aspect to our business. The quantity and quality of our timber reflects on our lumber sales. We want to insure the community the timber we manage and harvest is done by professionals who take pride in what we do. The contract loggers do an outstanding job with the harvest, so that the residual stand will grow to the best of its potential in order to assure another harvest in the future. We really care that the timber resource in this area will be utilized and managed properly, to optimize our opportunity to supply jobs as well as a timber base for our future," Borror explained.

A third key person, Mark Sturgill is the company's forestry supervisor, and is directly responsible for coordinating all forestry related activities. These include timber procurement, harvesting of timber, and company land management. "We (foresters) are the true environmentalists, looking after a resource that needs expert care. Like managing a crop, one needs to know when it will need harvesting and how to plan for future generations," Sturgill explains. Proper timber management creates a diverse habitat for wildlife and a better environment. "The lumber resource is a very crucial aspect to our business. The quantity and quality of our timber reflects on our lumber sales. We want to insure the community the timber we manage and harvest is done by professionals who take pride in what we do. The contract loggers do an outstanding job with the harvest, so that the residual stand will grow to the best of its potential in order to assure another harvest in the future. We really care that the timber resource in this area will be utilized and managed properly, to optimize our opportunity to supply jobs as well as a timber base for our future," Borror explained.

Managed Care Company Expands Into Western Md.

Mid Atlantic Medical Services, Inc., the leading managed care company in Maryland, Virginia, and District of Columbia, announced it will expand its presence in Western Maryland, including Garrett County and adjacent areas.

MAMSI is the parent company of six health care subsidiaries serving over 850,000 people with a network of 12,000 physicians and 110 hospitals. The company's three health maintenance organizations (HMOs) include M.D. IPA, a federally-qualified HMO, Optimum Choice, Inc., and non-federally-qualified HMO serving small employer groups, and Mid Atlantic Medical Services of Virginia, Inc. (MAMSOVA), a non-federally-qualified HMO serving Virginia employers. Other subsidiaries include two preferred provider organizations (PPOs): Alliance PPO, Inc. and Mid Atlantic Psychiatric Services, Inc.; as well as National Managed Care, Inc. and MAMSI Life and Health Insurance Company, Inc.

"In today's health care market, employers are direct purchasers of health care services, seeking to purchase health care coverage that is affordable to both employer and employee, while still providing high quality care. Managed care, a hands-on approach to employee medical coverage, offers many answers; and MAMSI, as a leading managed care company, is committed to providing high quality health care at affordable prices," stated a company spokesman.

Through its various health plans, MAMSI has provided health care to Garrett County area employers and employees since 1991 via a network of local physicians, specialists, and facilities. This network will also be expanding into West Virginia, including Morgantown, to better serve health plan members, according to the spokesman.

MAMSI today covers over 10,000 members in Western Maryland, including State of Maryland employees and a variety of other large and small employers.

George T. Jochum, MAMSI's chairman, president and CEO, stated, "We believe managed care is one of the best answers to the health care crisis in America. MAMSI has been providing such managed care solutions to local employers and their employees since 1979; and as we continue to expand in areas such as Garrett County, we'll be better able to provide quality health care to increasingly larger numbers of individuals."

BITTINGER

by Laura Miller

The Bittering 4-H met at the Bittering Fire Hall on March 1, at 7 p.m. Nineteen members and five leaders were present. Cody Brennenman led the pledges for the club. On April 3, at 6:30 p.m. the county-wide 4-H is having an achievement dinner at Northern High School. Then at 8 p.m., 4-H awards will be presented. Dawn Lohr and Vicki Teets explained what happens at an achievement dinner.

On April 4 from 2-4 p.m. the club is going to have its annual Easter egg hunt. On March 29, a committee consisting of Karla, Kim, and Laura Miller, Jessica Cooper, Christine Platter, Jon Garlitz, Micah Plevyak, Emily and Julie Green, and Patty and Dawn Lohr will arrange the final details.

This meeting focused on members giving speeches. Dawn Lohr spoke about border collies and Jessica Cooper explained child care. Brian Stanton told about machinery and Rachael Stanton told about her family's vacation. Ryan Brennenman spoke about his favorite month and day. Trey Brennenman told about his favorite food and Cody Brennenman spoke about his favorite present he received.

Jackie Brennenman told about her 1993 project and Emily Green explained what she does for fun. Julie Green told who her favorite teacher was and Brooke Brennenman's topic was what she was going to be when she grows up. Jon Garlitz's favorite television subjects in school were spoken about. Christine Platter told about her favorite pet and Laura Miller spoke about her best friend. Karla Miller told about her favorite pair of shoes and Kim Miller explained what she does on weekends. Last, Patty Lohr spoke about her favorite book.

GRANTSVILLE
by Lisa Hutzler, reporter

The March meeting was called to order by Trina Green. The pledges were led by Dean Green and Aaron Wilhelm. Mr. Deihl, FFA advisor from Northern High School, gave a talk on parliamentary procedure.

Demonstrations were given by Sara Green and Perry Hamilton. Sara's demonstration was on making latchhook wall hangings, and Perry did a demonstration using oil pastel crayons for drawing pictures. Copies of the 4-H Pledge were passed out to each member present. Special thanks to Gerry Beachy of Beachy's Pharmacy for donating the copies to our club.

Fund-raisers were discussed. Sarah Bever brought information concerning a candy sale that she obtained. It was decided to table discussion of a candy sale until the April meeting. Jack Teets of the Yough 4-H offered to let our club use his stand for a fund-raiser at the Yough Overlook. This will also be discussed at the April meeting.

A hog has been purchased and raised by members of the Grantsville 4-H club. This will be raffled off on April 24. Tickets are now being sold for $1 each or 6 for $5.

A bake sale will be held at Grantsville Foodland on Saturday, April 10, from 10 a.m. until 1 p.m. Every member should have their baked goods at Foodland by 9:45 a.m.

The achievement dinner will be held April 3, 6:30 p.m., at Northern High School. Each member is supposed to bring a side dish and a dessert. The next meeting will be Monday, April 5, 7 p.m.

AAUW To Spend Luncheon Sat.

The Garrett County Branch of the American Association of University and College Women will host a luncheon this Saturday, March 13, for members and prospective members. It will be held at the residence of Gail Herman, Sky Valley, beginning at 11:30 a.m.

The president of the Maryland State AAUW will be the guest speaker. Her topic will be "AAUW Programs, Projects, and Grants." Persons may obtain more information by calling Dr. Herman at 387-9199 or Carol Brown at 334-9255.

O'Hare To Spend Year In Germany

Terence O'Hare, a junior at Southern High School, was recently named the recipient of a 1993 Congress-Bundestag Youth Exchange Program scholarship and will consequently spend his senior year of high school in Germany.

The program is co-sponsored by the Congress of the United States and the German Parliament (Bundestag). O'Hare was one of only three Maryland students, out of 500 applicants, selected to receive a scholarship. He had to complete a rigorous application and interview to become one of the 12 semi-finalists.

O'Hare is a member of Mrs. Joan Lambert's second-year German class.

TROOP 5051

The February meeting of Girl Scout Troop 5051, Accident, included a field trip to the residence of the troop's "adopted grandmother," Mrs. Arlene Smith, to the Accident Cemetery, and to the IGA Market for a tour.

Mrs. Smith told the girls about her life and then presented them with Valentine candy. The scouts gave her a Valentine.

The scouts proceeded to the Accident Cemetery where they were to find the oldest grave marker (1801).

They then went to the IGA market where Ruth Hahn took them on a tour of the store.

Providing transportation were Anna Marie Miller, Brenda Branthoover, and Kim Friend.

Top sellers for the troop in the recent cookie sales campaign were Oasey Branthoover, Sophia Holschneider, and Amanda Bowser.

WORLD DAY OF PRAYER POSTPONED

Because of the storm and lack of electricity, the observance of World Day of Prayer in Union District was postponed from March 5 to March 12. The covered dish dinner will begin at noon and the program at 1 p.m. at the Amboy United Methodist Church. All are welcome.

LENTEN SERVICES

The March 17 Lenten service is scheduled to be held at the Amboy United Methodist Church with the Rev. Daniel Hammel giving the message. Everyone is invited to these 7:30 p.m. services.

LEWIS-BAKER MARRIAGE

Julie Christine Lewis and Gary Allen Baker were united in marriage February 19, by the Rev. J. Michael Fike. The private ceremony was held in the Fike home in Morgantown.

The bride is the daughter of Thomas E. and Linda Lewis of Eglon and will graduate in May from West Virginia University with a B.S. degree in textiles, clothing, and fashion merchandising. She is employed part-time by Recollections in Morgantown.

The groom is the son of Steven Sr. and Carolyn Baker of Terra Alta and is currently serving in the U.S. Navy aboard the USS Wasp as a duty systems technician. The Wasp was deployed February 23 for a six-month cruise to Somalia and the Persian Gulf.

Upon the groom's arrival home, the couple hopes to have a reception for family and friends before establishing residence in the Norfolk, Va., area.

4-H WINNERS

In the recent county 4-H poster and photography competition, winners named from the Eglon Mountaineers were as follows: Rebecca Snyder's poster for 4-H Promotion won a blue ribbon and will enter state competition. Brian Corbin was awarded a blue ribbon and his ATV Safety poster will enter state competition. Sarah Snyder's Health and Nutrition poster also received a blue ribbon and will go to state competition. Other blue ribbon winners were David Collins in Dairy (3rd grade to 11 years), Grant Harsh, ATV Safety, Jr. Div., Kim Collins had a red entry in Litter Control and Malinda Mayne a green for her Health and Nutrition entry.

Jenniah Feather received two blue ribbons for his photography entries and Maria Harsh was awarded a blue ribbon and Honorable

Oldies Dance Set At Alpine Lake

Final plans are being made for the annual "Luck of the Irish Oldies Dance" which will be held Saturday, March 13, at Alpine Lake from 9:30 p.m. until 1 a.m.

"Golden oldies" music will be provided for the evening by Dave and Joe Price of Sound-Master Entertainment.

Participants must be 21 years of age and the cost is $5 per couple or $3 for single. The event is co-sponsored by the Terra Alta Civic Club and Alpine Lake Resort.

All are invited to attend.

MENTION FOR PHOTO STORY THOSE WHO ARE ILL

Iris Myers of Aurora has returned home from Garrett County Memorial Hospital where she was a patient last week.

Mrs. Helen Osborne of Thomas became ill while at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Rev. Earl and Norma McCombs, of Camp Galilee, Terra Alta. She was taken last Monday to Garrett Memorial Hospital where she remains a patient.

David F. Stemple of Aurora was admitted Saturday evening to Garrett Memorial Hospital, but expected to return Monday to his home.

Carlton "Skip" Skipper of Kingwood was admitted Thursday evening to Preston Memorial Hospital and transferred to Morgantown Saturday for heart catheterization. He is the son-in-law of Ron Parsons, Eglon.

Word was received that Ardith Wotring Fike is a patient in Baltimore General Hospital where she is paralyzed as a result of a stroke following surgery. She is a daughter of the late Emory and Nina Wotring of Aurora and both she and her husband, Olonzo Fike, are area natives.

PERSONAL MENTION

A dinner at the home of David and Lois Layman, Eglon, on Sunday, Feb. 28, was held to honor their son, Jim, on his 24th birthday. Other guests were his brothers, Aaron, his grandparents, Sheridan and Nina Layman and Jesse Winters, Jerry, Barbara and Devin Hauser of Eglon spent the Bayard TOPS Group Loses 67 Pounds In Feb.

The members of the TOPS #WV411, Bayard chapter had their hearts in the "right place" with a total net loss of 67 pounds for the month of February, according to a chapter spokesperson.

Several members literally wore their hearts on their sleeves for the Most Hearts Contest. Winners of that competition were Margaret Guthrie and Joanne Lambert. Another member won a basket full of new towels and wash cloths.

In keeping with Heart Month, Elizabeth Shifflett presented a slide presentation on heart disease.

Several members won awards in February for weight loss. The Weekly Best Losers were Amy Rotruck, Missy Cosner, and Wilda Cox. The Monthly Best Loser was Missy Cosner. Charms were earned by Tammy Rinker for 30 lbs. lost, Margaret Guthrie for losing halfway to goal, and Mystery Member for 10 lbs. lost. Juanita Cosner and a mystery member earned six-week consecutive loss certificates.

The chapter welcomed five new members which brings the membership to 30. TOPS invites persons with weight problems to visit the group on Wednesdays at 5:30 p.m. at the United Methodist Church in Bayard, W. Va. For more details, interested persons may contact Edna McDaniel, leader, at 693-7396.

weekend in Springfield, Va., where they visited with Alan and Mary Teets.

Alveta Edwards has returned to her Aurora home from a lengthy visit in Arizona with her daughters, Joyce Thomas and Carolyn Conley and their families, and in Hagerstown with her daughter-in-law, Judy Edwards.

Danny and Judy Adams of Aurora have returned to their home after visiting at Disney World in Florida and taking a cruise to the Bahamas.

Jack and Doris Adams of Aurora returned Thursday evening to find the results of the storm that day. They had spent two weeks at Port Charlotte, Fla., with Doris's sister.

Noticing that Preston County assumes there was no damage in the Aurora-Eglon-Horse Shoe Run areas because no one called Emergency Services (911), this writer would like to state that the area did not escape unscathed. There was also power outage here due to the many uprooted and de-limited trees, many without power from early Thursday morning until Friday afternoon or evening. There was also damage to buildings, both from wind and from falling trees.

Edward Moon was returned to the Garrett County Memorial Hospital from Cumberland Memorial Hospital last Thursday and remains a patient there. His condition has not improved.

Ducks Unlimited Chapter To Hold Dinner, Auction

Ducks, geese and over 500 other species of wildlife will benefit from a prime rib membership dinner and exclusive auction, to be held by the South Branch Valley Chapter of Ducks Unlimited on Saturday, April 3, 6 p.m. at the Fire Hall in Romney, W. Va.

Proceeds from the event will be used by Ducks Unlimited, an international non-profit organization dedicated to protecting and improving habitat for all waterfowl throughout North America. The organization, formed in 1937, has contributed to the conservation of over 5.5 million acres of prime wildlife habitat in all 50 states, each of the Canadian provinces and in key areas of Mexico. Ducks Unlimited spends a greater percentage of each dollar raised on habitat improvement and purchase than any other environmental group in the nation, according to a spokesman for the organization.

"The event is a great way to renew your membership or join Ducks Unlimited for the first time," says local DU Chairman Rick Rogers. "For a fraction of the cost it would be elsewhere, couples can enjoy a leisurely cocktail hour and catered prime rib dinner, then take part in a fun auction filled with exclusive wildlife prints, carved decoys, limited edition guns, and lots of other fine items."

Roger said Auctioneer Mike Curran is donating his time and calling for the fourth year.

Ticket prices include a one-year membership to the international Ducks Unlimited organization, as well as a one year subscription to DU's magazine, the cocktail hour, dinner, and auction. Tickets are $55 couple and $40 single, and are on sale now. Persons may call 822-5909 or 856-3411.

Allegheny Wood Products, Inc.

Allegheny Wood Products has been operating in Preston County for less than a year, but a review of their efforts thus far reveals a significant impact on the local economy.

The company sawed their first logs in Preston County in June 1992, but the company has actually been operating in other parts of West Virginia for 20 years.

The birth of Allegheny Wood Products, Inc. began with the purchase of its first sawmill in 1973, located in Riverton, W. Va. Soon after, a second mill was purchased at Mt. Storm, W. Va., and a third at Bayard, W. Va. Today, their holdings also include a dry kiln facility, built in Petersburg, W. Va. This site receives lumber from the mills where it is kiln dried, adding much value to the product. The company's main headquarters are also located there. Their latest substantial and successful acquisition, was the purchase of the assets of Inter-State Lumber Company, in Kingwood, W. Va.

This deal was a very important step for AWP, as it included six dry kilns, as well as a modern left- and right-hand mill with multiple resaws. Also purchased at that same time was a facility at Hazelton, W. Va. that houses another eight dry kiln units.

The addition of these holdings brings the total working sawmills to four, with a 2,000,000 board feet of drying capacity.

Another significant part of last year's acquisition was the signing of a non-competition agreement by Donald and Edward Frazee of Inter-State Lumber Company. This agreement prohibits Inter-State Lumber and

Interstate Hardwoods, from buying, selling, or manufacturing standing timber, logs, or lumber within 100 miles of the Kingwood and the Hazelton operations. This legally eliminated Inter-State as a source of competition and allows Allegheny to establish its name in the Preston County area.

Ron Stemple is the manager of the Kingwood Mill, where approximately 50 workers are involved in the manufacturing of the lumber. The mill operates on a 48-hour week and produces nearly 7,500 board feet of lumber in one 10-hour shift.

Stemple stressed there are many important contributors to a successful logging operation, starting with the procurement of foresters and logging crews who produce a high quality log. "Without their efforts, the mill would not be able to manufacture the high quality lumber that is the trademark of the company worldwide," Stemple said.

The Hazelton operation, managed by John Beer-bower, is situated along Interstate 68 and employs 25 people.

The types of lumber being produced include yellow poplar, red oak, white oak, maple and cherry. The logs are sawn into various thicknesses, graded and then dried at both sites, but Hazelton serves as the distribution point once the lumber has been dried and prepared for shipment.

Three professional foresters serve Allegheny Wood Products in the Preston County area. They are all committed to serving the community and providing successful management for the areas abundant resource base.

Kelly Riddle's position includes all land management and timber procurement. As land manager, he is responsible for the forest management of approximately 33,000 acres, as well as making sure taxes are paid and hunting leases, coal, oil and gas leases are handled properly.

Timber procurement includes contacting and purchasing timber from private landowners, as well as involving these individuals in long-term management of their timberland.

According to Riddle, the forests are our most readily renewable resource. If properly managed, certain tracts of land are capable of producing a merchantable crop of trees on a 10 to 20-year interval.

"At AWP, we strive to utilize the most up-to-date sound forest management techniques to assure ourselves of a long-term quality timber resource on our company lands, as well as on private timber lands," Riddle said. He added that the company's foresters are always interested in purchasing timber and are

HABITAT BUILDS YET ANOTHER - The Garrett County Habitat for Humanity dedicated its 33rd house late last month, which is located in Mountain Lake Park and was purchased by Dan and Patsy Gagliardi. The Gagliardis completed 300 hours of "sweaty equity" before construction was begun, according to a Habitat spokesperson. The couple and their daughters Karen and Patsy are pictured above, and their new home is shown below. A dedication ceremony was held Feb. 27, with Duane Yoder welcoming all to the event and the Rev. Martin Feld reading scripture. Don Little, chairperson of the building committee, presented the family with the symbolic hammer and the keys to the home, and Ida Maust, chair of the Family Ministry committee, gave the Gagliardis a Bible. Habitat for Humanity is a Christian ministry with the purpose of providing affordable shelter for low-income persons. Habitat is a private, tax-exempt, non-profit corporation that accepts no government money. The homes are built with volunteer labor and are sold to qualified families who make 15-30 year, no-interest mortgage payments. The idea was inspired by the Bible scripture of Exodus 22:25, which reads "If you lend money to any of my people who are poor, do not act like a moneylender and require him to pay interest." Tax-deductible contributions to the Garrett County Habitat for Humanity may be mailed to P.O. Box 363, Oakland, MD 21550. This year marks the county's organization's 10th year, a spokesperson said.

Habitat Volunteers Replace Ceiling At Crellin Home

Ten students and a priest from Loyola College, Baltimore, visited Garrett County last week for "spring break," a spokesperson said, not to ski, but to establish a week-long Habitat for Humanity workcamp in Crellin.

The volunteers tore out a water-damaged ceiling and replaced it with drywall at a home in Crellin. Despite the adverse weather, the job was completed, the spokesperson said. The family and Garrett County Habitat for Humanity expressed gratitude to the group for their labor and dedication.

This is the third year Loyola has established a workcamp in Garrett County. Meg Grigolonis was the coordinator for this year's group.

watery, but becomes grossly bloody. Occasionally vomiting occurs. Fever is either low grade or absent. The illness is self-limited and lasts for an average of eight days.

History of recent outbreaks in the United States and Canada with E. Coli 1982 - three outbreaks occurred, with two associated with hamburgers from a fast food chain, and the third occurred in a home for the aged where 19 persons died; 1984 - two large outbreaks occurred; 1985 - one large outbreak occurred; and 1986 - three large outbreaks occurred.

Hemorrhagic colitis infections (bloody stools) are not common as a foodborne illness, however cases could go unreported because of a lack of investigation as to the source of infection. In the Pacific Northwest, E. Coli is thought to be second only to Salmonella as a cause of bacterial diarrhea, according to a health department spokesperson.

Controlling E. Coli In Hamburgers

Beef should be slaughtered in a fashion that will not contaminate the meat, the spokesperson advised. Should the meat become contaminated before being ground for hamburger, the grinding process will mix the contamination throughout the hamburger.

All types of meat support the growth of bacteria. Therefore, all meat should be held under refrigeration at a temperature of 45° F. or less. This will slow down the growth of any bacteria that may be present. During the grinding process, hamburger should remain below 45° F. also.

Samples of ground beef collected at retail stores have shown that about 3% of the samples were contaminated with E. Coli of a type that will cause food illness. Therefore, it is necessary to kill these bacteria during the cooking of the hamburger. To kill the E. Coli bacteria, the ground beef patty must be heated to 155°. This renders the patty "well-done" (no pink). Covering the patty with a lid will aid in reaching the 155° temperature.

To determine if the patty has reached the proper temperature, a thermocouple wire would be the best instrument to use. Metal stem thermometers are difficult to use for this purpose because of the thin mass of the patty. During routine inspections of restaurants in Garrett County, the health department will be evaluating cooking temperatures for hamburgers, crab cakes, and similar items.

These guidelines on cooking temperatures do not apply to steaks and roasts, as muscle tissue from healthy animal is considered to be sterile. Therefore, only the outside of intact pieces of meat need to reach 155° F to kill the E. Coli bacteria.

"The bottom line is, do not eat rare hamburger," the spokesperson said. "If you are served hamburger that has a pink center at a food service facility, return the burger for additional cooking. If you are preparing hamburger at your home kitchen, break apart a patty and check for pink color. If the center meat is still pink, additional cooking is needed."

For additional information, persons may call the environmental health section of the Garrett County Health Department at 334-8980.

New Pavilion Rental Program Begins In Western Md. Parks

Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) Secretary Torrey C. Brown, MD, announced that the State Forest and Park Service in Western Maryland will pilot the "Never-Ending Reservation System," a new pavilion rental method, beginning March 15. All DNR state forests and parks in Western Maryland - Frederick County to Garrett County - will take reservations one year in advance for pavilion use. For example, if persons rent a pavilion on July 2, 1993, on that day they may reserve that pavilion for July 2, 1994.

"People like the security of having reservations," Governor William Donald Schaefer said. "This system should reduce that long waiting lines and the massive number of phone calls that parks and forests receive each Jan. 1."

"We realized that many people were inconvenienced by having to wait for Jan. 1 to make their pavilion reservations, therefore we will pilot this Never-Ending Reservation System in Western Maryland," Brown said. "If this is successful, the idea will be implemented across the state of Maryland in all state forests and parks."

For more information concerning any of the parks and forests in Western Maryland, persons may call them at the following numbers: Cunningham Falls, 271-7574; South Mountain, 791-4767; Fort Frederick, 842-2155; Green Ridge, 777-2345; Rocky Gap, 777-2139; New Germany, 895-5453; Savage River, 895-5453; Potomac/Garrett, 334-2038; Deep Creek Lake, 387-4111; Herrington Manor, 334-9180; and Swallow Falls, 334-9180.

Bus Inspection Schedule Noted

Bus inspections have been scheduled for March 30-31 and April 1-2 for all busses serving the Garrett County school system, according to Clark A. Sharpless, director of student transportation for the Board of Education.

Sharpless said inspections will be held from 8:30 to 10 a.m. on Tuesday, Mar. 30, at Northern High School, Wednesday and Thursday, Mar. 31 and April 1, at Southern High School, and Friday, April 2, at Grantsville Elementary School. Each bus has been assigned a specific time and location.

Sharpless warned drivers bus contractors that discovery of major problems involving steering, brakes, exhaust system, tires, king pins, and the like will result in the suspension of license plates.

Maple Syrup Demo Set At State Parks

A demonstration of the boiling of sap to create maple syrup will be held Saturday, March 13, at Swallow Falls and Sunday, March 14, at Herrington Manor State parks.

Information and a maple syrup movie will be available free of charge and maple syrup products will be offered for sale from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. both days. On Sunday, from 8:30 a.m. to 2 p.m., an all-you-can-eat breakfast will be served at the Herrington Manor Concession. Pancakes, maple syrup, sausage, coffee, tea and orange juice will be served. Costs are adults, $5, and children under 12, $1.

For more information, persons may call Herrington Manor State Park at (301) 334-9180.

After Prom Party Meeting Monday

The next meeting to continue making plans for the Southern High School After Prom Party will be held Monday, Mar. 15, at Southern High School, beginning at 7 p.m. A video of last year's party will be shown at 6:30 p.m. All parents, students, and other citizens interested in assisting with the 1993 party are encouraged by Chuck Harkins and Lisa Bender to attend.

On Dean's List

Joy McCain, Oakland, has been named to the dean's list for the fall '93 term at Chatham College in Shady-side, Pa.

A student must attain a grade point average of at least 3.5 in order to earn dean's list status.

McCain is the daughter of Asa and Marilyn McCain and is a 1990 graduate of Southern High School.

Rich orange flavor enhances chicken. Sizzle crumb-coated chicken breast halves in a little oil until browned, remove to plate and keep warm. Deglaze pan with 1/4 cup Grand Marnier, then add 1/4 cup orange marmalade and dashes of lemon juice, Worcestershire and Dijon mustard.

Right after draining pasta, add a little parmesan cheese. It gives the pasta texture that the sauce can cling to.

Write a "message" on your cake with chocolate. Melt chocolate according to package direction, then spoon it into a plastic sandwich bag. Close the bag and snip off the edge of one corner (no more than 1/8 inch). Gently squeeze out a drizzle of chocolate to write.

Stew meat must be dried well before putting it into hot fat to brown, or it won't sear.

Magic in the microwave: make a no-shell, hard-cooked egg for salad. Break an egg into a custard cup, puncture the yolk and cover with vented plastic wrap. Zap on medium for 2 minutes.

Magic in our kitchen: that's how our chef turns top-quality food into your favorite dishes.

The next meeting will be held Thursday, March 11, at 6:30 p.m. at Yough Valley Restaurant.

Northern High Students Attend NASC Conference

Wrenny Smith, Sarah Bosley, and Stephanie Shaulis, students at Northern High School, are three of the 500 Student Council leaders and faculty advisers who attended the 1st NASC Area Conference, February 26-28 in Fairmont, W. Va.

With a theme, "Interstate Networks for Leadership," the conference program presented workshop sessions on leadership skills, effective student projects, and student activity program development while promoting the culture and heritage of the Appalachian region. Featured at the conference were a presentation by Olympic Gold Medalist Mary Lou Retton and noted keynote speaker Harvey Alston. Delegates from the area discussed social, educational, and political issues and took part in interstate exchanges of ideas throughout the weekend.

Wrenny Smith, a sophomore, is the daughter of Rob and Cheryl Smith, Friendsville, and Polly Woods, Rochester, N.Y. Sarah Bosley, also a sophomore, is the daughter of Chuck and Linda Overton, Friendsville, and Clay Bosley, Hagerstown. Stephanie Shaulis, a junior, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Shaulis, Grantsville.

The group was chaperoned by Mrs. Carol Shaulis, advisor of Garrett County Association of Student Councils.

N.A.S.C. is sponsored by the National Association of Secondary School Principals (NASPP), a 43,000-member professional educational association based in Reston, Va.

SWAN MEADOW STUDENTS VISIT HICKORY - Swan Meadow School students recently participated in an extended academic adventure at the Hickory Environmental Center. This unprecedented overnight activity was recommended by the School Improvement Team to provide all students in grades one through eight with the opportunity for practical application of science concepts. Orval Teets is pictured above as he gives the students tips on trapping. Other activities included nature lessons taught by Joe Winters and Sharon Hoover, Hickory staff members; the reproducing of animal tracks by plaster casting directed by Linda Fleming, school principal; and various activities involving the observance of nature conducted by school staff members Jeneane Tice, Elizabeth Gilbert, and Karen Scheermesser. Other activities included a presentation on reptiles by Jim Willets, a Department of Natural Resources video tape on the river otter, and an art lesson utilizing nature objects by Sharon DiGirola, a tour of the trout rearing station, and an evening campfire under the direction of Ross Giotfelly of the Friendsville School. Volunteers who served as counselors were Steven Petersheim, Matthew Petersheim, Heidi Yoder, and Delliha Miller.

"Grow Don't Mow" Campaign Saves Nearly $400,000

Governor William Donald Schaefer announced that Maryland saved nearly $400,000 in 1992 thanks to a more than 3,000-acre reduction in acres mowed statewide by the Maryland State Highway Administration (SHA).

"The State Highway Administration's Grow Don't Mow campaign has significantly minimized the amount of acres mowed in Maryland. The end result is a healthier environment and significant cost savings," said Governor William Donald Schaefer.

According to Maryland Department of Transportation (MDOT) O. James Lighthizer, "Grow Don't Mow" is part of MDOT's continuing efforts to be environmentally responsible. It is simply the right thing to do to keep our highways and byways beautiful and safe.

The Grow Don't Mow program reduces the amount of mowable acres in Maryland

SHA maintenance crews determine which areas along state roads require mowing for improved driver visibility and which can be replanted or allowed to return to a natural forest state.

"In 1992, our field offices reduced the number of acres to be mowed from 20,017 to 16,872 acres. That's 3,145 acres less we have to mow. And mowed five times a year, that means a lot of time and money saved," said SHA Administrator Hal Kassoff.

According to Kassoff, the Grow Don't Mow program was created in 1991 when SHA and Department of Natural Resources (DNR) representatives met to discuss proper mowing standards.

Hire The Older Worker Week Set For Next Week

Governor William Donald Schaefer has proclaimed March 14-20 as "Hire The Older Worker Week" in Maryland.

This observance marks the 34th anniversary of the national effort to recognize older persons as qualified employees, and to encourage employers in the public and private sector to "hire the older worker." In fact, employment records of most older workers demonstrate positive job-related characteristics that many employers value, such as stability, punctuality, dependability and productivity.

"There are many persons in Maryland, age 55 and over, who wish to join or rejoin the workforce," said Governor Schaefer. "Some older people seek employment to prevent financial need or social isolation, while others are motivated by their desire to remain in the mainstream of community life through part-time or full-time employment."

To promote the observance of "Hire The Older Worker Week," the Maryland Office on Aging is working with Area Agencies on Aging, Senior Centers and private industries throughout the State to host activities that extol the virtues of Maryland's senior employees.

In recognition of "Hire The Older Worker Week," Garrett County Area Agency on Aging is sponsoring an Older Workers' Luncheon and Awards Ceremony on Friday, March 19, for Garrett County Community Action Committee Inc. for older staff members. This event will be held from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. at the Flowery Vale Senior Center in Accident.

"We encourage all Maryland employers in the public and private sector, including all departments of state, county and local governments, as well, to remember that hiring the older worker is a good business decision," said Rosalie S. Abrams, director of the Maryland Office on Aging.

Employers interested in knowing more about hiring older workers in Maryland may call the Maryland Office on Aging, (410) 225-1095, or contact the Garrett County Area Agency on Aging, at 334-5856.

NAZARENE

"It's a Dog's Life!"

What self-respecting canine would stand still ... I mean sit still ... for this? My master had better get a move on before I leap out of this washtub and give him a shower! If this gets out, I'll be the laughing stock of the neighborhood. Oh well, patience is a virtue. He is good to me, but what did I do to deserve this? It's a dog's life!"

There are those times that we endure through our faith in God. We may feel undeserving of our plight, yet accept it as necessary for our spiritual development. Trusting our Master to have a purpose for every situation, we know that He is always with us.

This Sabbath, may we thank God for His faithfulness to us. His children, and resolve to begin each day with a prayer of trust ... "Thy will be done."

night. He comes as a Pharisee, a representative of the old order which Jesus seems to want to supersede. According to that old legalistic order, the kingdom of God is entered by moral achievement based upon faithfully keeping the law.

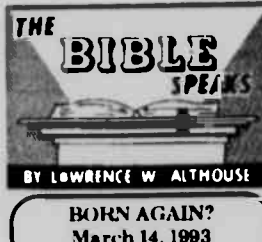

But Jesus makes it clear that the new order is dependent, not upon moral achievement, but God's grace: "...unless one is born anew, he cannot see the kingdom of God" (3:3). A variant reading, the Jerusalem Bible and a footnote of the RSV, says "born from above," while the King James version says "born again." It really doesn't matter, for the intent is to say that one must be transformed, not our own efforts, but by God. What Jesus is lifting up for Nicodemus here is not a formula but a spiritual reality.

So, how does Nicodemus respond? Immediately he looks for a formula, a system, a ritual: "How can a man be born when he is old? Can he enter a second time into his mother's womb and be born?" (3:4). If Jesus will just tell him the right way to do this, he can package it, make it a rule or ironclad procedure for all Israel.

WHERE IT WILL
Jesus responds by explaining that spiritual rebirth is not something to systematize or ritualize. "The wind blows where it wills, and you hear the sound of it, but you do not know whence it comes or whither it goes: so it is with everyone born of the Spirit" (3:8). We cannot capture or detain the Spirit. Nor can we regulate it.

Note what Jesus does NOT say about spiritual rebirth. He does not put a stopwatch or calendar on it. He does not say that it carries a lifetime guarantee. He does not suggest that rebirth is so much an event as it is a continuing condition and reality.

Spiritual rebirth is not just for some people, some time, but for all of us, all the time. It will take place whenever we open ourselves to God's renewing grace. And when it does, we will be humble, not proud.

BORN AGAIN?

March 14, 1993

Background Scripture:

John 3:1-21.

Devotional Reading:

John 3:22-36.

There is hardly any human experience that cannot be trivialized by human systematization. While rituals are important and valid for human life, there is always the danger of reducing experience to a ritual or formula.

Particularly in the realm of the spirit. While it is understandable that we should want to hold on to and repeat our spiritual highs, it is arrogant and even blasphemous for us to assume that we can write rules and specifications for them. In a sense, it is telling God that he must do it "this way" and no other. God intends for us to experience these things, not to package and merchandise them.

We need to keep that in mind when we approach the matter of being "born again." Few human experiences have ever been so systematized that the encounter between Jesus and Nicodemus. It is ironic that this experience of regeneration should serve to divide so many Christians. Some wear it proudly as a badge of their spiritual superiority. Others shun it because of their discomfort with those who have advertised themselves as "born again."

The problem is not with being "born again," but what people try to make of that experience.

THE OLD ORDER

The story of Jesus and Nicodemus in John 3:1-21 is a good example of the kind of attitude that can spoil rather than enhance the experience. Nicodemus, a member of the supreme council of the sanhedrin, comes to Jesus at night. He comes as a Pharisee, a representative of the old order which Jesus seems to want to supersede. According to that old legalistic order, the kingdom of God is entered by moral achievement based upon faithfully keeping the law.

But Jesus makes it clear that the new order is dependent, not upon moral achievement, but God's grace: "...unless one is born anew, he cannot see the kingdom of God" (3:3). A variant reading, the Jerusalem Bible and a footnote of the RSV, says "born from above," while the King James version says "born again." It really doesn't matter, for the intent is to say that one must be transformed, not our own efforts, but by God. What Jesus is lifting up for Nicodemus here is not a formula but a spiritual reality.

So, how does Nicodemus respond? Immediately he looks for a formula, a system, a ritual: "How can a man be born when he is old? Can he enter a second time into his mother's womb and be born?" (3:4). If Jesus will just tell him the right way to do this, he can package it, make it a rule or ironclad procedure for all Israel.

WHERE IT WILL
Jesus responds by explaining that spiritual rebirth is not something to systematize or ritualize. "The wind blows where it wills, and you hear the sound of it, but you do not know whence it comes or whither it goes: so it is with everyone born of the Spirit" (3:8). We cannot capture or detain the Spirit. Nor can we regulate it.

Note what Jesus does NOT say about spiritual rebirth. He does not put a stopwatch or calendar on it. He does not say that it carries a lifetime guarantee. He does not suggest that rebirth is so much an event as it is a continuing condition and reality.

Spiritual rebirth is not just for some people, some time, but for all of us, all the time. It will take place whenever we open ourselves to God's renewing grace. And when it does, we will be humble, not proud.

COVER STORY

Connie Ray talks about being 'sitcommed up'

BY LYNN HOOGENBOOM

Last season, Connie Ray was starring in NBC's "The Torkelsons" as Millicent Torkelson, a single mother of five from Oklahoma who had her hands full keeping the creditors at bay and trying not to

This season, Ray is starring in NBC's "Almost Home" (airing Saturdays) as Millicent Torkelson, a single mother of three who has moved her family from Oklahoma to Seattle, where she has her hands full serving as a live-in nanny to the two spoiled teenage children of a wealthy widower (Perry King) and trying to remain understanding when her no-longer-so-sensitive daughter Dorothy Jane (Burnette) attempts to disassociate herself from her Oklahoma roots.

Ray has mixed feelings about the changes.

"They rewrote us to suit demographics, let's be honest," she says. "They wanted to bring in a more urban audience, and they wanted to bring in guys. So when you're rewritten for a demographic, it makes it a little more sterile, and they sitcommed us up. Now, that's a bad thing if you go with the sitcom stereotype. But in a way it's also a good thing because there's more energy to it, and we're not all depressed all the time."

Many of the changes, she emphasizes, have been positive. "I think, honestly, 'The Torkelsons' started telling the same story over and over," Ray says. "And with this new setup, we have more of a chance for conflict. I get a grown-up to talk to, which I'm so thankful for. Perry King. Sometimes we get adult-oriented stories. And I don't cry all the time, which is really nice."

It is even likely that a romance of some sort will eventually develop between Ray's character and Perry King's. "Of course," she says. "It's TV. And luckily his wife is dead, like all TV wives are. Actually, I told Perry you could tell how we were doing in the ratings by how soon they had us fall in love. If we start falling in love real quick, we are doomed, doomed, doomed. But so far we're just looking at each other sideways."

Ray is also a playwright. Her "Smoke on the Mountain," a bluegrass gospel musical, is touring nationally, and she is interested in writing for TV as well. "It's a different animal out here, so I'm going to try to crack that nut too," she says. "Being female and being deep into my 30s, you have to look to the future. When you look at the breakdown, I notice in L.A., there were 70,000 actors out here, there were 50,000 jobs last year, and only 16,000 went to women."

Perry King, Olivia Burnette and Connie Ray (l. to r.) star in "Almost Home." The situation comedy, which is a revamped version of "The Torkelsons," airs Saturdays on NBC.

TV DIALOGUE

BY TONI REINHOLD

POPULAR CLINT—When actors have been as popular as Clint Eastwood is, their roots are somehow forgotten. Can you tell me where he's from, how old he is and any other background information? M.E., Benton City, Wash.

Clint Eastwood

Eastwood has scored the hat trick in this year's Oscar nominations. His Unforgiven is up for Best Picture and Eastwood is a nominee in the Best Actor and Best Director categories. Eastwood, who is 62, was born in San Francisco. After high school, Eastwood worked at such jobs as logger and gas-station attendant before heading for Hollywood, where he acted in bit roles in such movies as 1955's "Revenge of the Creature" and "Francis in the Navy." His first big break came when he landed the role of Rowdy Yates in the 1959-66 Western TV series "Rawhide." But an even bigger break came with his stardom in Italian director Sergio Leone's spaghetti Western films of the 60s: "A Fistful of Dollars" (1964), "For a Few Dollars More" (1965) and "The Good, the Bad and the Ugly" (1967). And after Eastwood starred as a renegade San Francisco cop in "Dirty Harry" (1971), there was no stopping his career.

KLEMPERER OF COLOGNE—What part of Austria is Werner Klemperer from? A.P., Stockton, Calif.

Klemperer, who played Col. Klink on "Hogan's Heroes" from 1965-71, is not from Austria, but Cologne, Germany. He was born in 1920 and is the son of famed symphony conductor Otto Klemperer. They fled their homeland for America after the Nazis came to power in 1933.

BI-SY-BEE—What can you tell me about the theme song for the old series "The Green Hornet"? I remember hanging onto every note of that song as I watched the show when I was a youngster. —K.M., Boston.

The theme of this 1966-67 adventure series was taken from "Flight of the Bumble Bee" by the Russian classical composer Rimsky-Korsakov. It was performed by jazz trumpeter Al Hirt.

UNFORGETTABLE COLE—Where was Nat "King" Cole from, and when did he die? H.W., Manchester, N.H.

Cole, who was one of the most popular recording artists of the 1950s, was born in Montgomery, Ala., on March 17, 1919 (some sources cite 1917). He died Feb. 15, 1965.

MOVIES ON TV

Berenger, Winger star in uneven thriller

BY FELICIA A. FEASTER

Director Costa-Gavras, well known for such political movies as "Missing" and "Z," explored the underbelly of American big-city life in the white supremacy movement in "Betrayed" (Fox, March 15), a 1988 fiction film suggested by the real-life murder of a controversial Jewish radio personality. This uneven thriller-love story is certainly not Costa-Gavras' best work, though the subject is intriguing, with Debra Winger playing an FBI agent looking for some cornfed racists and falling in love with sensitive Tom Berenger.

"The Movie Channel continues its Academy Award salute with 'Haging Bull' (March 14), perhaps Robert De Niro's best picture in a long collaborative career with director Martin Scorsese; it garnered him a Best Actor Award in 1980. Next, six Academy Award-winning pictures: the 1936 musical bio-pic 'The Great Ziegfeld' (March 15); 'Mutiny on the Bataan' with Charles Laughton and Clark Gable (March 16); 'Casablanca' (March 17); 'The Apartment' (March 18); 'West Side Story' (March 19); and 'In the Heat of the Night' (March 20).

• "Rebel Without a Cause" (March 14), the watershed rebellious youth film that spawned a legion of derivative, sulky adolescents and defined the career of James Dean, airs on A&E. Natalie Wood and Sal Mineo also star in the 1955 drama.

• A stuffy intellectual (Joanne Woodward) on a research trip to London meets a gruff Oklahoman (Brian Dennehy) who, to her epitomizes the Igly American abroad, but he manages to convince her of his many charms in the TNT original movie, "Foreign Affairs" (March 17). Woodward and Dennehy should be forced to marry for the adorable cinematic chemistry they suggest so effortlessly.

• Lynda Carter and Patrick Duffy are well-equipped for roles as super-people, parents and lovers in NBC's rebracketed of Danielle Steel's "Daddy" (March 19), about a father who singlehandedly raises a family and falls in love with a TV star.

• "Rush" (Showtime, March 20), the gripping, intense story of two undercover cops in 1970s Texas tailing a redneck drug kingpin while becoming dangerously immersed in their seamy assignment, delivers the goods. Southern rocker Gregg Allman, an actor of few words but awesome physical presence, has an interesting small part as the slippery drug lord. Jennifer Jason Leigh and Jason Patric also star.

SPORTS CALENDAR

Pairings announced: Paring down begins

BY CHRISTOPHER HULL

And then there were 64. But even among them, there are but a select few who have a realistic shot to win it all at the NCAA Division I men's basketball tournament, which begins this week.

CBS, which has exclusive coverage of March Madness, as the annual rite of spring has come to be known, airs the tournament selection announcement Sunday, March 14, live from Kansas City. Mo James Brown will be on site, and Jim Nantz, Billy Packer and Bill Raftery will provide analysis in New York City. Play begins Thursday.

This is the third straight year that CBS will carry every one of the tournament's 63 games, though every game will not be seen nationally.

First round games will be played Thursday, March 18, in Winston-Salem, N.C.; Orlando, Fla.; Chicago; and Salt Lake City; and Friday, March 19, in Syracuse, N.Y.; Nashville, Tenn.; Indianapolis; and Tucson, Ariz. Thursday's winners play their second-round games Saturday, March 20, and Friday's winners play Sunday, March 21.

A lot will happen between this Thursday and the tournament championship game April 5 at the Superdome in New Orleans. The single-elimination format ensures it. But here's a look at a few of the teams that stand a good chance of going 5-0 in the tournament.

Michigan: The Fab Five freshmen were last year's sensation, making it all the way to the NCAA final before bowing to Duke. This year's Super Sophs need only to find a killer instinct to win it all.

Indiana: Disciplinarian Bob Knight has gotten the most out of his Hoosiers this year, and senior forward Calbert Cheaney has emerged as one of the top players in the college game.

Kentucky: For most of the season, the Bluegrass state's Wildcats have been in someone's shadow—first Duke, later Indiana—but near the top of the national rankings. They're likely to receive a No. 1 seed in one of the regions Sunday.

Arizona: As expected, the Grand Canyon State's Wildcats have proven themselves to be the best in the West. But few figured them to be among the top five or so in the nation.

Duke: Winners of two national championships in a row, the Blue Devils seemed to be running on adrenaline at the beginning of the year, but the loss of Christian Laettner has become apparent as the season has worn on. Still, with Bobby Hurley on the floor, three straight is attainable.

SOAP SCOOP

On 'ATWT,' Byrne is prepared to shine anew

BY CONNIE PASSALACQUA

Proving that just about anything is possible in the soap world, Martha Byrne, the Daytime Emmy-winning actress who played ingenue supreme Lily Walsh Snyder on "As the World Turns" in the mid- and late-'80s, will return to the role in April.

Martha Byrne

Byrne, a New Jersey native, began playing the role in 1985 as a young teen-ager and blossomed before the audience's eyes as Lily went through the usual array of nice-teen-girls-through-hell story lines. Refreshingly, however, Byrne was never shallow or cutesy. Her Lily had pith and pathos.

Byrne was evidently influenced by the gutsy, multilayered acting style of Elizabeth Hubbard, who continues to play Lily's adoptive mother, Lucinda Walsh.

After Jon Hensley (who played Lily's love interest, Holden Snyder) left the show in 1988, Byrne followed suit. She went to Hollywood, where she did some appearances on episodic TV. Byrne was replaced by the beautiful but tepid Heather Rattray, who played Lily until the conclusion of her contract last December. In the meantime, Hensley had returned to "ATWT," and his hunky but vapid character was vastly improved last summer, when head writer Douglas Marland had the character literally undergo brain surgery. It permanently took away Holden's memory but finally gave him a personality. Only on soaps!

In the story, Lily caught on to all the secrets everyone in town had kept from her and took off. When Byrne returns in April, Lily will have cut all ties with her evil mother, Lucinda, and will be divorced finally from the memoryless Holden. This will pave the way for another round of romance between Holden and Lily.

Most young soap romances don't last more than a year or two these days, either because the young actors leave soaps for the call of Hollywood, or because there is a change in head writers. The continuing story of Holden and Lily is something of a phenomenon in the soap world. Its miraculous endurance makes for a better story than the one on screen. It has lasted this long thanks to the enthusiasm of head writer Marland, who originated the story and whose "favorite child" it has always been.

The combination of Marland's proven storytelling talent, Byrne's new-found maturity and Holden's new-found brain should make for some very interesting summer soap opera. On soaps, anything is possible!

THIS WEEK

Faith Daniels

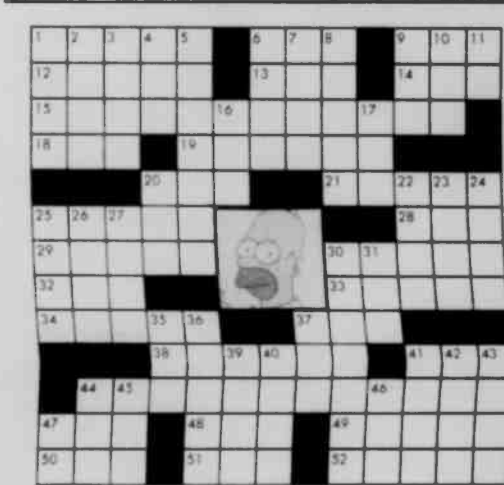

LOSING FAITH: Fans of Faith Daniels and her NBC daytime program will have to look fast. It will be leaving the schedule after the broadcast of Friday, March 19. But they can take heart in the fact that the reason for the show's cancellation is that Daniels will soon be anchoring a forthcoming NBC prime-time newsmagazine. • George Hearn guest stars on a rebroadcast episode of "Murder, She Wrote" Sunday, March 14, on CBS. • Epic: A new installment of the anthology series "Kurt Vonnegut's Monkey House" premieres Sunday, March 14, on cable's Showtime. • Ally Sheedy stars. • Evan and Fontana's baby is born on the "Evening Shade" airing Monday, March 15, on CBS. • Pat Carroll guest stars as a nurse in the episode. • On Wednesday, March 17, cable's Disney Channel premieres the first of three weekly specials airing under the umbrella title "Great Wonders of the World." The opener, "Wonders of Nature," focuses on such scenic sites as the Grand Canyon, Tanzania's Serengeti Plain and the Tibetan Himalayas. The remaining two installments will feature "Wonders of Man's Creation" and "Wonders Sacred and Mysterious."

IN FOCUS

"The Great Bears of Alaska," airing Monday, March 15, on The Discovery Channel, includes marvelous footage of Alaskan grizzlies as they build their body fat for winter with a diet of grasses, salmon and berries. The special follows a lean mother and her cubs as they emerge from their den and journey eating all the way to teaching salmon streams, where they encounter other voracious bears before seeking out a new winter den.

IN FOCUS

"Echo of the Elephants" follows Echo, an elephant matriarch residing in Kenya's Amboseli National Park, and her family over the course of one year. Shortly after filming began, Echo gave birth to Ely (pictured below his mother), who was born unable to straighten his front legs. Footage includes the extended efforts of Echo and Ely's older sister to help him walk. It airs Sunday, March 14, on PBS's "Nature" (Check local listings.)

Troop 82 Holds Annual Spring Court Of Honor

Troop 82, Accident, recently held its Spring Court of Honor at Zion Lutheran Church. Making the presentations for advancement and merit badges were Harold Hoecker, advancement chairman, and Bob Pike, committee chairman. Scouts receiving advancement ranks were Jason Patterson, David Higdon, and Sean Miller, Tenderfoot Rank; Jason Patterson, Second Class Rank; Jason Herman, Jeremy Reed, and Tim Williamson, Star Rank; and Lee Collins, Life Rank.

Many scouts also received merit badges. Scouts receiving the Citizenship in the Nation and Citizenship in the Community badges were Jason Herman, Lee Collins, Jason Reed and Tim Williamson. Receiving Personal Management badges were Jason Reed and Jeremy Reed. Aaron Miller and Sean Miller each received the Art and Fingerprinting merit badges. Tim Williamson also received Personal Fitness, Beekeeping, and HorsemanSHIP badges.

Since many of the troop members are planning to attend the National Jamboree at Fort A.P. Hill in August, Shawn Smith presented a program on some aspects of the Jamboree, which he had attended in 1985. Many souvenirs of his participation

Christian Women To Meet Mar. 17

The Christian Women's Club of Oakland will host a luncheon with the theme "Bearly Spring" on Wednesday, March 17, 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m., at the Will O' the Wisp Restaurant. The club invites all area women to attend.

The guest speaker will be Felix Gonzales, a businessman from Accident, who will also be sharing his musical talent.

The special feature will be presented by "Lil Bit of Country" from Deep Creek Lake.

For registration, persons should call Beverly Barb at 387-9112 no later than March 15. A free nursery is provided. The costs of the luncheon is $6.50 per person. All reservations must be honored.

School Zone Safety Handbook Released By State

Governor William Donald Schaefer and the Maryland State Highway Administration's (SHA) School Zone Safety Task Force have announced the distribution of a new handbook designed to help parent/teacher groups, school administrators, and other concerned citizens address school zone safety.

Recommended Safe Practices Within School Traffic Areas: Practical Safety Programs and a Guide for Finding the Right Resources has been produced for each of Maryland's 23 counties, providing details on how to tackle school zone safety issues relevant to each region.

"How do parents learn about their children's school safety rules? How can school administrators devise school area safety regulations and keep the community informed? Where can parents go to learn about safe walking routes for their kids? These are the kinds of questions this handbook addresses," said Schaefer.

The handbook examines such topics as school area signs and markings, defining bus stops and loading zones, cross walks and crossing guards, the use of bicycles and skateboards on school grounds, and other issues.

"As stated in the handbook, the SHA district engineer in each county will create a working committee to include members of the local school board, law enforcement community, PTA, state, county and town traffic engineers and others. The committee will address local transportation safety issues," said SHA Administrator Hal Kassoff.

The School Zone Safety Task Force was created in fall 1991 and includes SHA staff, Maryland Delegates Joan Cadden and Joan Pitkin, State Senator Leo E. Green, Carolyn Roeding of the Maryland Congress of Parents and Teachers, Inc. (MCPT), Corporal Mike Fischer of the Maryland State Police, as well as representatives of various county school systems.

"Marylanders are very concerned about the safety of school age children on our streets and highways. The task force is working diligently to promote consistency and uniformity in traffic controls and procedures across all levels of Maryland schools. This handbook is a prime example of this effort," the governor said.

In addition to the handbook, other projects of the task force include evaluating pedestrian crossings with high accident records, establishing improved communication between SHA and school officials, and implementing the safety programs developed by SHA on Maryland's road system. The task force meets bi-monthly to address school safety statewide.

"We are now planning to hold a spring workshop for educators, legislators, police, state highway, and other concerned parties to examine school zone safety issues," Kassoff said.

Tri-State Honor Band To Perform Mar. 13 At FSU

The Frostburg State University Department of Music will present the tenth annual Tri-State Honor Band in concert Saturday, March 13, at 7 p.m. in the Lane Center multi-use room. This year's guest conductor is Dr. Jared Spears, professor of music at Arkansas State University. The public is invited to attend this free performance.

Dr. Spears has composed over 200 original works for band, choir and orchestra, and has conducted band festivals, camps and clinics in the United States, Canada and Norway. Several of his compositions for band will be included in the program.

The Tri-State Honor Band (TSHB) comprises selected high school students from Pennsylvania, West Virginia, and Maryland, with many talented area students participating. TSHB is hosted by Dan Davis, FSU's director of bands.

Also performing will be the FSU Wind Ensemble, conducted by Davis, with featured marimba soloist Ronald Horner. Percussion instructor at FSU, Horner will perform the first movement of the "Concertina for Marimba and Band" by Paul Creston.

Food Lion Stores Sponsoring Benefit For Red Cross

President Bill Clinton has proclaimed the month of March as Red Cross Month, and Food Lion's 1,027 grocery stores in 14 states will be helping to raise funds for local Red Cross chapters using a coupon donation program. Food Lion will make it possible for customers to donate to the Red Cross at store check-out counters. Food Lion CEO Tom Smith states, "We at Food Lion are honored and excited to participate in fund-raising for the American Red Cross."

Food Lion will be implementing the program in all of its stores, making this the most extensive use of the donation method by any company. Throughout the month of March, Food Lion customers will find special $1 coupons at store check-out counters. Customers who want to donate to the Red Cross simply tear off a coupon and present it to the Food Lion cashier. The cashier then adds $1 to the shoppers final grocery total. Food Lion will present the Red Cross with a check for the total amount of donations received at the conclusion of the month-long campaign. The Red Cross will then distribute the funds among local Red Cross chapters. Tom Smith said, "This program is a continuation of our commitment to the American Red Cross and to the local communities in which Food Lion operates."

Half Of Maryland Income Taxpayers Might Forget Label

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein said that half of all taxpayers still working on their Maryland income tax returns will make a choice that can delay their state tax refund up to a week. "They'll make that choice when they decide whether or not to use the address label," he said.

The comptroller also noted that 1.7% of the returns processed by February 27th contained an error in figuring the local income tax, down from 2.5% nearly a month ago.

"That's an improvement but it's extremely important for taxpayers to be careful when figuring their local income tax," Goldstein said.

He reminded taxpayers to use the correct worksheet for their county in their Maryland tax booklet to help them figure their local income tax correctly.

About 700,000 out of an expected 2.2 million Maryland income tax returns have been filed so far, the comptroller noted. "We've also mailed out nearly 302,000 refund checks, averaging $352," he said.

Goldstein noted that, while not using the label is not an error, it will delay refund checks. If earlier trends persist, nearly 50% of the taxpayers who have yet to file their Maryland return will not affix the pre-printed address label to their state forms.

"That decision will delay processing and mailing of their state income tax refund by about one week," Goldstein said.

The comptroller said that the only time taxpayers should not use the address label is if it's incorrect. If the name, address or social security number information is incorrect, do not use the label.

"Most taxpayers receive their label with their Maryland tax booklet, while about

JERUSALEM RIDGE, a bluegrass gospel group from the Somerset, Pa., area, will be performing at the Glendale Assembly of God Church, located on the Glendale Road off U.S. Rt. 219 and Md. Rt. 495. The concert is set for Saturday, March 13, at 6 p.m. The group consists of Ken Scheffel, acoustic guitar and vocals; Gary Shaffer, banjo and vocals; Steve White, mandolin and vocals; Rick Pyle, bass fiddle and vocals; and Keith Nair, sound board. The group currently has two recordings on cassette tape, Prayer Bells of Heaven and Little Mountain Church House. Although the group has been together for about two years, they have all been involved with music most of their lives. "A finely tuned progressive style of music and high-performance harmony vocals are well received by all who attend their concerts," said a group spokesperson. The Rev. Paul Goldizen invites the public to attend.

Bands Invited To Compete For Rocky Gap Spot

Local country bands have an opportunity to earn a spot as one of three opening bands for the 1993 Rocky Gap Country/Bluegrass Music Festival.

The first annual Rocky Gap Talent Search will be held at the Cumberland Regional Airport on Saturday, May 22, with the top three bands winning the opening spots for the three-day event.

The top band, as rated by recording industry talent agents and nationally recognized country radio programmers, will also win a free demo recording session at Flight One Studios valued at $1,000.

The Talent Search is open to all country bands within a 100-mile radius of Cumberland. Each band interested in competing should send a demo tape, photo and name, address and phone number of a contact person to Rocky Gap Talent Search, P.O. Box 1993, Cumberland, MD 21502. Deadline for entries is April 9. Each entry will be judged, with the final eight competing at the May 22 event.

The Rocky Gap Talent Search is being co-sponsored by The Rocky Gap Country/Bluegrass Festival, the Potomac Highland Airport Authority, and WFRB-FM radio station. Tickets for the Talent Search will be available to the public by the middle of April. Advance tickets are $5 and tickets sold at the gate will be $7.50. Ticket outlets and availability will be announced in the near future.

Grant Received To Promote Seat Belt Use

Governor William Donald Schaefer has announced the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA) has awarded the State Highway Administration (SHA) a grant of $220,000 to promote the use of safety belts and motorcycle helmets.

Funding for the grant is one element of the Intermodal Surface Transportation Efficiency Act of 1991. Maryland received the grant due to its leadership in promoting highway safety and the existence of both seat belt and motorcycle laws.

"Our State Highway Administration has been a national leader in highway safety," Governor Schaefer said. "Educating the public about Maryland's safety belt, child safety seat, and motorcycle helmet use laws is a vital part of preventing fatalities, injuries and costs associated with vehicle accidents."

The grant will be incorporated into SHA's current highway safety plan and existing prevention and education program. "It is our goal to expand and enhance programs like Operation Buckle Down, survivor recognition and other highly successful safety initiatives," Transportation Secretary O. James Lighthizer said.

According to SHA Administrator Hal Kassoff, Maryland has an impressive 74 percent safety belt usage rate, one of the best in the country. "Although the figures are favorable, it still means that more than 25 percent of motorists are riding without the protection of safety belts," Kassoff said.

In the 1980s, traffic crashes in Maryland resulted in some 7,450 deaths and 800,000 injuries. Conservative estimates indicate that safety belt use could have saved at least 2,000 lives. "The grant money will enable us to increase our safety efforts and help save lives throughout the state," Kassoff said.

Along with educating Maryland citizens, SHA plans to provide safety training for law enforcement officers, metropolitan traffic reporters, businesses and local safety coordinators. SHA will also survey public attitude and knowledge on safety belt, helmet and child safety seat use.

"NHTSA is very proud of Maryland's traffic safety initiatives," said NHTSA Acting Administrator Howard Smolkin. "We are confident the entire state will benefit from these resources through improving the safety of the motoring public."

Bloodmobile To Visit Friendsville

The Garrett County Chapter of The American Red Cross Blood Services, Johnstown Region, has announced its next blood drive in Garrett County will be March 19, from noon to 6 p.m. at the Friendsville Fire Hall.

The blood drive is an ongoing effort to maintain the Johnstown Region's commitment to the blood and blood product needs of the patients in the 64 hospitals it serves in 40 counties.

"There is a continuous need for blood donors in order to meet the needs of area patients with cancer, leukemia, and other acute and chronic illnesses, as well as emergency blood needs of accident victims. The only source of blood is healthy people who come out to donate at their local blood drive," said Don Einolf, executive of the Garrett County Chapter.

Einolf continued to say that at the present time there is a need for all types of blood in local hospitals. He explained that, because of emergencies or other circumstances, hospitals often experience a shortage of a certain blood type, most frequently type O. A type O donor can give to any blood type recipient; however, a type O can only receive a type O blood.

The Garrett County Chapter is one of 43 chapters in the Johnstown Region that contribute to the region's collection goal of 600 units each week.

Celebrate ST. PATRICK'S DAY

Corned Beef and Orange Glazed Vegetables

Preparation time: 10 minutes
Cooking time: 2 hours and 35 minutes to 3 hours and 35 minutes

- 2-1/2 to 3-1/2-pound corned beef brisket
- 1/3 cup fresh orange juice
- 1/4 cup packed brown sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon cornstarch
- 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
- 1 teaspoon grated orange peel
- 1 pound carrots, cut diagonally into 1/2-inch pieces
- 1 medium onion, cut into 8 wedges

Place brisket in Dutch oven; add water to cover. Cover tightly and simmer 2-1/2 to 3-1/2 hours or until tender. Meanwhile combine orange juice, brown sugar and cornstarch in small saucepan. Bring to a boil; cook 2 minutes or until thickened, stirring occasionally. Remove from heat; stir in butter and orange peel. In medium saucepan, cook carrots in boiling water, uncovered, 10 minutes. Add onions and continue cooking 5 minutes or until vegetables are just tender. Drain; return to saucepan and set aside. Remove brisket from cooking liquid; trim excess fat. Place brisket, fat side up, on rack in broiler pan so surface of meat is 3 to 4 inches from heat. Brush 2 tablespoons of the orange mixture over top of brisket; broil 3 minutes or until brisket is glazed. Pour remaining orange mixture over reserved vegetables; cook over medium-high heat 1 to 2 minutes or until vegetables are glazed. Carve brisket diagonally across the grain into thin slices and serve with vegetables.

Note: A corned beef brisket will yield three 3-ounce cooked servings per pound.

Irish Soda Bread

Preparation time: 25 minutes
Cooking time: 35 to 40 minutes

- 4-1/2 cups all-purpose flour
- 1 tablespoon baking powder
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 cup butter or margarine
- 1 package (8-ounce) Dromedary Pitted Dates, snipped
- 2 eggs
- 1-1/2 cups buttermilk
- 1 egg white

Preheat oven to 375°F. In large bowl, combine flour, baking powder, soda and salt. With pastry blender or two knives, cut butter into flour mixture until crumbly. Stir in dates. Beat eggs slightly and mix into buttermilk, add to dry ingredients and stir until blended. Turn out onto lightly floured surface and knead until smooth, about 15 to 20 times. Divide dough into 2 equal pieces; shape each into round ball. Place on large greased baking sheet. Pat each into 6-inch diameter circle. With sharp knife, cut a cross, 1/2-inch deep, on top of each loaf. Lightly beat egg white; brush on loaves. Bake 35 to 40 minutes or until done. Cut into wedges to serve. 2 loaves.

Roast Beef, Potato and Pepper Hash

Preparation time: 20 minutes
Cooking time: 30 minutes

- 12 ounces cooked beef or corned beef, cut into 1/2-inch cubes
- 1 pound baking potatoes, peeled, cut into 1/2-inch cubes
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, divided
- 1 medium onion, coarsely chopped
- 1 cup chopped red, yellow or green bell pepper
- 1/4 cup whole milk or half-and-half
- 3 tablespoons chopped parsley
- 3 tablespoons dry white wine
- 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
- Salt and pepper, as desired

Bring water to a boil in large saucepan; add potatoes and salt. Return to a boil and cook 5 minutes; drain well. Melt 1 tablespoon butter in large heavy skillet over medium-high heat; add onion and pepper. Cook 2 minutes or until crisp-tender, stirring occasionally; remove to a large bowl. Add beef, potatoes, milk and parsley to onion mixture; mix lightly. Combine wine and mustard; add to beef mixture and mix well. Wipe out skillet with paper towel; place over medium heat until hot. Add remaining butter. Add beef mixture, pressing down firmly. Cook hash 15 minutes or until browned, turning with flat spatula several times. Season with salt and pepper to taste. 4 servings.

With a Taste O'Ireland

Put on a lucky shamrock and wear a bit 'o green to celebrate one of America's favorite holidays. It's St. Patrick's Day and you can enjoy the luck of the Irish even if you don't see a leprechaun. Simply prepare this easy, quick meal that finds its roots in the cuisine of the Emerald Isle.

A St. Patrick's Day menu featuring traditional Irish favorites like Corned Beef and Orange Glazed Vegetables or a succulent beef roast, and an updated version of Irish Soda Bread with the rich flavor of imported dates, is not only versatile and delicious, it's an ideal family meal as well. Add a green salad and steamed new potatoes, a "must" for at least one meal a day in Ireland, and you'll have a feast worthy of its Old Country heritage. Best of all, this menu offers advantages any practical Irishman would appreciate: leftover corned beef or roast beef are excellent the next day as hash, a salad or a sandwich for fast, convenient suppers and lunches. (If you have no leftovers, stop by your local deli to pick up just the right amount of corned beef or roast beef.)

Savory corned beef brisket is simple to prepare at home since it needs little attention while cooking. As any Irish grandmother would tell you, the secret for tender beef brisket is slow simmering, rather than boiling.

If you choose a beef roast as your entree, you'll enjoy the same delicious taste, convenience and easy preparation advantages. Once the roast is in the oven, it needs virtually no attention until you're ready to serve. A cook with free hands has more time to be with guests!

Complement your St. Patrick's Day feast with tasty Irish Soda Bread. The recipe featured here is an updated version of this classic bread from the Emerald Isle. Moist and flavorful, Irish Soda Bread relies on imported dates for its sweetness, rather than added sugar in the dough. Versatile enough to use in all baking recipes, dates are favored by cooks everywhere for their rich, exotic flavor and added bit of luxury... "something special."

The special flavor of dates also enlivens Date and Nut Scones. Fast and easy to make, these moist scones with rich date chunks are a pleasing breakfast or brunch treat, especially when paired with hearty Roast Beef, Potato and Pepper Hash.

With these delicious recipes, it's certain you'll be celebrating St. Patrick's Day and the good taste of the Irish more than once a year!

Roast Beef Salad with Chutney Dressing

Preparation time: 10 minutes
Cooking time: 8 to 10 minutes

- 12 ounces thinly sliced deli roast beef or cooked corned beef
- 3 slices bacon, cut crosswise into 1/2-inch pieces
- 1 small onion, cut into thin wedges
- 1/2 cup water
- 1/3 cup mango chutney
- 1/4 cup red wine vinegar
- 1 teaspoon Dijon-style mustard
- 6 cups torn assorted greens (romaine, leaf lettuce, curly endive)
- 2 tablespoons chopped pecans, toasted

Cook bacon in large skillet over medium heat 4 to 5 minutes or until crisp; remove to absorbent paper. Cook onion in bacon drippings over medium heat 2 minutes. Increase heat to high. Add water, chutney, vinegar and mustard; cook 2 minutes, stirring occasionally. Place greens in large bowl. Pour half of the hot dressing over greens, tossing lightly to coat. Place an equal amount of greens on four individual dinner plates or a large platter, top with roast beef. Spoon remaining dressing over roast beef. Sprinkle with bacon and pecans. Serve immediately. 4 servings.

Reuben Sandwiches

Preparation time: 15 minutes
Cooking time: 12 to 16 minutes

- 12 ounces thinly sliced cooked corned beef or deli roast beef
- 4 teaspoons butter or margarine, softened
- 8 slices rye or pumpernickel bread
- 1/4 cup Russian or Thousand Island salad dressing
- 1 cup sauerkraut, well drained
- 4 slices (1 ounce each) Swiss cheese

Lightly spread 1/2 teaspoon butter on one side of each slice of bread. Top unbuttered sides of 4 slices bread with equal amounts of corned beef. Spread 1 tablespoon dressing over corned beef of each sandwich; top each with 1/4 cup sauerkraut, then cheese. Close sandwiches with remaining 4 slices bread, buttered side up. Heat large skillet over medium heat until hot. Add two sandwiches and cook 2 to 3 minutes per side or until bread is toasted and cheese is melted. Repeat with remaining sandwiches. 4 servings.

Date and Nut Scones

Preparation time: 15 minutes
Cooking time: 18 to 20 minutes

- 2 cups all-purpose flour
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 cup butter or margarine
- 2 eggs
- 1/3 cup whipping cream or whole milk
- 3/4 cup Dromedary Pitted Dates, snipped
- 1/3 cup slivered almonds, toasted

Preheat oven to 400°F. In large bowl, combine flour, sugar, baking powder and salt. With pastry blender or two knives, cut butter into flour mixture until crumbly. Make a well in center. Separate one egg; reserve egg white. Lightly beat egg yolk and one whole egg into cream; pour into well. Stir with fork until dough cleans sides of bowl. Stir in dates and almonds. Turn dough out onto lightly floured surface; knead about 10 times. Pat dough into 6-1/2-inch diameter circle. Cut circle into 6 wedges. Place 1 inch apart on ungreased baking sheet. Lightly beat reserved egg white; brush on dough. Bake 18 to 20 minutes or until done. Serve warm. 6 scones.

Theresa Severe Weds Brian Rumer In Double-Ring Ceremony In Crellin

Theresa Marie Severe and Brian Jeffery Rumer exchanged wedding vows on June 27, 1992, in a 2 p.m. double-ring ceremony at the Crellin United Brethren Church with Pastor Michael Mudge officiating.

David Callis and Jann Dehus sang The Wedding Song, Sunrise, Sunset, and The Lord's Prayer. Kent Pomeroy was the pianist.

The bride is the daughter of William Bruce Severe, Terra Alta, W.Va., and Nancy Lee Harsh, Oakland. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dorsey C. Rumer Jr., Oakland.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father and given in marriage by her parents. She chose a satin gown featuring a high, scoop neckline with heavily beaded Milano lace covering the bodice. The short, puffed sleeves were accented with cut-out lace motifs. Double bows accented the back skirt which swept to a semi-cathedral train that was embellished with beaded lace and motifs hemmed in dainty lace. The bride's headpiece was a face frame with sequined-trimmed leaves, shooting pearls and lilies of the valley, which featured a folded pouf and detachable, fingertip bridal illusion. The bride's only jewelry consisted of diamond earrings which were a gift from the groom.

The bride carried a silk arrangement of cascading large, white roses, accented with light pink and fuchsia sweetheart roses and tiger lilies and pearls.

Deborah Raynovich, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Elizabeth Daniels, sister of the bride, and Tanja Adams, friend of the bride and groom. The flower girl was Nicole Raynovich, niece of the bride.

The matron of honor and the bridesmaids all wore gowns of fuchsia satin. The bodice was covered with Venice lace. The gowns were tea-length in the front and dropped to the floor in the back. The gowns featured elegant lace, V-shaped backs, accented with large bows at the back of the waists and small bows on the sleeves which were puffs of lace.

They carried silk arrangements of white carnations, pink and fuchsia sweetheart roses and tiger lilies. The silk flowers were made and arranged by the bride's sister, Debbie.

The flower girl's gown was made of pink taffeta with a scoop neckline and

Miss Frankenfield To Wed Mr. Zehr

Mr. and Mrs. Paul and Shirley Frankenfield, Souderton, Pa., announce the engagement of their daughter, Kristi Sue Frankenfield, to Kyle Martin Zehr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ken and Audrey Zehr, Harrisonburg, Va., formerly of Accident. Mr. Zehr is a former pastor at the Glade Mennonite Church.

The bride to be is a 1990 graduate of Christopher Dock Mennonite High School in Lansdale, Pa. She is currently attending Eastern Mennonite College majoring in Psychology and will graduate in May of 1994.

Her fiancé is a 1989 graduate of Turner Ashby High School in Harrisonburg, Va. He is also attending Eastern Mennonite College majoring in liberal arts with a teaching certification in special education. He will also be graduating in May of 1994.

A summer 1994 wedding is being planned.

open back. The waist was accented with a bow. She carried a pink basket with fuchsia rose petals.

The groom was attired in a white tuxedo and tails. The best man and ushers wore black tuxedos, accented with fuchsia bowties and cummerbunds.

Brian King, a friend of the groom, served as best man. Ushers were Douglas Rumer, brother of the groom, and Jack Adams, a friend of the bride and groom. Ringbearer was Anthony Daniels, nephew of the bride.

The mother of the bride wore a street-length soft pink organza dress. The groom's mother wore a street-length dress of polyester interlock knit of black and white. Each wore silk corsages of carnations and roses.

Guests were registered by Cheryl Tasker, friend of the bride. Birdseed packets and programs were distributed by Shelby Loughry, cousin of the bride.

A buffet dinner was served following the ceremony at the Crellin Elementary School. The three-tiered cake with side cakes and fountain dancing was made by Leola Martin. Following dinner, dancing was provided by disc jockey Dan Daniels, brother-in-law of the bride.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's parents at the church. The photographer was Judy Wilt, Oakland.

The couple departed the reception for a week in Ohio. They have established residence in Crellin.

Cassidy, Parsons Engagement Noted

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cassidy, Horse Shoe Run, W.Va., announce the engagement of their daughter, Tammy Cassidy, to Leonard Parsons, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Parsons, Aurora, W.Va.

Miss Cassidy is a 1992 graduate of Pleasant Valley Christian Academy.

Mr. Parsons is a 1983 graduate of East Preston High School and is the owner of Parson's Excavating.

The wedding will take place May 8 at 2 p.m. at Maple Spring Church of the Brethren in Eglen, W.Va.

Although some invitations are being sent, all friends and family are invited to attend.

The next 500 card party for the American Heart Association will be held March 13 at 7:30 p.m. at the American Legion Post No. 214 at Grantsville. All 500 players are welcome. Prizes and refreshments will be provided. All proceeds go to the American Heart Association.

LIGHTING RE-SLATED

Because of weather conditions in December, the luminary lighting at Grantsville Cemetery was canceled. It has been re-scheduled for Saturday, April 3. Assembling of bags will be held at Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad garage at 1:30 p.m. All interested persons are welcome to participate in this event, commemorating the Easter season. Any changes will be announced on local radio stations.

DRIVE CONTINUES

The American Heart Association Drive has been extended and workers on their routes will be visiting local homes in the future, when weather permits.

Citing Farm Impact, FB Urges Clinton To Nix Energy Tax

President Clinton's proposed energy tax will hit farmers especially hard because it will raise production costs, cut farm prices and make U.S. farmers less competitive in world markets, the American Farm Bureau Federation told the president last week.

In a letter to Clinton, AFBF President Dean Kleckner said the proposed tax will cost farmers an estimated $1 billion per year, about two percent of U.S. net farm income. Half the $1 billion hit would come from direct fuel costs, the other half would come from indirect costs resulting from price hikes for inputs like fertilizer and pesticides.

The farm leader urged the president to "remove the energy tax from your economic proposal because of its negative impact on efficiency, productivity and competitiveness."

Kleckner told Clinton that agricultural production is "highly energy-dependent." The proposed BTU tax on the heat content of various fuels would result in tax increases of 7.5 cents per gallon for gasoline, 8.3 cents for diesel and 2.3 cents for propane. Kleckner said the new levies would affect all aspects of agricultural production, from running combines to heating barns and greenhouses and operating irrigation systems.

Kleckner provided Clinton with several examples of how the energy tax would affect various kinds of farming operations nationwide. A greenhouse nursery operation in New Jersey would face $1,469 in added costs because of the tax. A 1,200-acre farm with 600 acres of tomatoes in California's San Joaquin Valley would face $3,486 in added fuel costs. A 2,100-acre Kansas farm producing corn, soybeans, milo and wheat would be hit with $1,513 in added costs. The increased expenses will cause lower prices, Kleckner said, because farm prices "generally are established in markets that reflect national and international demand." Farm prices, he explained, reflect international prices minus the transportation and handling costs of moving farm goods to centralized markets. With increased marketing and transportation costs, he said, farm prices will "tend to decline to offset these margins."

The proposed increase in the inland waterway fuel tax from 19 cents to $1.19 per gallon, which Kleckner called "exorbitant," highlights the farm price problem. Kleckner said the cost of shipping corn and soybeans from the Midwest to New Orleans on barges would increase by 7 cents and 8 cents a bushel, respectively. That would add $150 million in shipping costs.

"We believe this additional tax would prove to be especially detrimental to U.S. agricultural products in the highly competitive world market and, therefore, to farmers and ranchers," Kleckner asserted.

Another major concern voiced by Kleckner is that ethanol would be subject to the new tax. Kleckner noted that ethanol reduces dependence on foreign oil and cuts air pollution, and increased ethanol production would create American jobs. He said

Bernice Kepple, Farm Editor

Farming In Maryland.....

Farm Bureau "strongly opposes" slapping the tax on ethanol.

Kleckner stressed that all rural residents, not just farmers and ranchers, will be hurt by the tax. "The energy tax will disproportionately increase the cost of living for 65 million rural people" who must drive farther than urban and suburban residents to work, shop, get medical care and take children to school, he said.

See box for a look at how the energy tax would impact specific operations in various states.

Ag Committee Says Cut Other Areas First

Congress must control spending in other areas before it "demands" further cuts in agriculture, the House Agriculture Committee told the House Budget Committee last week.

In a letter outlining the Agriculture Committee's "bipartisan recommendations," Chairman Kika de la Garza (D-Texas) and ranking Republican Pat Roberts (Kansas) said farm spending has been the only entitlement to decline since 1985 and the only one projected to decline further. "Agriculture spending has borne a greater share of the cuts than any other sector of the budget even though it accounts for one percent of federal outlays," they said.

The farm panel leaders urged the Budget Committee to continue agriculture and rural development spending at this year's level, adjusted for inflation. For next year, that primarily would mean restoring cuts in rural electrification and crop insurance sought by President Clinton. The Budget Committee starts work on the 1994 spending plan this week.

De la Garza and Roberts pointed out problems with Clinton's proposal to bar farm program payments to farmers with non-farm income greater than $100,000 a year. They said farm payments are not simply "welfare transfer payments," but serve to take land out of production to balance supply and demand. Moreover, they said the proposal would mostly hurt tenants, be difficult to enforce and probably would not generate the projected budget savings.

The Agriculture Committee leaders stressed that additional funding may be needed in two major areas: pesticide registration and environmental measures, such as the wetlands reserve, water quality incentives program, minor use pesticides and conservation compliance technical assistance.

Environmental/Energy Taxes Will Impact Farmers

In a notice from The Fertilizer Institute, local businesses have been reminded that the Clinton administration, in conjunction with Congress, has included an energy/environmental tax in the president's budget proposal.

Energy taxes hit farmers twice, the Institute says. Environmental taxes also hit farmers twice, they say. "Each tax is levied on farmers' use of energy or input tools and on the production of those input tools. Thus, if both energy and environmental taxes are enacted, farmers would pay four new taxes," says The Fertilizer Institute.

It is urgent, they say, that all those involved in agriculture contact their Senators and Representatives to let them know the impact such taxes have on agriculture. They ask farmers to call or write the Washington, D.C., office of elected officials and contact the district office and ask to meet with the Congressman during his/her next trip to the district. The Institute feels it is vital that Congress gets input now from those who work in agriculture.

The following examples presented by The Fertilizer Institute illustrate the potential additional tax burden on farmers' production inputs should a broad-based energy tax or environmental tax be signed into law in the 103rd Congress.

Energy Taxes on Farmers

Carbon Taxes: Rep. Stark of California introduced H.R. 804, phasing in a 48 cents/MCF tax on natural gas. The potential annual tax on farmers could be $45-$225 million. A carbon tax on production of one ton of ammonia would equal $3.26 to $16 per ton. In 1992, U.S. production of ammonia was 14 million tons.

BTU Taxes: Agriculture

uses more than 1.5 trillion BTUs of energy each year. A BTU tax of $.40 per MMBTU is equivalent to a five-cent per gallon gasoline tax. The potential annual tax on farmers could be $600 million.

Gasoline Taxes: Each five-cent increase in the federal gasoline tax costs farmers $600 million. Proposals for a gas tax range up to 50 cents per gallon. The potential annual tax on farmers could be $600 million to $6 billion.

Environmental Taxes on Farmers

Input Use Taxes: Rep. Studds proposes to tax farmers to pay for city sewer systems.

Fertilizer Tax: A fertilizer tax equal to 1.7 to 3.2 cents per nutrient pound or $28 - $52 per ton of anhydrous ammonia. The potential annual tax on farmers could be $500 million.

Pesticide Tax: A pesticide tax equaling 46 cents per pound of active ingredient. The potential annual tax on farmers could be $500 million.

Waste Tax: A waste tax equaling $2.26 per pound of pollutant, adding cost to the production of fertilizer could potentially cost farmers an annual tax of $250 million.

Soil and Livestock Seminar Scheduled At Pleasant Valley

Soil and livestock farmers who are interested in cutting their fertilizer costs by 25 percent, and still maintain production, are invited to a seminar on Wednesday, March 17, at the Pleasant Valley Community Center. The seminar will be sponsored by AgRestore, Inc. Soil and Livestock Systems, and will begin at 10:30 a.m. and last until approximately 2 p.m.

The speakers will be Maurice M. Sinan, director, AgRestore Livestock Division, from Pennsylvania, on silage making and livestock management. Paul Homan, from Iowa, will speak on reducing chemicals in the soil and manure management.

Lunch will be available, and those interested in lunch reservations may call Ray Miller at 301-334-9612.

How the energy tax would impact farms

The impact of the proposed energy tax on actual farms is illustrated in the following examples, based on the amount of fuel utilized in each operation. The California example does not include fuel used to power irrigation pumps.

Kolb Receives Promotion With Cargil, Inc.

Former Garrett County resident Marvin Kolb has been appointed District General Manager of the Burlington, Washington office of Cargil, Inc. Kolb is presently administrative manager at Albany, New York.

A graduate of West Virginia University, Kolb spent several years managing his own dairy farm in Accident before joining Young's as a dairy salesperson. After four successful years in sales with Young's, Kolb moved to Roaring Spring, Pennsylvania, where he was in charge of administration and production for Young's. He transferred from Young's to Kansas City, Mo., in 1990 to further his administrative management experience. In January 1991, Kolb joined the Albany district as administrative manager.

"I am excited about Marvin joining the Burlington district," said Cargil, Inc. Senior Vice President John Seward. "He brings an excellent background in both dairy and farm store sales."

Kolb is the son of Clark and Fannie Kolb of Accident, and he and his wife, Jalene, have one son, Austin.

by Melissa Groves

More Americans are living longer than ever before. The latest UN World Health Organization yearbook puts the average lifespan of U.S. women at 78.6 years and men at 71.6. In 15 other countries, women live longer, but in 21 countries, including Costa Rica and Cuba, men live longer. Japan ranks No. 1 in longevity -- its women averaging 82.5 years, and men 76.2 years.

Charlie O'Connor, retired warehouse manager and widower, has many fans in Dumont, New Jersey. For years he coached young football and basketball teams. At 76, he is best known for ruling the same intersection for more than 10 years as a school crossing guard. Over six feet tall and husky, he's an authority symbol for motorists and a favorite of grade-school pupils. He calls each child by name as he signals them to cross, exchanges a "high five" as each passes by, and hands out a dollar bill on birthdays. He gets many Christmas presents, but says: "The best they give me is their love."

State Holstein Assoc. President Is Local Dairyman, Oren Bender

by Bernice Kepple

Bender herd now has a 20,669 pound rolling herd average, with 765 pounds, 3.7%, fat and 685 pounds, 3.32%, protein. The Benders had 22 cows that scored excellent in a recent classification, and 46 that scored very good. The herd has also placed ninth in the nation for cows over 100 BAA (breed age average).

Bender feels the Holstein Association is important to dairymen and to the breed. "There's quite an advantage in registration costs for state and national members, a savings of about half. Members receive the breed magazine, the association sponsors sales, and once each year they hold breed improvement meetings in several areas of the state so all dairymen can attend. The National Holstein Association also sponsors the classification program, and had classifiers in our area this week to get the hosting members ready for the state convention. 'It's always good to have the backing of a national group,' Bender said.

Nestled in The Cove, one of the most scenic farming areas of the county, is the Oren Bender dairy farm. Bender is now serving as president of the Maryland Holstein Association, and in that position, has been busy preparing for the annual state convention being held in Garrett County this weekend. "I can say it is a real privilege to serve in this capacity," Bender said. "It's an honor that the rest of the state sees us as capable of hosting the convention here at this far western end of the state where we have only 28 Association members, compared with some of the other dairy counties like Frederick that have over 200 members."

Bender has been farming for over 35 years, and he and his family currently milk 98 cows. Family help is important to Bender. His son, Bob, Bob's wife Alice and their sons, Derrick and Shawn are always there to help Bender's wife, Fannie, still helps some, but mostly does the bookwork. "She's our secretary/treasurer," Bender laughs. Son Doug, his wife Julie and sons Keith and Tony help on weekends, especially Sunday mornings so they can all get done in time for church. Bender says he's very grateful for that. And, son Brian still helps occasionally.

The dairyman has seen some changes in the Holstein breed in the 35 years he's been farming. "We've got a lot better udders on our cows today," he said, and added, "The production has almost doubled since I started. Then, 12,000 pounds per cow was considered good. Now it takes 18,000 to 20,000 pounds to make ends meet." The Bender thinks there is certainly going to be a future for the dairy industry. "It may mean tightening our belts some more," he says, stating that the government will probably cut farm subsidies and that dairymen will have to continue producing good quality milk for the market. Bender says he is not in favor of bovine somatotropin (bST) which may come on the market in the near future. He questions its efficiency. "A person hoping for a little more milk to keep him in the black might find that it will backfire (using bST)."

GARRETT COUNTY DAIRYMAN, Oren Bender, takes a break from the activities involved in planning the Maryland Holstein Convention being held this weekend in Grantsville. His family and the cow families they raise are all important to this premier dairyman, who is now serving as president of the Maryland Holstein Association. Photos by Craig Phillips.

Holstein breed continuing to be tall and upstanding cows with tight, snug udders and good feet and legs. Bender doesn't see component pricing as a threat to Holstein dairymen, either. "I don't think it will hurt us," he says. "I think it is important when breeding to look at protein. Also, foreign markets demand high protein and butterfat."

A large crowd is expected at the convention this weekend, with approximately 250 to 275 at the Friday night banquet, and about 400 people at the sale 11:00 a.m. Saturday morning at the Somerset County Fairgrounds in Meyersdale, where about 12 local animals are being sold out of 77 that are cataloged.

Bender was asked why the sale is being held at the Somerset County Fairgrounds instead of at the Garrett County Fairgrounds. His reply was that they would have enjoyed holding the sale here on "home ground," but the Somerset County Fair Board was so "cooperative" and so "interested" in helping. The Garrett County Holstein Association committee in charge of the sale, headed by Dr. Ron Kling, Delvin Mast and Ezra Yoder talked with Somerset County Fair Director Jack Fullerton, and said he was "more than cooperative."

"Early this week when we went to set up and get organized," Bender stated, "Fullerton brought in his grader and had all the roads open. He helped move bleachers and offered his backhoe if it was needed. 'Anything you need, fellows,' he said."

The afternoon convention speaker Friday at the Holiday Inn in Grantsville will be Horace Backus. "Horace Backus is about as knowledgeable a cowman as I know," Bender said. "He knows cows. He started with the Backus pedigree as a teenager, and when he gives pedigrees, you can feel a current running through him."

Friday will also be Ladies Day, with activities at Penn Alps in Grantsville. The program will include a skit, "Adventures and Misadventures of Fannie Farmer," written by Garrett County farm wife Esther Yoder. The banquet Friday evening will begin at 7 p.m. at the Comfort Inn in Frostburg.

Ten years ago the state convention was also hosted by Garrett County. At that time, the cows were housed in the old Grantsville School, and the sale was held in the Grantsville Fire Hall.

This year's convention has been accomplished through the hard work of 15 local couples and some single individuals who have spent countless hours planning and organizing this worthy event for the benefit of all Holstein owners and dairymen across the state.

Milk Production Up In Maryland

Maryland dairy farmers produced 1.444 billion pounds of milk during 1992, an increase of almost two percent from 1991 and the largest amount since 1987 when 1.5 billion pounds were produced. This higher milk production came about because of more output per cow. During 1992 milk per cow averaged 14,586 pounds; 740 pounds higher than the previous record set in 1986. The number of cows on Maryland dairy farms averaged 99,000 during 1992. This is the first time the number of cows slipped below 100,000 for the annual average. In 1991 there were 103,000 cows on Maryland farms and as recently as 1985 there were 119,000 dairy cows in Maryland.

A New Grazing "Bug" - Grazing Alfalfa
Growing alfalfa specifically for grazing is fairly new. Using alfalfa exclusively for grazing is growing in momentum by people as:

- *Dairyman who want to cut milk production costs;
- *Beef stocker operators who want quality feed and higher summer gains;
- *Beef cow-calf producers who want better conception rates, higher weaning weights on calves, and better carrying capacity with summer production reliability;
- *Sheep producers who want a reliable source of high quality forage for finishing lambs.

There are now two varieties of alfalfa specially developed for grazing. The variety called "Alfagraz" was probably the first reliable variety on the market. Recently, a new variety was introduced called "WL Prograzer." I have additional information available on these two varieties if you are interested.

The Grazing Alfalfa has the same soil and fertility requirements as regular alfalfa. The pH must be at least 6.5 or higher; seeded at the rate of 15 pounds per acre. Bloat can be a problem but it can be managed. The following are some good farming practices to deal with the bloat:

- *Pre-fill hungry animals with dry hay or bunk feed.
- *Put animals onto alfalfa pastures for short periods initially.
- *Always keep dry hay (any quality) available during grazing.
- *Watch animals carefully on cool-wet days. Lush forage greatly increases consumption, thus increases bloat potential.
- *Use poloxolene. Poloxolene fed prior to and during grazing, according to recommendations, reduces bloat.

Next week I will provide information on the grazing management of alfalfa.

Red Clover - Use Certified Seed

Red Clover comes and goes as a forage crop. We all know that Red Clover is excellent feed. The biggest disadvantages are the short longevity of the stand and the difficulty of drying down. However, today more and more of the hay crops are being stored as high moisture haylage and with the development of new certified varieties, the stands are more persistent. According to the variety trials at the University of Kentucky the certified varieties yielded an average of 1,000 pounds more forage per acre when compared to common varieties the first year of production with a spring seeding. And the second year the certified varieties produced 2,000 pounds more forage per acre.

Seeding a certified variety costs about $10 more per acre. But the extra hay and better stand persistence is well worth the extra cost. Farmers can tell if a variety is certified by the presence of a blue tag on the bag. The blue tag is the only guarantee the genetics inside the bag match the variety named on the outside of the bag.

Report On Ag Aid To Former Soviets Given Congress

Maryland Secretary of Agriculture Robert L. Walker has announced that a Congressional Research Service panel that he served on has presented its final report to Congress on U.S. Agricultural Assistance to the former Soviet Union. Walker, who is an expert on the agricultural and food sector of the former Soviet Union, has traveled to the region at various times and has personally met with officials from Russia, Ukraine and the other newly independent states.

"Our panel recommended short term loans to provide food aid. Equally as important, we recommended long term assistance to help these new states make the transition to a market economy," Walker said.

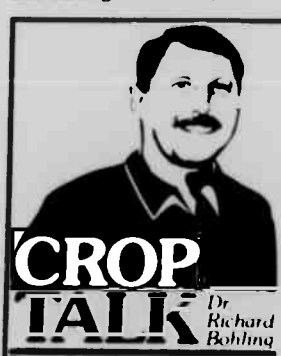

The long term assistance the panel recommended includes education and training of those involved in the food chain to help them solve their production and distribution problems.

"I believe that a comprehensive package to provide assistance to help the people of these emerging democracies would also promote U.S. trade and economic interests. The former Soviet Union, with a population of 291 million, represents a large untapped market for U.S. products," said Walker.

"Our report to Congress urges the U.S. government to develop a clear and effective food policy for this part of the world. Never before in the 20th century has this country had an opportunity, without recourse to war, to not only help shape in such a dramatic and positive way the destiny of Russia and the emerging democracies of the former Soviet Union, but at the same time, to build a strong foundation for our future economic growth and trade in a region with market opportunities as vast as the Russian landscape," Walker said.

"In Maryland, we are fortunate that Governor William Donald Schaefer has taken an extremely active interest in furthering our economic ties in the former Soviet Union and Eastern Europe. Because of his strong leadership I be-

Dr. Richard Bohling

Dear Dr. Bohling, We've had numerous freezes and thaws this winter and I already see some "heaving" in my alfalfa fields. What's the best way to determine whether an alfalfa stand needs reseeded?

In the spring, go out and evaluate the crown and the root areas of some plants. If you find white, firm tissue in the crown and root, the plant is viable even though it may be partially heaved out of the ground. If you see no regrowth from a plant, or if the tissue appears mushy or brown in color, the plant has been killed by the heaving or disease. Next, take a count of the live plants and determine the stand.

Based on the age of the stand, we have recommendations for leaving the stand or reseeded. For a first-year stand, one seeded in 1992, you need between 12 and 20 plants per square foot. Below that, I recommend reseeded. In a second-year stand, you need eight to 12 plants per square foot. For stands three years old or older, I recommend replanting if plant density is less than six to eight plants per square foot. Make up a one-foot square frame and randomly lay it in your field. Count the live plants within that area, figure an average and determine if reseeding is justified.

Dear Dr. Bohling, Last year, one of my soybean fields topped 55 bushels per acre. In another field, the same variety was hit with Phytophthora root rot, and only yielded 28 bushels per acre. Should I drop that variety in favor of one resistant to PRR?

Every soybean variety has its strengths and weaknesses. Breeders have developed outstanding varieties featuring a range of resistance, tolerance or susceptibility to diseases such as Phytophthora root rot (PRR). For consistent yields and good risk management, you need to position these products properly, based on conditions on your farm.

In areas where PRR is a concern, especially low-lying land featuring heavy, poorly drained soils, stick with a PRR-resistant variety. For well-drained fields without a history of disease problems, work with your seed dealer to select the highest-yielding variety available for your area in the maturity group you need. That variety might be susceptible to PRR, or it might be resistant. Some of today's best disease-resistant soybeans yield as well as or better than susceptible varieties, whether or not disease organisms are present.

Dear Dr. Bohling, One of the local seed dealers says I need to look at seeds per acre when I buy sorghum - rather than concentrating on the bag. I figure that's just a sales ploy to get me to buy his seed. What do you think?

Each sorghum hybrid has a specific population range where it provides optimum performance. Seed companies carefully research those population ranges based on geography, moisture conditions, soil textures and so on. To plant at that ideal population rate, growers need to consider the size of the seed and the seeds per pound, then adjust their planters to account for differences. Do not plant sorghum entirely on a seed-per-pound basis, but rather on a plant-per-acre basis. But to determine plants per acre, you first need to know seeds per pound. With some larger-seed hybrids, for example, you may have to plant 10 pounds of seed to achieve 120,000 plants per acre. With a smaller-seeded hybrid, you may need only seven or eight pounds of seed per acre to plant at the same population. Seed size does not affect germination or performance, and several of today's top sorghum hybrids feature smaller seeds. More seeds per pound can make these hybrids a good value, as long as you adjust your planter to seed at the optimum rate.

Dear Dr. Bohling, Corn borers didn't cause much of a problem last year, but I still had some stalk rot and lodging. Why the high incidence of lodging?

Much of last year's lodging resulted from a high-yield environment which stressed the plant for photosynthate. When conditions allow high yield potential, corn plants respond by channelling much of their photosynthetic energy toward filling kernels. If cloudy weather restricts photosynthesis, the plant's efforts to fill kernels drain nutrients from the stalk. This can predispose the plant to stalk-rot organisms and lodging.

Corn breeders work toward a combination of high yield potential and adequate stalk strength, but there usually is some trade-off between the two characteristics. A big, heavy ear on each plant can lead to some lodging, but most farmers accept a few downed plants if grain yields are high. Even where we saw lodging last year, yields were generally good. As for any year, you should look for hybrids adapted to your area, featuring a combination of stalk strength, plant health and, especially, high yield.

If you have questions for Dr. Bohling, write to him at: Crop Talk, DEKALB Plant Genetics, P.O. Box 20421, Kansas City, MO 64196 or call 316/764-3739.

Farm Focus

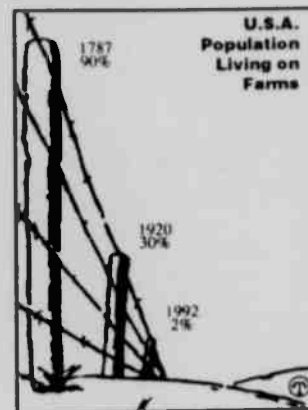

Who's Minding The Farm?

Less than two percent of the U.S. population lives on farms today. In 1920, the percentage was 30 percent; and when the U.S. Constitution was signed, the United States was 90 percent farmers.

But the grocery stores are always full and the export terminals are always busy. Who's doing all of the work?

In a great feat of productivity improvement, the U.S. economy and its farmers have increased the use of farm machines, improved crop varieties, and scientific pest controls to such an extent that 98 percent of the population can work at thousands of other jobs and buy all of their food at affordable prices. Only 24 cents of each food dollar - both for food eaten at home as well as away from home - goes to pay for the farm value of the food.

Productivity improvements are the foundation of any economy's ability to improve its people's living standards. By being so productive, each U.S. farmer can feed 94 people in the U.S. plus another 34 people have Maryland can serve as a model for the rest of the nation in establishing significant agreements which will benefit all our peoples," said Walker.

Serving on the Congressional Research Service panel with Walker were international agricultural experts from both the private sectors and university sectors.

Md. Agricultural Ed Foundation Appoints Director
The Board of Directors of the Maryland Agricultural Education Foundation (MAEF) has announced the appointment of Pamela L. Rockland as executive director. MAEF is committed to expanding and improving education for students in Maryland using agriculture as the medium. Since agriculture is the state's number one industry, contributing over $11 billion annually and generating over 350,000 jobs, the foundation works to maintain a healthy agricultural economy through education.

Chartered in 1989, as a result of an eight month study by the Governor's Commission on Education in Agriculture, MAEF's programs have reached an audience of over half a million children, teachers, parents, officials and individuals in communities across the state. MAEF educates the community about agriculture through a variety of programs.

MAEF's "Ag in the Classroom" workshops bring together teachers from around the state to provide them with the tools and training to excite students about the learning process using agricultural concepts. MAEF's Teacher Awards Program recognizes outstanding educators who integrate agriculture into their classrooms and increase agricultural literacy among teachers and students. Five teachers received funding this year through the foundation's Mini-Grants Program for developing innovative hands-on classroom activities relating to agriculture.

"1993 will be a landmark year for the foundation," explained MAEF President Richard Price. "Workshops and activities will be expanded to reach more people as our efforts to enhance agricultural education in Maryland continue. We are on the threshold of a revolutionary change in education and in agriculture and are delighted to have an executive director to manage the operations of the foundation and coordinate the many important tasks to come."

Endangered Species Act Measure To Be Introduced

Farm Bureau-supported legislation to reform the Endangered Species Act of 1973 is being readied for introduction by Reps. Billy Tauzin (D-La.) and Jack Fields (R-Texas). A companion bill will be introduced by Sen. Slade Gorton (R-Wash.)

The legislation provides much-needed reform of the Endangered Species Act, which, since its enactment in 1973, has been "amended and interpreted to the point where the critics now charge that it is completely out of balance," said Jon Doggett of the American Farm Bureau Federation's governmental relations staff.

"Farmers are losing water rights as federal regulators attempt to save fish," Doggett said. "Ranchers fear loss of livestock as predators such as grizzly bears and wolves are introduced and protected in the West. And producers throughout the nation are forbidden from performing such activities as clearing brush from fence rows."

Critical habitats are being created for more than 775 species currently listed under the act, and an additional 3,800 species are under active review for listing.

The soon-to-be-introduced bills provide for compensation to private property owners whose economic activities are hindered or whose land diminishes in value due to efforts to protect a listed species, Doggett said.

Tauzin, who introduced the same measure along with Fields late in the last session of Congress, said it would "protect endangered species without endangering the economic well-being of millions of people and thousands of communities."

He said it is aimed at strengthening species conservation by promoting and enhancing protection before a species is at the brink of extinction. Tauzin said the current "emergency room" application of the law cannot achieve the goal of recovering endangered and threatened species.

The legislation also provides for the most efficient and responsible recovery and management plan once a species is placed on the endangered or threatened list. Tauzin said under his legislation the listing process would remain based solely on biological factors.

Last week Interior Secretary Bruce Babbitt told a House panel he favors a broad new approach to endangered species protection.

Testifying before the House Natural Resources Committee (formerly called Interior and Insular Affairs), he called for a policy based on preventive measures to protect entire ecosystems rather than looking at individual plants and animals.

He said he hopes to avert "national train wrecks" like the one involving the spotted owl in the Pacific Northwest. Babbitt said rather than focusing on a single species as it nears extinction, "we need to step back and look at the entire system and ask, is it possible to intervene before the crisis?"

Glimpse Of The Past . . .

THE FLOCK OF THE HILLS is the title given this circa 1920 photograph by its creator, the renowned Leo Beschty of Grantsville. The view is the north end of Rabbit Hollow, located along U.S. Rt. 219 just east of Chapel Hill. Today the area has almost returned to forest land, making Chocolate Drop Hill in the background difficult to see. It was a busy hollow, with a number of farm families rearing their children and providing a living for themselves. In 1930 the federal government bought most of the farms and then donated the land to the state. A few families still reside on small plots in the area. This photo, on loan from Mary Straus, Accident, is published courtesy of the Garrett County Historical Society and The Republican. Persons desiring information about membership in the Historical Society may obtain it at the Ruth Enlow Library or any branch library.

Funds Available For Programs In The Humanities

The Maryland Humanities Council has funds available for outright grants and grants to match funds raised from corporations, foundations, businesses, individuals, or state and local governments, for worthy public programs in the humanities.

The Council awards grants competitively for exhibits, films, lectures, conferences or public programs in literature, history, ethics, philosophy, language, linguistics, archaeology, jurisprudence, comparative religion; the theory, history, and criticism of the arts; and philosophical and historical approaches to the social sciences. Nonprofit groups and state and local agencies within Maryland are eligible to apply.

Proposal deadlines for first drafts, final drafts, and decision dates are as follows: June 14, July 19, and September 18; October 15, November 19, and January 22, 1994; and February 11, 1994, March 18, 1994, and May 14, 1994.

There are no specific deadlines for programs requesting $1,200 or less.

Persons may call or write the Maryland Humanities Council at 516 North Charles Street, Suite 102, Baltimore, MD 21201-5093, (410) 625-4830, to discuss an idea, or to request grant guidelines and/or a free subscription to the Council's magazine Maryland Humanities.

The Maryland Humanities Council is an independent, nonprofit, statewide affiliate of the National Endowment for the Humanities. In 1992, NEH provided Federal funding representing 77% of the Council's overall budget for operations, programs and services. Additional support for Council programs is provided by the Maryland Department of Housing and Community Development, and by foundations, corporations, and individuals throughout the state.

Applications For Humanities Council Membership Sought

The Maryland Humanities Council is seeking applications for possible vacancies on its Board of Directors. The Council, an affiliate of the National Endowment for the Humanities, annually awards approximately $400,000 for public programs, including lectures, seminars, symposia, exhibitions, and films in the various humanities disciplines; and develops and implements special programs in the humanities.

The Council is comprised of up to 26 volunteer members including up to five gubernatorial appointees. Drawn from academy and community, and representing all regions of the state, Council members contribute hundreds of unpaid hours reading and reviewing applications for funding, attending Council meetings, participating and assisting in Council fundraising efforts, meeting with potential project directors, attending funded projects, and representing the Council at regional and national conferences.

Applications are invited from residents throughout the State of Maryland who by reason of their achievement, scholarship, and creativity in the humanities, or their knowledge of community and state interests, are distinctively qualified to serve.

Particular needs are for members outside Baltimore City and its suburbs, and for members from the corporate community.

Interested citizens who would like to be considered for membership against possible vacancies that may occur this year should send their resume, with a cover letter explaining their reasons for wishing to serve, by April 30, 1993, to The Honorable Gilbert Gude, Chairperson and President, Maryland Humanities Council, 516 North Charles Street, Suite 102, Baltimore, MD 21201-5093.

ASSIGNEE'S SALE OF VALUABLE REAL ESTATE

Situate in Election District No. 18, Garrett County, Maryland.

By virtue of a power of sale contained in a second mortgage from James F. Kurtz and Margie M. Ciccone dated July 16, 1983, and recorded in Liber 439, Page 19, among the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland, default having occurred under the terms and conditions of said mortgage, and having been duly assigned to the undersigned for purpose of foreclosure, I hereby give notice that I will, on Monday, March 22, 1993, at the hour of 10:00 a.m. in the Rotunda of the Courthouse, in the Town of Oakland, Garrett County, Maryland, offer for sale, and sell to the highest bidder at public auction the following property:

ALL that piece or parcel of land situate in Election District No. 18, Garrett County, Maryland, improved with a single family dwelling house, and more particularly described as follows:

ALL those certain pieces or parcels of land situate, lying and being in Election District No. 18, Garrett County, Maryland, lying South of Deep Creek Lake, the parcels hereby intended to be conveyed are designated as LOTS NOS. 9 and 10 in Section 1 of Block C revised, in Turkey Neck Estates and are more fully described as follows, to-wit:

LOT NO. 9: BEGINNING at a stake standing in the south margin of a twenty-eight foot roadway, said stake standing South 23 degrees 44 minutes East 286.0 feet, thence North 83 degrees 32 minutes East 110.65 feet from a concrete monument marked N-430, said monument being a corner of Pennsylvania Electric Company and being the fifth corner of the 13.68 acre tract is described as TRACT NO. 90 in the deed from Eastern Land Corporation to Youghiogheny Hydro-Electric Corporation, dated October 1, 1925, and recorded in Liber No. 91, folio 448, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland, and running thence from said beginning stake, along the south margin of said twenty-eight foot roadway, North 83 degrees 32 minutes East 110.65 feet to a stake, thence South 6 degrees 28 minutes East 238.50 feet to a stake standing in the northwest margin of a thirty foot roadway, thence with the northwest margin of said roadway, South 49 degrees 01 minutes West 87.00 feet to a stake, thence North 14 degrees 11 minutes West 290.43 feet to the beginning, containing twenty-four thousand, four hundred seventy-one and seventy-four hundredths (24,471.74) square feet or fifty-six hundredths (0.56) of an acre, more or less.

SUBJECT to the regulations, restrictions and conditions set forth in a deed from Harold M. Muma, et al., to Harley E. Dawson, et al., dated August 5, 1966, and recorded in Liber No. 273, folio 306, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland.

LOT NO. 10: BEGINNING at a stake standing in the South margin of a twenty-eight foot roadway, said stake being the beginning corner of the 0.56 acre parcel that was conveyed by William T. Fridinger, et al., to Harley E. Dawson and wife, by deed dated August 5, 1966, and recorded in Liber 273, folio 306, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland, and running thence from said beginning stake, South 24 degrees 11 minutes East 290.43 feet to a stake standing in the Northwest margin of a thirty foot roadway, thence with the Northwest margin of said roadway, South 49 degrees 01 minutes West 85.04 feet to a stake, thence North 40 degrees 59 minutes West 217.70 feet to a stake, thence North 49 degrees 01 minutes East 92.00 feet to a stake, thence North 23 degrees 44 minutes West 108.75 feet to a stake standing in the South margin of said roadway, North 83 degrees 32 minutes East 110.65 feet to the beginning, containing eighty-eight hundredths (0.88) of an acre, more or less.

ALSO INCLUDING the right and privilege of obtaining and using water in the well located on Lot No. 5 in Section 1, Block C Revised in said Turkey Neck Estates, in common with all others now having or hereafter granted similar rights and privileges.

TOGETHER with the buildings and improvements thereon, and the rights, roadways, waters, privileges and appurtenances thereunto belonging or in any way appertaining.

TERMS OF SALE
The property will be sold subject to the outstanding balance due on a deed of trust held by American Trust Bank having an approximate balance of $24,183.54, a more precise balance to be announced at time of sale. The property will be further sold, subject to covenants, encumbrances, restrictions and rights of way of record, and is further sold in as is condition. A deposit of Twenty Percent (20%) on date of sale with the balance payable upon ratification of the sale by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland. Taxes and other assessments and charges to be adjusted to date of sale. The cost of documentary stamps, transfer and recording taxes, conveyancing and all other costs incident to settlement are to be paid by the purchaser.

Terms of sale are to be complied within twenty (20) days after final ratification of the sale by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland; otherwise the aforesaid deposit shall be forfeited and the property will be resold at the risk and cost of the defaulting purchaser.

Four Criminal Cases Heard In GC Circuit Court

Four criminal cases involving illegal drugs, theft, and making false statements to an officer were addressed in Garrett County Circuit Court last week, with three defendants sentenced to jail terms and a pre-sentence investigation ordered for another. Judge Fred A. Thayer presided at the proceedings.

An Accident man was sentenced to the Garrett County Jail for one year and was ordered to one year of supervised probation. The jail time was then suspended for Everett W. Morgan, 34, who, in a January trial, made an alford plea of guilty to the charge of marijuana distribution. A pre-sentence investigation was ordered at that time.

Morgan apparently sold marijuana to a Garrett County Narcotics Task Force agent, who was working in an undercover capacity at the time. The exchange reportedly took place at the J&J Trailer Court, Accident, in March and April 1992.

A Glen Burnie man will serve 90 days in the Garrett County Jail for misdemeanor theft. Sentenced to 18 months with all but 90 days suspended, Timothy D. Hare, 22, was also ordered to be on two years of supervised probation.

Hare pleaded guilty to the charge in a January trial, at which time a pre-sentence investigation was ordered. The defendant reportedly took part in an August 1991 theft of a stereo system and numerous compact disks with a combined value of nearly $10,000, according to the court document. The equipment was stolen from Matthew Leuck, McHenry, by Hare and other suspects.

A 29-year-old Oakland man pleaded guilty to distribution of marijuana, as well as possession of the illegal controlled dangerous substance. Thayer accepted the pleas of Tommy D. Allamong and ordered a pre-sentence investigation. Bail was continued for the defendant.

Allamong reportedly sold $600 worth of marijuana to an undercover agent of the Narcotics Task Force in June and July 1992. The exchanges were apparently pre-planned between the defendant and the agent, and took place at the parking lot of the Power Palace Gym in Mtn. Lake Park.

Timothy K. Maloney, 34, Rockville, will serve 60 days in the Garrett County Jail for charges of driving while suspended and making a false statement to an officer.

Maloney was stopped by Maryland State Police on Oct. 28, 1992, on Interstate 68, west of Shade Hollow

WOW MAKES PRESENTATIONS - Oakland Lodge 11, Woodmen of the World, recently presented a 100% Woodmen Family Plaque to Doris and Lawrence Groves, Loch Lynn, pictured left. Making the presentation was Ed Utterback, field representative. Another presentation made by Youth Lodge 112 was to the Department of Natural Resources. Above right, Asa McCain and Ellen Zimmerman, youth leaders, hand a check for $75 to Tim McMillan, of the DNR. The money represented the proceeds of a fishing rodeo held at Herrington Manor last summer, the theme of which was "Get Hooked on Fishing, Not Drugs." Youth Lodge 112 also purchased headblocks to be used on accident victims at the park.

Road. When Tfc. J.W. Hare first asked his name, the defendant reportedly said Timothy K. Williams. In a short while, he told the officer his true name and indicated that he was driving with a suspended license.

The false statement charge stemmed from a Dec. 1992 incident at which time the defendant apparently came into the Maryland State Police McHenry Barrack and told officers there that he had been robbed. Officers responded to the alleged scene and soon suspected that the report was

State Police Note Arrests

Two Oakland men and two juveniles have been charged by Maryland State Police in a breaking and entering and theft at a McHenry business following an incident that reportedly occurred on January 18.

Scott E. Patton, 18, and Christopher A. Giotfely, 19, were both charged with theft while the two juveniles were charged with juvenile delinquency. They were arrested March 5 by Tfc. D.W. Broadwater.

According to police reports, the four individuals gained entry into a Pepsi machine at Lakeview Exxon with a key and removed the coins from the unit.

DWI Arrests
In other news from the state police, two men were arrested and charged with driving while under the influence of alcohol.

On March 11, Carl G. Dunning, 32, Hopkinsville, Ky., was arrested by Tfc. W. L. Mowbray.

On March 13, Samuel F. Police, 22, Mtn. Lake Park, was arrested by Tfc. S.H. Anderson.

false, as Maloney was apparently scheduled to appear in Garrett County District Court on that day.

Thayer sentenced Maloney to 30 days in jail for each offense, with the sentences to run consecutively. Other charges of exceeding the maximum speed limit, failure to display license on demand, and giving a false name to an officer were not prosecuted.

This case was transferred from district court to circuit when the defendant prayed a jury trial, according to the court document.

Sheriff's Office Activities Noted

Several arrests were made in the past week by the Garrett County Sheriff's Office, according to reports there. Two young men were arrested on theft charges stemming from incidents at the Wisp Resort, and several persons were arrested on the strength of bench warrants or body attachments.

As the result of an investigation led by Sheriff's Office detectives, deputies, and the security guard at Wisp Resort, two local men were arrested on theft charges. Scott E. Kahl, 20, Friendsville, and Russell W. Slagle, 19, Oakland, are accused of tampering with video and snack machines at the resort, as well as stealing alcoholic beverages from the resort's bar.

Ron Beeghly, security officer at Wisp, suspected the two of committing the offenses and reportedly followed Kahl's vehicle after one incident. This combined with other investigative measures led to the arrests. Other charges are pending against the two, according to the police report.

A body attachment order was issued for Roy A. Moats, 32, Oakland, for contempt. The defendant apparently failed to pay the Family Rental Center an owed amount of approximately $566 after being ordered to do so.

Two bench warrants were issued for Gayle W. Holler, 47, Oakland, who apparently failed to pay fines and costs into Garrett County District Court. Each bench warrant required $1,020 bond, according to the report.

Lawrence R. Nicklow, 53, McHenry, was served a bench warrant issued by district court for violation of probation.

Kathryn T. Kratoofil, 50, Oakland, was arrested on the strength of a bench warrant for failure to pay fines, according to the report.

A body attachment order was issued for Debra A. McRhee, 32, Oakland, for failure to appear in district court.

Correction Noted

In a story that appeared in last week's edition of The Republican, it was incorrectly stated that Carlton Doerr, 27, Accident, was given probation before judgment and 18 months of supervised probation on a petty theft charge. Actually, his probation is unsupervised. We regret the error.

A police report in the court documents also stated that Doerr was found in the barn at the time of the court-ordered search and seizure that revealed marijuana, drug paraphernalia, and a stolen 22 caliber rifle. Doerr contends that he was not in the barn at the time of the search and seizure. His attorney concurs that he was not in the barn at the time of the incident. Drug charges against Doerr were not prosecuted.

Two Highway Projects To Get Underway Soon

Governor William Donald Schaefer and the State Highway Administration (SHA) announce that resurfacing and safety improvements on US 219 and Interstate 68 in Garrett County will take place in early spring.

The Rt. 219 project will cover more than two miles of US 219, from a quarter mile south of the US 40 Alternate to the Pennsylvania State Line.

Work will include removing and resetting the existing traffic barrier, resurfacing, drainage improvements, and pavement markings. Both projects are necessary to correct deteriorating roadway and enhance drivability.

Single lane closures will take place during paving with intermittent lane closures occurring during drainage and other maintenance operations. Paving will take place from sunrise to sunset.

Flagpersons, traffic cones and drums will direct motorists through the construction site.

Keystone Lime Company, Inc., of Springs, Pa., has been awarded the $341,000 contract. The project should be complete by July 1993.

The I-68 project will cover more than six miles of US 219, from Bear Creek Bridge to east of Pigs Ear Road.

Work will include

"I KNOW IT'S AROUND HERE SOMEWHERE" seems to be what John Helmick of Deep Creek Lake is saying, as he and Kathy Reckner appear to be digging for their automobile, or perhaps their mailbox. While most people just wanted to get the three feet of white stuff out of the way, some utilized it for building construction, as is evidenced by this igloo located along Pennington Street in Oakland, pictured below.

Single lane closures will take place during paving with intermittent lane closures occurring during other maintenance operations. The project is expected to have minimal impact to traffic.

Flagpersons, arrow boards, VMS (variable message signs), traffic cones and drums will direct motorists through the construction site.

Keystone Lime Company has been awarded the $1.9 million contract. The project should be complete by August 1993.

Vacation Guide, Event Schedule Now Available

The 1993-94 Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Vacation Guide, which lists attractions, historic sites, accommodations, restaurants, events, campgrounds, State Parks, and a wide variety of other information about Deep Creek Lake and Garrett County, is now available. This full-color 100-page booklet is published annually.

The May-October 1993 Calendar of Events for Garrett County and Deep Creek Lake is also available. This publication lists all county-wide events, including fairs, festivals, cultural and community activities.

These publications are available free of charge by writing or calling the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council, Courthouse, 200 South Third Street, Oakland, MD 21550; telephone (301) 334-1948.

GCC Telephone Number Changed To 387-3000

Garrett Community College has changed its main switchboard telephone number to 387-3000.

According to a GCC spokesman, this change is part of a recently installed automated telephone system. Under the new system, each office will have a direct phone line. Persons may call direct to the following offices using the phone number listed: Admissions Office, 387-3010; Business Office, 387-3050; Continuing Education, 387-3069; Faculty Secretary, 387-3079; Financial Aid, 387-3012; Library, 387-3009; Registrar's Office, 387-3040; and Student Assistance Center, 387-3044.

Persons calling the 387-3000 number will hear a series of instructions which will assist in directing all other calls. One such instruction will ask if the caller knows the extension of the office/person being called. If an extension is not known, the system will provide director assistance, and will accept the alphabetic equivalency of push button telephone keys.

Persons desiring information on registering for a specific course or enrolling in a program of study should direct their calls to the Admissions Office.

Persons are asked to make note of GCC's new main switchboard number and other numbers listed above.

Clarification Appeared

In a story which appeared in last week's issue of The Republican, it was stated that Ian Strouse, a fourth-grade student at Broad Ford Elementary School, created a computer program for a project he completed in Sheila Russell's enrichment class. In fact, he did not create the computer program; rather, he used the existing program to create his project.

AARP Issues Reminders For County Taxpayers

The AARP Tax-Aide volunteers have compiled some important reminders for Garrett County taxpayers.

On a Maryland return: 1) Low-income individuals may be eligible for Maryland's poverty level income tax break. 2) A new subtraction is available to married couples filing a joint return when both have wage income. Persons may subtract up to $1,200 or the wages of the spouse with the lower income earnings, whichever is less. 3) Single individuals or dependent taxpayers can use Form 123 to get a prompt and full refund of all Maryland income tax withheld if their gross income was less than $5,900, in 1992. 4) For taxpayers 65 and over, or totally disabled, the maximum pension exclusion has been increased to $12,300. 5) Under Maryland law, persons may be eligible for a substantial credit on your property taxes issued on your home. Based upon gross income, it is available to homeowners of all ages. 6) Renters tax credit is available to renters 60 years of age or over or those 100% disabled. Tax credit of up to $600 is available if persons qualify on the basis of income.

On Federal return: 1) New for 1992, if persons earned less than $22,370 and have a qualifying child live with them, persons may be able to take the earned income credit. 2) Should persons file a return? Yes, if their gross income was $5,900 or more and persons were under 65 and single. If over 65 and single, it is $6,800. Married filing a joint return any age, is $2,300. 3) Persons may be able to take credit for the elderly or disabled if they are 65 or older and meet the income requirements.

THE REPUBLICAN, OAKLAND, MARYLAND - THURSDAY, MARCH 18, 1993 A-3

EQUIPMENT BREAKDOWNS for state, county and municipal road crews have been numerous this week, as plows have been pushed beyond their limits in attempts to clear some 700 miles of local roadways. Drifts in many areas were over 10 feet high and could be penetrated only with the massive V-plows and blowers. The photo above was taken at the Maryland State Highway garage at Keyser's Ridge. Frank Wedel, pictured below, came to Garrett County for a weekend of cross-country skiing, and was not particularly unhappy when his stay at the Grantsville Holiday Inn had to be extended.

Federal and Maryland tax forms are being prepared free of charge for all residents with low- to moderate-income. This service is provided by volunteers and is sponsored by Area Agency on Aging. Hours for this free service is Tuesday and Friday from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. and Wednesday from 5 to 7 p.m., at the Ruth Enlow Library, Oakland. Also, upon request, the volunteers will travel to senior centers and shut-ins. Special appointments are available by calling the Area Agency on Aging at 334-5856.

Not Much News...

A reporter from Associated Press contacted us by telephone on Monday to find out all of the big news surrounding the weekend snowstorm, and she was surprised that we really didn't have a whole lot to tell her. She was somewhat amazed that we didn't have at least one storm-related death to report.

Despite the fact that Garrett County was one of the hardest hit areas in the entire eastern United States, we have come through the incident virtually unscathed. Yes, we are more accustomed, more prepared, and better equipped to handle such conditions than residents of most other areas, but we are nonetheless proud of our citizens for their pre-storm foresight and use of intelligence throughout the crisis. Not only did we have no storm-related deaths reported, but Garrett County experienced no major fires, no serious vehicle mishaps, and no lost people. We were also fortunate to have no power outages and no significant problems with telephones, other than some overuse. We didn't even lose television cable service, at least in the Oakland area.

We cannot say enough about the efforts of the various municipal, county, and state road crews, that are most certainly second to none. These people have literally worked around the clock, some going more than 48 hours without sleep, to open the 700-plus miles of roadways.

We salute the members of the National Guard Capt. Rick Wakefield, commander for similar work, roads administrators Paul McIntyre (state) and Bob Fousek (county) and others, such as the various mayors, for coordinating the efforts, the search and rescue teams and all other volunteer emergency personnel, local law enforcement officials; and the Office of Emergency Management staff, all of whom have gone the extra mile to try to keep people safe under life-threatening conditions.

Finally, we note the literally thousands of examples of neighbor helping neighbor, whether it has been helping shovel out a driveway, delivering food via cross-country skis to stranded pets, or just calling to make sure someone has sufficient fuel and food.

To the Editor:

The bond issue seems to be on the minds and lips of many these days. One group of people seems to think that anybody opposed to the bond for school improvements is mentally defective.

There is a large body of public and private pressure being applied to the commissioners to seek general bonding authority. This rather small (for government) amount of money is what is known as a Trojan Horse among negotiators. It is merely a vehicle for opening the gates. Once the gates are open a large number of things can happen, but only one of them is good.

Frankly, I'd have to agree with my emotional friends if it were only a half-million dollars for work on schools. But it's not. A few public officials are working around the clock behind the scenes, and their dupes are working publicly to generate anger and intolerance toward those of us indisposed to put our tax dollars in the hands of three politicians and Wall Street. "It is for the public good," they say.

I hope to God I am not alone in my fear and distrust of government's good intentions. My grandmother used to tell me that the path to hell is paved with good intentions. It is among the most powerful, accurate admonitions ever to fall upon an ear. Most of us have suffered grievously at the hands of those trying to help us.

Here are the facts regarding bonding. The commissioners do not at this time have the power to authorize a bond issue. They can get it from Annapolis in two forms: one, a permanent general bonding authority; the other, an item-specific bonding authority. A third method for authorizing a bond issue is by voters approving a referendum for a specific item or items for bonding.

Bonds are not issued free. Total administrative costs, legal costs, and sales commissions range from less than one percent for large issues, to ten percent or so for smaller issues. A reasonable estimate of costs for issuing a half-million dollar bond is fifty thousand dollars, or ten percent. Then there is the interest.

There are three primary effects of small issues. Results of mistakes in judgment and poor planning by officials are hidden for another year or two. A handful of bottom feeders pocket fifty grand. The third effect is to grow the skirts for future large issues.

I make the flat statement that it is not in the best interests of the taxpayers of Garrett County for the commissioners to have general bonding authority. We have had commissioners who held the theory that the people aren't smart enough to know what is good for us. This theory has provided us a startling yellow addition to the courthouse and educational administrators with the fourteenth highest salary rank in the state while our teachers are ranked last.

With general bonding authority every land-scammer, real estate broker, builder, and senior government administrator with an incompetent subordinate would make life unbearable for our commissioners in the short run, and create a tangled nightmare for taxpayers here in the long run.

Single item bonding authority also opens the door for abuse of taxpayers. Spending leveraged money feels good. Like many debatable things that feel good, once you've done it, it's hard to quit.

The best way to decide is to put every bond issue to a vote. Whether some people like it or not, this is, at least on paper, a Democracy. I can think of no instance when I would rather place a decision in the hands of politicians than in the hands of voters. Somehow it is easier for me to accept a mass decision I disagree with than one I know is crafted around special interests lurking in the shadows. And folks, covering up mistakes and bad planning by government is a very special interest indeed.

Special referendums are expensive. I wonder why no effort was made to get this on last November's ballot. Think about it. When would you notice you're coming up half a million short? I am telling you for sure that we have got serious, major planning and execution problems. In some areas people are shooting from the hip and the public is paying for every bad shot.

The bottom line is that powerful forces want general bonding authority for the commissioners. That might look pretty good right now while we have two cost-conscious commissioners, but what about after next election if one of them doesn't get in (as this very paper promises)? It will be too late then. The floodgates will be open to bury us in a sea of leveraged capital expenditures to pay for the good intentions of government.

Not every public administrator favors bonding. There are several against it. These are administrators who have a complete understanding of the long-term effects of bonding. Could it be that this long view is also reflected in the superior planning in their areas? Bonding will raise their taxes too. They don't feel it is fair to saddle the public to hide bad planning. Neither do I.

If you fear the good intentions of government, please call or write your commissioner and request that a legislative act be passed requiring all bonding issues for Garrett County be put to a referendum vote during a normal election year. Such an act keeps bonding issues where they belong: in the hands of voters.

Sincerely,
William L. Welch
Gortner

To the Editor:

Every year the U.S. produces over 100 billion beverage containers. The vast majority of these are used once and then buried or burned. Thirty years ago, over 90 percent of soda bottles were distributed and reused through a deposit program, commonly known as the Bottle Bill. Acknowledged to be the most effective recycling law in the country, nine states that have enacted the Bottle Bill are responsible for the lion's share of our nation's recycling.

According to the most recent polls, over 70 percent of the public supports passage of a national Bottle Bill. Deposits are a proven mechanism for reducing our state's solid waste problem, reducing litter, saving energy and natural resources, and reducing the pollution associated with the mining and production of disposal products, all at no cost to the taxpayer.

On Earth Day, April 22, the National Bottle Bill will be introduced in the Congress. Bolstered by President Clinton's campaign promise to enact the measure, it is time to see this common sense measure become law of the land.

It won't be easy. When the Bottle Bill came up for a committee vote in the Congress last year, those who failed to support the bill received 250 times the amount of anti-recycling PAC dollars as did those who voted for the proposal.

Senator Sarbanes has not yet indicated his position on this measure. Let's make sure our Senators and Representatives voice support for this common sense and very popular measure.

Sincerely,
Christina Mastroianni
Campaign Director

And now, for something completely different

Awake to the sunbeams full in the face, stretch, throw off the thin sheet you have used as a coverlet during the temperate night and pull on comfortable shorts and a crisp clean t-shirt... head outside and risk a barb in the foot by taking a quick hare-toed walk by the barberry bush to grab a look at the crimson verberna blooming nearby... breathe in the fine scent of tender grass just mown and listen to the clamor of children's voices as it reverberates throughout the neighborhood and flies by on the imagined wings of bicycles thrill the kids by telling them to get swimsuits and towels for an excursion to the beach and load the car with sand pails, shovels, and inflatable rafts... giggle unavoidably at the feel of sand under your feet, hard but shifting ever so slightly, resembling in color the blond flyaway hair of a toddler standing uneasily at the water's edge... watch the youngsters romp in the waves and jump in the water yourself to erase the oppressiveness of the day's heat.

Experience the prickling perspiration on your upper lip as you take the sizzling day's first cold drink of tart lemonade... hide an extra sweetroll in the picnic lunch for your little girl or boy who is off to explore the great outdoors about a block from the house... stand in the afternoon-warm grass in your bare feet and choose which roses to clip to grace the table with nature's splendid hues... heat the grill and mold handfuls of cold hamburger into sizable patties while someone else shucks the sweet corn picked just an hour before... serve the kids their supper while talking with your mate and steal a kiss behind the refrigerator door... play a clumsy game of badminton and spend 20 minutes getting the birdie off the roof while unmercifully ribbing the guilty contender... sip cool wine on the porch with friends while the lightning bugs appear, disappear, appear, disappear, and the bats dive and roll while the television sits in the dark, pleasantly neglected... Call in the dirty-kneed kids and send them to the tub despite their sleepy protests that they are not tired yet, employing the "but it's still light out" argument... slip on a sweatshirt to stave off the cooling air as twilight drifts through the fading orange skies of a departing sun, and wave goodbye to your companions as they head home to their own baths and beds... sit for a while longer mindlessly petting your cat or dog's head and talking into the night with your mate about the laziness of the day or about your upcoming vacation to some national park or other.

Plod up the steps and check on the kids - tuck one's chilly foot back under the sheet... wash the day's grime off your face and stretch out on the cool sheets of your own snug nest... pat your lover's hand as you mumble "good-night" have a good sleep" and drift into a lazy restful slumber.

DAFFODIL DAYS ARE HERE AGAIN! (The skies above are clear again?) Whatever the weather, daffodils are always a cheerful reminder that spring can't be too far away, and 10,000 of the flowers have now arrived and are waiting to be delivered by local American Cancer Society (ACS) volunteers. Every March and April, ACS volunteers from around the nation welcome a deluge of daffodils - literally millions of the dewy-fresh yellow flowers arrive from fields on the West Coast during the last days of winter. Already recognized as harbingers of spring and vibrant symbols of hope, daffodils, and Daffodil Days programs are fast becoming fundraisers par excellence in the cause of cancer control. The local volunteers were on hand this week as the daffodils arrived at Jan Florists in Oakland. The delivery persons will begin their task today and through Saturday. Some of them are shown above, left to right, Sheila Reeves, Connie Margison, Donna Aspinall, Dotie Meadows, Carmen Rosenthal, and Glenda Tichnell. Volunteers not shown are Connie Young, Sandy Flanigan, Dot Lauba, Craig Phillips, Arlene Murray, Nancy Geisler, Lucy Burnett, Pam Snyder, and Sheri Harris. Flowers will be on sale at Marvin's Men's Wear, Jan Florists, Accident Floral, and The Flower Loft, Grantsville.

Compromise Reached On Dump Truck Bill

The Senate Judicial Proceedings Committee has reportedly worked out a compromise with the state's trucking industry that would result in an estimated $28 million savings for the state by making dump trucks less damaging to roadways. The measure would not be fully put into practice, however, for another 20 years.

Senate Bill 871 would allow heavy-duty dump trucks to weigh 70,000 pounds instead of 65,000 pounds, but they would have to be equipped with four axles instead of three in order to more evenly distribute the weight over the wheels, resulting in less damage to roads and bridges. All three-axle trucks registered before June 1994, however, would be allowed to operate at the 65,000 pound limit for the next 20 years since the cost of a dump truck can be as much as $100,000.

Senate Subcommittee Rejects Schaefer's Education Proposal

A Budget and Taxation subcommittee on education and human resources voted to fully fund the $10 million budget for Maryland's Tomorrow, a dropout prevention program, but another Senate subcommittee has rejected a Schaefer administration proposal that would give 200 low-income Baltimore more school children the option to attend private school.

In contrast, House subcommittees voted to approve Governor William Donald Schaefer's school choice proposal but voted to cut $3 million from the Maryland's Tomorrow program.

Opponents of the dropout prevention program have reportedly taken issue with the taxpayers' cost of keeping one student in school ($63,000), while opponents of the school choice program -- which would provide a $2,900 voucher for each student to attend private school -- see it as a drain on public school funds.

House Approves Higher Speed Limit Proposal

The House of Delegates approved a measure last week that would raise the speed limit from 55 to 65 miles per hour on certain rural interstate highways. The measure has been approved by the House of Delegates for the third year in a row but reports indicate it faces an uncertain future in the Senate.

It has also been reported that Governor William Donald Schaefer will veto the bill if it makes its way to his desk. The measure is co-sponsored by District 1-A Delegate George C. Edwards and would allow the State Highway Administration to raise the speed limit on divided highways outside urban areas, including portions of I-70 and I-68 in Western Maryland.

The bill is opposed by those who believe raising the speed limit would increase the number of accidents on the highway, but proponents contend that statistics from other states with higher speed limits indicate just the opposite to be true.

NEIGHBOR HELPING NEIGHBOR - Garrett County is known for its big-hearted citizens and during the recent blizzard neighbor helping neighbor was the norm. Above Joe Ashby Jr. plows the driveway of his good neighbors Bob and Alice Proudfoot. He was not only moving snow, but also large sections of trees that had fallen onto the roof of Mr. Proudfoot's pickup truck. The backhoe belongs to Baltzell Excavating, one of the many private contractors who helped with snow removal. Below, Scott Lewis hand shovels the walk for the Proudfoots who reciprocated the kindness with steaming cups of hot chocolate for the crew (above right). Baltzell worked nearly non-stop this past weekend in his dump truck as a sub-contractor for the State Highway Administration. It was his job to help open Md. Rt. 560. SHA officials commended their sub-contractors for their diligent efforts in helping them keep the roads open. Photos by Pam Ashby

PE Expresses Appreciation To Patient Customers

The Potomac Edison Company recently expressed its appreciation to some 7,200 customers for their cooperation and patience after losing power during a winter storm that moved through the area March 4. Strong, gusting winds, combined with an icy covering on electrical facilities and equipment, caused trees and tree limbs to fall on power lines and customers to lose electric service.

"Potomac Edison thanks our customers for weathering the storm with us with patience and understanding," said Potomac Edison's Western Division Manager Nancy Neff. "We also appreciate the customers who called to notify us of outages in their areas. The cooperation of our customers helped in our efforts to restore power."

Potomac Edison crews from the Western Division, assisted by crews from other areas of the company, worked steadily to bring customers back on line. While most of those who experienced outages were back in service within two days, power was restored to all affected areas by March 7.

"Line crews worked 16-hour days to restore customers' service," explained Neff. "In our area alone, 11 utility poles and eight transformers had to be replaced. In addition, 10 miles of conductor wire was knocked to the ground and had to be replaced."

She added that the line personnel were supported by Engineering and office staff of Potomac Edison, as well as line crews from Monongalia Power Company and contract crews.

The storm caused approximately 9,800 power outages in Potomac Edison's other Maryland service areas: the Western Division in the Frederick area and the Northern Division in the Hagerstown area.

"During an emergency of this type, our crews work with the goal of restoring power safely and in a timely manner," said Neff. "Despite the extensive damage to our electrical system, most of our customers were back in service within two days. We salute our customers for their ability to adapt to conditions brought on by this storm."

Women's Fair: First Major Event Of County's Year Of The Woman

Women of all ages will converge on Garrett Community College next Friday, March 26, for the Women's Fair, which is the first major event of the 1993 Celebration of Garrett County Women. The Fair will begin with registration at 8:30 a.m. in the lobby outside the auditorium and will conclude with a fashion show at 7:30 that evening.

According to Bobby Andersen, chairperson, the event will consist of concurrent sessions, demonstrations, and displays, all addressing concerns and interests of today's women, from teenagers to senior citizens. Concurrent sessions will begin at 9:30 a.m. and continue throughout the day, with planned periods for the demonstrations. Among the presenters will be several well-known authorities in their fields, as well as leaders of community organizations and agencies.

Representatives of local agencies and businesses are planning the demonstrations and displays. Three floral shops will collaborate to demonstrate flower arranging, with Flowers by Webers providing the demonstration in the morning. Jan Florists in the early afternoon, and Accident Floral in the late afternoon. Another cooperative effort will be the demonstration of CPR and Blood Pressure Screening by the Northern and Southern Rescue Squads. A demonstration where participants will receive "mocktails" as samples of non-alcoholic beverages will be given by Bonnie Doerr and Kerrie Margroff of the Garrett County Council on Alcohol and Drug Abuse.

Barbara Pentz of the Literacy Council will demonstrate ways to teach reading, and Irmgard Koscielniak of the Extension Service will show ways to re-use recyclables. Demonstrations of different art forms will be done by Louise Kitzmiller with tile and decorative painting, and Jim McNeil will explore the art of watercolor. A Hands-On Computer demonstration will be provided by members of the American Association of University Women (AAUW) and displays about Hazardous Household Products and the Food We Eat will be presented by the Environmental Safety Office of the Garrett County Health Department.

Demonstrations of equipment used by women volunteers will be given by Becky DeWitt of the Kitzmiller Volunteer Fire Department, and a Fix-It of Minor Household Repairs demo will be presented by employees of Naylor's True Value Hardware.

Pretty Party Platters will be displayed by Sam Butler, head of the GCC Food Service, and Cake Decorating will be given by Donna Werdebaugh, instructor of Continuing Education courses. In a booth sponsored by Friends of the Ruth Enlow Library, Garrett County women authors will autograph their books.

Other demonstrations will focus on Women's Health Issues by Mikal Moomau of Garrett County Memorial Hospital; Hospital Volunteerism, by Betty Malloy of the VIVA Loan Auxiliary; Voter Registration by the League of Women Voters; Crafts Demonstration by the Cooperative Extension Service; and The Celebration Quilt by the Civic Club of Oakland.

Local Authors To Be Present At Women's Fair

A "Meet the Author" of Garrett County women authors is being sponsored by the Friends of the Ruth Enlow Library at the Women's Fair, to be held at Garrett Community College on March 26. The Fair is an all-day event, 8:30 a.m. to 8:30 p.m., and is in conjunction with the year-long "Celebration of Garrett County Women."

The authors will be available at various times throughout the day to autograph copies of their publications. They will have books for display and sale. Anyone who already has any of their books may bring them to be signed.

Participating authors include Sally Schwing with her book, Do You Think It Snows in Heaven?; Mary I. Love will be signing Once Upon A Mountain Top and The Family Hardware Store; Jane Duclou will have her recipe book, 3 for the Pot; Donna Shaffer Pook will bring her book of poetry, Donna's Poetry Corner; Marian Brock See plans to attend with her book, At the Well; Mary Theresa Webb will present her book, The Tree of Renewed Life; and Martha Kahl will be present with Maryland Garrett County Graves, compiled by her and Alice Proudfoot, published by the Youghiogheny-Glades Chapter of The DAR.

There will be some books on display by other women authors of Garrett County, and some of these women have indicated they may be able to attend.

Fair Offerings, Registration Guidelines Noted

All county residents are invited to attend any or all of the events at the March 26 Women's Fair at Garrett Community College. Persons are encouraged to register for sessions they wish to attend, and are reminded that participant number is limited. Registration will begin at 8:30 a.m. and will continue throughout the day.

There is no cost for any session. The only event of the day that requires a ticket is the fashion show, slated for 7:30 p.m., which will cost $2 per participant. The money will be used to defray the costs of the entire fair, according to a spokesperson.

The schedule of the event is extensive, as several sessions will be presented concurrently. Most sessions will be offered more than once to allow participants to experience as many as necessary. A complete schedule is available at the Ruth Enlow Library, as well as in several area businesses and stores.

Free babysitting will be provided by the women of the Deep Creek Lake Methodist Church in the church building, located at the intersection of Bumble Bee and Mosser Roads. Persons are to call 334-2477 to place reservations for children.

The topics and the persons or organizations presenting them are as follows: Myth Busters, New Horizons, So You Want To Volunteer, B. Newcomb and L. Grant, Protecting Yourself, Lt. Paul Pratt, Women in Sports, Kathy Johnson, Careers In Art, Laura Stutzman, Exercise Can Be Fun, Brenda Bronnihan, Goal Setting for Teens, Ellen Durr, Expanding Your Wardrobe, Amy Rudy, Car Care, Floyd Baker, So You Think You've Come a Long Way Baby, Health Dept., Alternatives to College, Anna Bishop.

How Do I Know What I Want To Be, Manning Smith; It's My Life, Dr. Mikal Crawford, Know Your Color, Delores Raynovich, Fating Well Can Be Fun, Dr. Jeanna Anliker; Mother and Daughter Relationships, Hannah Sincell and Mary McEwen, College is Affordable, Crystal Filer-Ogden, Making Choices: Handling Pressure, Jay Cross; Careers in Banking, Wayne Johnson; Surviving Domestic Milestones, Irmgard Koscielniak; Women in Stress, Charlotte Bock; Marriage and Careers, Norma Bolding; Personal Decisions, Leigh Knotts; Parenting Dos and Don'ts, Dr. Billie Frazier.

Survival as a Caretaker, Irmgard Koscielniak, Try On a New Hat, New Horizons; Putting Your Best Foot Forward in an Interview, Lynne Glatfely; 50 Years Ago in Garrett County, Carol Brown; Emergency Preparedness, Beachy and Burnett, Women, Drugs, and Alcohol in the '90's, Jay Cross; The Gender Gap at the Dinner Table, Anne Sherrard; Using the Gender Gap to Your Advantage, Dr. Barbara Leighton; De-Parenting Your Adult Child, I. Koscielniak; and You Too Can Have a Green Thumb, Julie Eyer.

For more information, persons may contact Bobby Andersen at 334-4459 or Martha Jachowski at 387-6659.

Numerous Topics To Be Covered At Women's Fair

Topics ranging from self-protection to expanding a wardrobe and gardening to college alternatives will be offered at the Women's Fair, scheduled for March 26 at Garrett Community College. The day of events is open to all county women and men. Various sessions will be held throughout the day with registering areas opening at 8:30 a.m. and remaining open all day. Session participation is limited, so persons are advised to register as early as possible.

Lt. Paul Pratt of the Garrett County Sheriff's Office will present "How To Protect Yourself," geared toward all women, from teenagers to the retired. Women are often physically vulnerable and the officer will be explaining useful protection techniques to avoid or escape threatening situations. This session will be offered four times to afford participants several opportunities to attend.

Amy Rudy from Rudy's Department Store will present "Expanding Your Wardrobe," offering several helpful

Professional Women To Be Guests At Fair

Dr. Mikal Crawford

Among the presenters for the many sessions scheduled during the Women's Fair at Garrett Community College March 26 are three women, all holding doctor's degrees, who are recognized authorities in their professional fields. They are Dr. Mikal Crawford, counseling psychologist at Frostburg State University; Dr. Billie Frazier, human development specialist from the University of Maryland; and Dr. Barbara Leighton, anesthesiologist and associate professor at Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia.

Dr. Mikal Crawford, will conduct a double session titled "It's My Life. Taking Charge Means Letting Go." This session will show how women need to ignore the messages and the old traditional expectations associated with their roles and do some self-nurturing.

"As women we learn from an early age to take care of others, put their needs ahead of our own and pay more attention to the external environment than to our inner voices. We become quite skilled at 'doing,' and we equate our worth with the amount we have accomplished - the number of tasks we have accomplished and the extent to which others in our worlds are content, very often at the expense of our own physical and emotional well-being. We simply do not treat ourselves as well as we treat the rest of the world," Dr. Crawford said.

The workshop will challenge the notion that women must "do" in order to be worthwhile. Participants will look at the difference between "human doing" and "human being" and de-bunk the myth that "self-care" means being selfish. Women will explore the setting of healthy boundaries for themselves and learn to let go of dysfunctional messages and directives from the past which keep them locked into a "doing" mode.

All those good women standing shoulder to shoulder, making sure the knot's tied in a mighty public way.

Dr. Barbara Leighton

"Rather than deferring to others in all situations, we will explore ways of treating ourselves as well as we treat our friends and other loved ones," Dr. Crawford stated. "Rather than simply learning techniques for managing our stress, we will address ways to take charge of our lives and choose for ourselves the level of stress we will accept."

Dr. Crawford, who taught in Garrett County elementary schools for five years before leaving to pursue her graduate education, holds a master's degree in counseling psychology from Frostburg State University and a doctorate from West Virginia University. She is the mother of two daughters, Erin and Katie McLaughlin, and the daughter of Joan and Bill Crawford, Deep Creek Lake.

Dr. Billie Frazier, human development specialist from the Cooperative Extension Service, University of Maryland in College Park, will present a session titled "Parenting Dos and Don'ts." Dr. Frazier, a certified family life educator, has developed and implemented many parent education programs and authored numerous publications on parenting.

Her presentation will show parents what they need to know about the basic emotional needs of children and how they can help their children grow up to be healthy, confident, and skilled. She will give parents ideas to try at home, including showing love, having fun, building trust, raising "can do" children, and helping children to like themselves.

In addition to her extensive work in family education, Dr. Frazier is an avid genealogist who has recently completed a five-year family history project. Prior to her appointment in Maryland, she held academic appointments with the College of William and Mary, Auburn University, the University of Houston, and Sam Houston State University.

Dr. Barbara Leighton, anesthesiologist and associate professor at Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia, will present a session at the Women's Fair titled "Making the Gender Gap Work For You." The focus of the presentation will be women succeeding in male-dominated professions.

A native of Garrett County, Dr. Leighton graduated from Southern High School and went on to receive a degree in chemistry from Princeton University and medical degree from Johns Hopkins School of Medicine. Asco-director of the Section of Obstetric Anesthesia in the Thomas Jefferson University Hospital, she is administratively responsible for overseeing the work of a number of surgeons, mostly male. She has published numerous articles in medical journals and reviews and has lectured widely at medical conferences and universities on obstetric anesthesiology.

As a mother with a child in day care, Dr. Leighton has represented working mothers on television programs in the Philadelphia area. Her means of transportation to work is calculated to appeal to thoroughly modern young women as well as to physical fitness buffs. Frequently, she roller-blades to work, delivering her daughter, helmet and all, to the day care center on her way.

In addition to her impressive career in anesthesiology, Dr. Leighton is a fully certified professional organizer and plans to pursue this second career when she retires from the medical profession.

Dr. Leighton is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Herbert Leighton of Oakland.

Diverse Sessions, Workshops To Be Offered At Fair

Carol Brown

"The concurrent sessions scheduled for the Women's Fair at Garrett Community College are as varied as the women they have been planned to attract. We have tried to find subjects that will appeal to all ages and types of women - students, homemakers, career women, caregivers, volunteers, parents, grandparents," states Martha Jachowski, president of the Women's Civic Club which is coordinating the Fair.

Three sessions will be conducted by Irmgard Koscielniak, senior agent and home economist for the Cooperative Extension Service. In her present position, Ms. Koscielniak gives frequent workshops and in-service training on human and family development subjects, as well as on family financial management.

"Surviving Domestic Milestones" will show how all three distinctive stages in a woman's life can be positive growing experiences. "De-Parenting Your Adult Child" will show how to make a positive experience of the bitter-sweet love affair that occurs when an adult child moves back home. "Survival as a Caretaker" will explore warning signs of "burn out" that occur for caregivers of elderly family members and preventive measures that can be taken.

Carol Brown of the Garrett County Health Department will present a workshop titled "So You Think You've Come a Long Way Baby," which will show how women are affected by tobacco advertising and will give them an opportunity to express their real feelings about cigarette smoking through the creation of a video ad or poster.

Jay Cross, also of the Garrett County Health Department, will present two sessions, one titled "Women and Drugs in the '90's" dealing with ways women can cope with drug and alcohol related problems, and the other geared for teenagers titled "Making Choices - How to Handle Pressures of Drugs and Alcohol."

Barbara Frey and Sue Sines of the New Horizons Program at Garrett Community College will present two workshops, one named "Mythbusters" which will encourage young women to consider careers in traditionally male trades, and the other titled "Try on a New Hat" that will present non-traditional occupational choices for women and the financial benefits they present. Lynne Glatfely of the Job Placement Center at GCC will present a workshop titled "Putting Your Best Foot Forward" dealing with successful interview techniques calculated to get the job.

A practical workshop for all women who drive will be conducted by Floyd Baker and Tom Powers. "Car Care" will present everything women need to know about taking care of their cars.

Many other topics will be addressed in the concurrent sessions that will begin at 9:30 a.m. and conclude at 6:15 p.m. Following the sessions, a Fashion Show will be presented in the auditorium by Rudy's Department Store, Dee Ann's Apparel, and Flinn's Family Store. There will be a $2 admission charge for the Fashion Show.

Leigh Knotts To Speak About Communication

Leigh Knotts will present the session, "Women's Language, a Factor in Personnel Decisions," at the March 26 Women's Fair.

Miss Knotts, a 1987 graduate of Southern High School, won a national award for her college research paper. She was interviewed by CNN-TV concerning her research and is presently completing a master's degree in psychology at Loyola College in Baltimore.

Her discussion will help participants be aware of differences in men's and women's language in the work place and how those differences affect personnel decisions.

tips and clothing ideas. Julie Eyer will be on hand to offer a session titled "You Too Can Have a Green Thumb," exploring the art of flower and garden growing. Anna Bishop will present a session, "Alternatives to College." Having researched the topic extensively, Miss Bishop will provide current information on the topic for both students and parents.

Hannah Sincell and daughter Mary McEwen will conduct a discussion on "Mothers and Daughters -

Changes to women as to men, must be a luxury, and a necessity an incident of life, not all of it. And the only possible way to accomplish this great change is to award to women equal power in the making, shaping, and controlling of the circumstances of life.

Lynda R. Kuhn Weds Mark Ford In Double-Ring, Candlelight Event

Lynda Renae Kahn and Mark Allen Ford were united in marriage July 3, 1992.

The double-ring candlelight ceremony took place at the White United Methodist Church with the Rev. Kenneth Montgomery officiating.

This bride is the daughter of Louise Burger and James Kuhn, Mt. Storm. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ford, Oakland.

Given in marriage by her parents and escorted to the altar by her father, the bride chose a gown of ivory satin and lace with a pearl-embellished neckline and puffed sleeves. The full-length skirt was accented with a large center back bow and an extended chapel train. The veil consisted of ivory Alencon lace with pearl accents. The bride carried a cascading bouquet of red, white, and blue carnations with pearl accents and baby's breath.

Serving as maid of honor was Erica Wolfe, Mt. Storm. Bridesmaids were Cheryl Bray, Kitzmiller; Dawn Tichnell, Swanton; and Wanda Poland, Keyser, W. Va. All were friends of the bride. They were dressed in royal blue satin, tea-length gowns with matching accessories.

ing ivory tie and cummerbund.

Serving as best man was Kenny Paugh, Mt. Storm. Groomsmen were Scott Kuhn, Mt. Storm, brother of the bride; Marcus Wilson, Accident; and Michael Kitzmiller, Mt. Storm, W. Va. All were friends of the bride and groom. They were suited in black tuxedos with red ties and cummerbunds.

Flower girl was Megan Hoff and ring bearer was Christopher Hoff, both relatives of the groom.

Soloists were Gloria George who sang Everything I Do, I Do For You and Misty Comer singing The Rose. Pianists were Gloria George and Melanie Bonner.

To conclude the ceremony, the couple's daughter, Kristian Marie, was presented to them by the bride's mother. Rev. Montgomery then introduced the Ford family to friends and relatives.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the American Legion, Oakland. The decor consisted of red, white and blue table and balloon centerpieces, courtesy of the Party House, Oakland. The three-tier wedding cake featured a lighted fountain with four satellite cakes, adorned by white staircases with bridal party figurines. The cake was served by Evelyn Hawk, Mt. Storm; and the food was served by Kimberly Fridley, Mt. Storm; both friends of the bride.

The wedding and reception were photographed by Judy Wilt, Oakland. Music was provided by Half Angel, a local band.

For their honeymoon, the couple took a trip to Uniontown, Pa.

The bride is a graduate of Union High School, Mt. Storm, and is employed at the VFW Post 6735 in Mt. Storm. The groom is a graduate of Delaware High School, Delaware and is employed at Bausch & Lomb, Oakland.

The bride was given a surprise shower by the bridesmaids. The couple now reside in Mt. Storm.

OLEN RICHARD DURST
Olen Richard Durst, 70, Salisbury, Pa., died Monday, March 15, 1993, at Meyersdale Community Hospital.

Born November 28, 1922, in Garrett County, he was a son of Lettie (Jennings) Durst, Salisbury, and the late William Henry Durst.

He was employed as a carpenter and mechanic for McIlwain School Bus Lines, Johnstown, Pa. He was a U.S. Army veteran of World War II and was a member of the Salisbury American Legion.

Survivors include his wife, Julia (Walla) Durst, three daughters, Judith Melton and Cheryl Rounda, both of Vienna, Va.; Pamela Housel, Salisbury; three brothers, Lester, Robert and Roy Durst, all of Salisbury; two sisters, Mary Alice Beitzel, Salisbury; and Bettie Moser, Severna Park; and two grandchildren.

Friends were received at the Newman Funeral Home, Grantsville, where a service was conducted Wednesday at 11 a.m. with the Rev. Alan Kauffman officiating. Interment was in the Durst Cemetery.

EARL GLASS JR.
Earl Glass Jr., 66, Oakland, died Sunday, March 14, 1993, at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, Oakland.

Born March 24, 1926, in Accident, he was the son of the late Ernest and Ruth (Kolb) Glass.

Mr. Glass was a member of the Board of Directors of Youth for Christ. He was a U.S. Navy veteran of World War II and was a self-employed carpenter and wood worker.

Survivors include his wife, Hazel Mae (Miller) Glass; three brothers, Gerald Glass, Accident; Dale Glass, Grantsville; and Elwood Glass, LaVale; and a number of nieces and nephews.

At Mr. Glass's request, a memorial service will be held Tuesday, March 23, 1993, at Deep Creek Baptist Church at 7:30 p.m. with the Rev. Donald Wilson officiating.

A private interment will be held at Thayerville Cemetery, Deep Creek Lake.

The family requests that contributions to either Southern Garrett Rescue Squad or Deep Creek Baptist Church.

The Newman Funeral Home is in charge of the arrangements.

Class On Personal Selling Scheduled
A new class designed to help increase effectiveness in personal selling is scheduled in April at Garrett Community College. This class will deal with: learning to sell in a systematic manner; handling customers effectively; and developing skills in closing sales.

The class will meet on four consecutive Thursdays, April 1-22, from 6:15 to 9:30 p.m. at the McHenry Campus. Anyone wishing to register for this course or obtain additional information should call Sandy Major at the Small Business Development Center at 387-6666, ext. 180.

Fourth Community Lenten Service To Be Held Mar. 24
The fourth in a series of Wednesday evening Lenten services planned by Oakland area clergy and sponsored by the Mtn. Top Ministerial Association will be held on March 24 at St. Peter's Catholic Church, Oakland.

The service will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Guest preacher for Wednesday's service will be the Rev. William "Chip" Lee, Pastor of St. Matthew's Episcopal Church, Oakland, and St. John's Episcopal Church, Deer Park. In keeping with choosing a specific theme for the series of Lenten services, the ministerial group has chosen the "I Am" saying of Jesus from the Gospel according to St. John. Father Lee's sermon will be based on "I am the good shepherd," John 10:11.

On the following Wednesday evening - March 31 - the service will be held at St. Paul's United Methodist Church in Oakland. Guest preacher for the service will be the Rev. Mark Hickman, pastor of Bethel United Methodist Church, Mtn. Lake Park.

DEAD ENDS WERE NUMEROUS in Garrett County this week, as roadways were buried in with nearly three feet of snow. Road crews have worked around the clock since the storm began last Friday night, trying to keep the main roads open. They lost several battles during the storm, but appear to have won the war, as over 90 percent of the local roads were open as of last night. Pictured above is a segment of New Germany Road completely blocked. Below, a crew works at the intersection of U.S. 68 and Chestnut Ridge Road near Grantville.

Winter Blizzard

Discussions of possible state and federal assistance and clean-up strategies were conducted Monday at the Garrett County Courthouse.

On hand for that meeting were Paul Shurick, the governor's chief of staff, Major General James Fretterd, adjutant general with the Maryland National Guard, MEMA Director David McMillion, General Thomas Baker, assistant adjutant for the U.S. Army, Col. Warner Sumpter, Captain Richard Wakefield, Company "C," Md. National Guard; Garrett County Administrator Robert J. Fousek Sr., County Commissioner Brenda J. Butcher, Brad Frantz, director of Garrett County Emergency Management; Gary Mullich, director of General Services; Terry Spear, county roads traffic and safety director; Butch Smith, county roads Oakland area supervisor; Sheriff M. Van Evans, and Oakland Mayor McCain.

Frantz told The Republican Newspaper that there were very few fire and ambulance calls during the storm. "Those we did have were very few and were aptly coordinated by the Department of Natural Resources Rescue Team," he stated.

"Most citizens were completely cooperative during the storm," he said, "which makes our job, as well as law enforcement and road clean-up, so much easier. Clearing private driveways was not a priority, nor a responsibility, of the municipalities, the county, or the state, except in cases of emergencies or to provide emergency fuel."

Frantz said the number of calls to Emergency Management were tripled during the storm and clean-up period. He expected the emergency declaration to be lifted today.

County Roads Administrator Bob Fousek said Wednesday that the cost of the storm for the county will be between $300,000 and $400,000 over budgeted road maintenance. That figure represents about two percent of the overall county roads budget.

Fousek does feel confident that the county will be able to recoup some of those monies. Word was received earlier in the week that the three westernmost counties in the state would likely be at least partially reimbursed - up to 75% of the unbudgeted money the storm required for additional services, equipment, manpower, and supplies.

The administrator added that auditors from FEMA will be sent from Philadelphia to assess the situation and to obtain documentation of expenditures for determination of what will be eligible for federal assistance.

"We haven't required that much manpower since 1974," said Fousek. "We had an unusually high amount of snowfall in February which already started to put us over budget. State and federal assistance will be greatly appreciated."

Fousek outlined the priority plowing plan during a winter storm. "We naturally begin with primary county roads, then secondary roads followed by dead ends (where school buses must turn around), then school parking lots, dump sites, and the county airport."

Fousek had high praise for the county road supervisors and their crews. He also recognized the mechanics and support staff for their behind-the-scenes efforts. Additionally, he commended Paul McIntyre and the SHA crews and Capt. Rick Wakefield and the National Guard for their assistance to the county. He also praised the emergency crews, police, and citizens for their cooperation.

"Our goal now is to get the roads widened out," he concluded. "And I'm hoping our day shift can go home today (Wednesday) - not from a financial standpoint, but rather from a physical and mental perspective. These crews are exhausted."

Fousek appeared to be exhausted himself on Wednesday.

Garrett County Commissioner Brenda J. Butcher commented Wednesday on the situation after she had spent the weekend and following clean-up days in near constant contact with Fousek regarding the storm.

"Everyone worked well together. I certainly know that our county was organized and ready to handle such an emergency, but everyone went above and beyond their call of duty," she stated. "There is no way to express my thanks to the Garrett County Roads Department, the National Guard, SHA, the Department of Natural Resources, our own Emergency Management team, and the many residents who just pitched in and helped in any way they could."

Capt. Rick Wakefield also had high praise for municipal, county and state roads crews, as well as for his own crews and crews from downstate.

"These people, along with the DNR emergency crews, Emergency Management, police, rescue squads, and individual citizens went the extra mile to get the county back on its feet," he stated. "We should be pretty well back to normal by Thursday."

He credited the success of the operation to citizens heeding the early warnings of the blizzard.

Grocery stores in the area reported record or near-record sales Friday as citizens prepared for the storm.

"When I went to the store late on Friday, there was one loaf of bread and one can of soup on the shelves," said a Mtn. Lake Park woman. "But everyone was calm. There wasn't a feeling of panic."

Similarly, many other stores reported record sales of candles, lamp oil, kerosene, and the like. Also, a great number of books were borrowed from the local libraries and scores of video tapes were rented Friday in anticipation of the storm.

Conversely, Monday sales were way down for the businesses that were able to open. Most state and county offices were closed on Monday.

Charlotte Bock, speaking on behalf of Garrett County Memorial Hospital, said the hospital operated at near normal levels.

"We have very dedicated employees," she said. "Many stayed over or worked double shifts. It was a very cooperative effort. I had forgotten how people pull together in this type of situation."

Bock also praised the efforts of local and visiting roads crews, police, and emergency crews.

Life is finally returning to normal in Garrett County and students can attest to that as schools re-opened today. One little girl remarked, "I'm glad there's school. I've got houseosis."

Board Hears

random from the Maryland State Board of Education which directed him to discontinue the sale of any carbonated beverage, including naturally flavored carbonated water. The U.S. Department of Agriculture has classified the drink as a "food of minimal nutritional value," and so it must not be sold. However, the director is allowed to continue selling plain bottled water.

"That doesn't make any sense," commented one student. Buckingham said he had to do what the state directed him to do.

Amy Rice, a Southern student, asked the board if an SAT (Standardized Achievement Test) class could be offered at the high schools. She explained that college acceptance is highly dependent on SAT scores, and that students who have received training in taking the tests usually obtain higher scores. Rysavage asked if there wasn't already a class in place, and the students said that there was a class that met 10 times per year, but that it had been canceled several times because of weather. A regularly-scheduled class would better serve the need, the students said.

Hannah Sincell, board member, said she was disturbed by the need of a class to simply study test-taking, and that the students should be ready for the test just through their daily learning. Others in attendance were quick to answer that although the idea of a class centered on test-taking may be bothersome, studies have indicated that students who have these classes do indeed improve their scores. The students added that higher SAT scores will help them get scholarships and grants, as well as aid them in acceptance to the colleges they wish to attend.

Students from Southern Middle School asked why they were not allowed to attend a movie as an incentive for students. The advisor explained that the students who had shown marked improvement had been told they may take a field trip to see "The Last of the Mohicans." The board denied the request, however, because the movie was rated "R" or restricted. The rating is apparently based on the violence in the film. The advisors had chosen the movie because of its historical nature.

THE BEST VARSITY RECORD among the area's high school girls varsity squads this year was recorded by the Southern High School Rams, coached by Don Stemple. Although the Rams did not advance in the regional and state tournament, they still finished the 1992-93 campaign with a 15-5 record and are thus recognized as the area's best team. Among their achievements this season were capturing the Snowflake Tournament title and Garrett County title. They were also the area's top foul shooting team and were led by the area's leading scorer, Carrie Newcomb. All but one of the players (Ingrid Carlson) will return next season. Seated left to right above are: Becky Slagle, Staci Kiser, and Aaron Buser. Standing same order are: Coach Ken McLaughlin, Jose Coviello, Jenny Wilson, Carrie Newcomb, Ingrid Carlson, and Coach Stemple. Not present for the photo was Coach Jane Wildesen.

Rysavage suggested that an alternative incentive be chosen, as many parents would object to a trip to the movie theatre, especially to see an R-rated film.

Mrs. Murphy suggested at the end of the meeting that the next time students attend a board meeting that high school students come to one meeting and middle school students come to another to allow more time for each to air their concerns.

CAPTURING TWO FIRST PLACES at the Randolph County Wrestling Tournament in Elkins, W.Va., on Saturday was Eric Rexrode, of the Southern Mat Club, pictured above left. Rexrode, who has a season record of 29-9, won both the 80- and 90-pound division titles. Below, local grappler Geoffrey Tressler controls his opponent in a 60-pound bout. Tressler, whose personal mark this year is 33-8, won second place in his division at the Randolph County tourney. Other Southern Mat Club members competing in the tournament were: Scott Wildesen, first place, 45-pound; Jay Kight, third place, 175-pound; and Jack Kight, fourth place, 175-pound. The Southern Club, coached by Dave Sines, has competed in 13 tournaments this year and will participate in the Middle Atlantic Wrestling Association District Qualifying Tournament this weekend at Shepherd College, Shepherdstown, W.Va. The top three finishers in each division there will advance to the Western Regional Tournament at Millersville State College, Pa., on April 9-10.

Annual Shrine Circus Coming To Frostburg

The Annual Ali Ghan Shrine Circus will again appear at Frostburg State University, Saturday, March 27. Performances are set for 2 p.m. and 7 p.m.

Advance sale tickets can be purchased from any Shriner, or at Marvin's Men's Wear in Oakland.

The Circus this year is celebrating the 200th Anniversary of the American Circus. George Washington attended Rickett's Circus in Philadelphia in 1793. In commemoration of this event, the U.S. Postal Service will issue four special Circus Stamps in April of this year. With the Shrine Circus, there will be a blend of aerial, animal and acrobatic acts, updated, but still in line with what President Washington witnessed.

Baron Julius Von Uhl from Hungary will enter the big steel arena with his friendly comedy lions. The Great Felines, much to the delight of animal conservationists, will be put through their paces without the use of a gun, chair, or whip. Julius is a firm believer that valuable animals must be trained like a child, with patience and kindness.

Two proud performing pachyderms, Angel and Zoey, will be on hand under the direction of Larry Records. All Circus elephants are called "Bulls" even though most are females.

Canines, comedy trapeze, Pino the European Clown, Jackie Marsola's Aerial Ballet, plus ramp to ramp BMX Bike Wonders of the Saucedos, plus many other great attractions will round out the Big Show. For further information persons may call 301-777-5276.

SHS Class Of '78 Reunion Set; Alumni Sought

Members of the Southern High School class of 1978 are currently planning their 15th year reunion, to be held on June 26 at Uno's Restaurant, Deep Creek Lake. While the majority of the members have been contacted about the event, organizers are still seeking the addresses of several classmates.

Additional persons sought are Amanda Coe, Barbara

Doss, Phillip Lewis, Rodney McMillan, Maria Moreland, Anthony Roberts, and Donna Tasker.

Any person who may know the address or phone number of any of these classmates is urged to contact either Teresa Castiel Wolf at 334-8332, or Diane Gney Donham at 334-4164. There are answering machines at both numbers and callers with information are advised to leave messages if there is no answer.

Sarbanes Praises President For Relief Assistance

Senator Paul Sarbanes this week praised President Clinton's swift approval of Maryland's request for emergency snow removal assistance to deal with the effects of the storm that hit Maryland and other Eastern states last weekend.

"The assistance approved today is badly needed for the massive effort to clear major public roads throughout our State and to provide necessary Federal support for the state and local efforts to deal with the effects of this severe snowfall," Sarbanes said

Tuesday. "This was one of the worst winter storms to hit the region in many years and I am relieved that our state's request for assistance will be provided in a timely manner which will help us alleviate the effects of the storm."

The federal emergency snow removal assistance approved today will provide reimbursement of 75 percent of the snow removal costs necessary to open access for emergency vehicles to collector roads and principal and minor arteries. The remaining 25 percent is provided by the state and affected local governments. Assistance is provided to States and localities for their own work forces or contract efforts.

In response to the heavy snow, sleet, and hail, Governor

William Donald Schaefer declared a state of emergency throughout the state. On Monday, the governor submitted a formal request for assistance under Section 501 of the Stafford Disaster Relief and Emergency Act. Senator Sarbanes was joined Tuesday by other members of the Maryland delegation as he urged the president to approve the governor's request. "I am pleased that the president acted so quickly to provide this needed assistance," Sarbanes stated.

April Fool's 5k Pancake Run Set For April 3

The April Fool's Pancake 5k 3.1 mile Fun Run and 1-mile Fun Walk, sponsored by the Garrett Sports League, will be held Saturday, April 3, at the Wisp Ski resort, McHenry.

Registration for the race will be from 7 to 9 a.m., with the run and walk beginning at 8:30 a.m. Breakfast will be served at 9:15 a.m. The course will be out-and-back, over flats and rolling hills. The race registration fee is $6.00, which includes a pancake breakfast. Awards will be given to the top male and female finishers.

For more information or an entry form, persons may contact the Garrett Sports League, P.O. Box 52, Oakland, MD 21550. For information on this and other events, persons may also contact the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council, Courthouse, 200 South Third Street, Oakland, MD 21550-1581; telephone 301-334-1948.

THE BEST VARSITY RECORD among the area's high school girls varsity squads this year was recorded by the Southern High School Rams, coached by Don Stemple. Although the Rams did not advance in the regional and state tournament, they still finished the 1992-93 campaign with a 15-5 record and are thus recognized as the area's best team. Among their achievements this season were capturing the Snowflake Tournament title and Garrett County title. They were also the area's top foul shooting team and were led by the area's leading scorer, Carrie Newcomb. All but one of the players (Ingrid Carlson) will return next season. Seated left to right above are: Becky Slagle, Staci Kiser, and Aaron Buser. Standing same order are: Coach Ken McLaughlin, Jose Coviello, Jenny Wilson, Carrie Newcomb, Ingrid Carlson, and Coach Stemple. Not present for the photo was Coach Jane Wildesen.

CATCHES 254 LB. MARLIN—While vacationing in Acapulco, Mexico, Penny Friend Bathum, former Garrett County resident, reeled in a 254 pound, 10-foot, 3-inch marlin while deep sea fishing in the Pacific Ocean. It took the petite Mrs. Bathum one hour and 45 minutes with help from others on board The Oscar to get the fish out of the water. Penny, her husband Judge Rick Bathum, and sons Willie and John, reside in Enumclaw, Washington. She is the daughter of Bud and Bernadine Friend, Friendsville.

Board Hears

Rysavage suggested that an alternative incentive be chosen, as many parents would object to a trip to the movie theatre, especially to see an R-rated film.

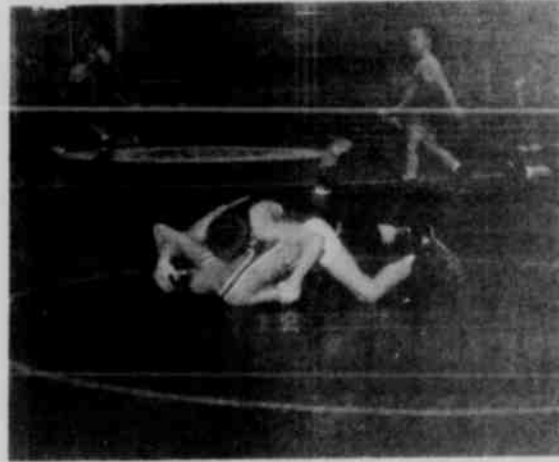

Mrs. Murphy suggested at the end of the meeting that the next time students attend a board meeting that high school students come to one meeting and middle school students come to another to allow more time for each to air their concerns.

Service Learning Proposal

The recent mandate from the state education board that requires all students to perform 75 hours of community service was a topic of discussion among board members and the superintendent. A planning group composed of parents, students, community representatives, teachers, and school administrators met for several hours to create a proposal to meet this requirement, and the proposal was presented to the board.

CAPTURING TWO FIRST PLACES at the Randolph County Wrestling Tournament in Elkins, W.Va., on Saturday was Eric Rexrode, of the Southern Mat Club, pictured above left. Rexrode, who has a season record of 29-9, won both the 80- and 90-pound division titles. Below, local grappler Geoffrey Tressler controls his opponent in a 60-pound bout. Tressler, whose personal mark this year is 33-8, won second place in his division at the Randolph County tourney. Other Southern Mat Club members competing in the tournament were: Scott Wildesen, first place, 45-pound; Jay Kight, third place, 175-pound; and Jack Kight, fourth place, 175-pound. The Southern Club, coached by Dave Sines, has competed in 13 tournaments this year and will participate in the Middle Atlantic Wrestling Association District Qualifying Tournament this weekend at Shepherd College, Shepherdstown, W.Va. The top three finishers in each division there will advance to the Western Regional Tournament at Millersville State College, Pa., on April 9-10.

The planning group suggested that 30 hours of the community service be completed during middle school years through special programs and classes. The three objectives of the program are to help students Prepare, Act, and Reflect. Each activity may meet one or all three of these objectives.

Ten hours of preparation and reflection may be obtained in both the sixth and eighth grades through the school's Quest program (skills for adolescents) with a total of 20 hours; one hour of preparation and reflection through the DARE program; and three hours of action in each grade through the Interdisciplinary Team with a total of nine.

The students may then complete 45 hours in high school, the group recommended, through the ninth grade civics class, with the equivalent of 5 hours of preparation and reflection; the student service alliance in grades 10-12 and individual, group, school or community service projects in grades 9-12 covering all three objects and totaling 40 hours. The group recommended no fewer than 10 hours per year in high school.

The ninth graders for 1993 will have a phase-in of the hours, as they will be approximately 30 hours behind.

The board will further discuss the new mandate.

Annual Shrine Circus Coming To Frostburg

The Annual Ali Ghan Shrine Circus will again appear at Frostburg State University, Saturday, March 27. Performances are set for 2 p.m. and 7 p.m.

Advance sale tickets can be purchased from any Shriner, or at Marvin's Men's Wear in Oakland.

The Circus this year is celebrating the 200th Anniversary of the American Circus. George Washington attended Rickett's Circus in Philadelphia in 1793. In commemoration of this event, the U.S. Postal Service will issue four special Circus Stamps in April of this year. With the Shrine Circus, there will be a blend of aerial, animal and acrobatic acts, updated, but still in line with what President Washington witnessed.

Baron Julius Von Uhl from Hungary will enter the big steel arena with his friendly comedy lions. The Great Felines, much to the delight of animal conservationists, will be put through their paces without the use of a gun, chair, or whip. Julius is a firm believer that valuable animals must be treated like a child, with patience and kindness.

Two proud performing pachyderms, Angel and Zoey, will be on hand under the direction of Larry Records. All Circus elephants are called "Bulls" even though most are females.

Canines, comedy trapeze, Pino the European Clown, Jackie Marsola's Aerial Ballet, plus ramp to ramp BMX Bike Wonders of the Saucedos, plus many other great attractions will round out the Big Show. For further information persons may call 301-777-5276.

ACADEMIC ATHLETES HONORED - Several athletes at Southern High School who have maintained high standards in their academic endeavors were honored recently with Principal's Awards and Minds in Motion certificates. Those cheerleaders recognized for their academic success with the Principal's Award are shown above. In the second row, same order, are Meghan Price, Vicki Donham, Wendy Craver, Amy Rice, and Crystal Giofletty. Those receiving Minds in Motion certificates for academic excellence are pictured above right and below. In the photo above right are athletes in boys' basketball and wrestling. In the first row, left to right, are Brian Reams, Scott Blythe, and Aaron Chorpren. In the back, same order, are Kevin Andrews (wrestling), Brian Carleton, and Joe Tuomisto. In the photo below are members of the girls' basketball team who were recognized for their efforts. In the front row, left to right, are Angela Shaffer, Staci Kliner, Aaron Buser, and Miranda Marple. In the back row, same order, are Kristi Stemple, Carrie Newcomb, Ingrid Carleton, Emily Friend, and Nicole Bosley.

SHS Class Of '78 Reunion Set; Alumni Sought

Members of the Southern High School class of 1978 are currently planning their 15th year reunion, to be held on June 26 at Uno's Restaurant, Deep Creek Lake. While the majority of the members have been contacted about the event, organizers are still seeking the addresses of several classmates.

Any person who may know the address or phone number of any of these classmates is urged to contact either Teresa Castiel Wolf at 334-8332, or Diane Gney Donham at 334-4164. There are answering machines at both numbers and callers with information are advised to leave messages if there is no answer.
